STATE BANK HEAD GOES AFTER PROBERS

Today

Again, WHY Pay Interest?
What Red Hair Means.
A Slap Killed the Baby.
Underpaid Prize-Fighters.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

CYRUS H. K. CURTIS, owner and creator of the Ladies Home Journal, the Saturday Evening Post and other publications, is dead at the age of eighty-two. He began as a newsboy and ended with many millions, which he did not need and never valued highly.

He was older than his age, had been ill for more than a year and had recently lost his wife, to whom he was devoted. No friend would wish to bring him back to a world that is 90 per cent trouble.

THE SECRETARY of the Treasury asks the public to subscribe to one thousand million dollars worth of government notes to meet the cost of a public works program.

How will the contractors and workers on that program be paid? They will be paid with money printed and backed by the United States government.

Why not print the money and pay it to them, instead of borrowing it, and then paying interest on it?

The money, with the government name on it, is exactly as good as the bond or note with the government name. Why insist on putting out bonds or notes to make taxpayers pay billions in interest?

If the government borrows three billions and takes twenty years to pay, the interest will amount to six billions. In other words, three billions worth of work will cost nine billion dollars, three billions for the work, and six billions for interest.

You will be told that if government should issue three billions of currency, not pay any interest, it could go on and issue any number of billions. So it COULD, but it would not. If you drink a glass of beer, you might go on and drink a keg of whisky, but you would not do it unless you were foolish.

The government's greatest asset is its ability to give the value of money to a piece of paper on which its name appears. Why should it pay in interest SIX BILLION DOLLARS for the privilege of paying out three billions of its own perfectly good paper money?

THE Massachusetts League of Women's Hairdressers says:

"Red hair will be popular this summer."

Not too red, a sort of titian or auburn, the hair worn just below the neckline.

If your hair isn't red, you can easily make it so.

LADIES OF the pre-stone age, your ancestors, shivering on the edge of an icy pool, with some animal waiting to eat them if they came out, also had red hair, VERY red. But it came lower than the neckline, covering their bodies.

Red hair is a survival of primitive days, and indicates surviving strength of character. Like the power to wiggle the ears and move the scalp, it indicates power to resist the processes of evolution.

MRS. N. Y. W., of California, was waked by her crying baby, and, drowsy, slapped it. It became quiet; she went to sleep again; in the morning found it dead, and is arrested on a manslaughter charge.

The child died from a cerebral hemorrhage, caused by slaps on its thin skull.

Parents, even semi-civilized, should know enough not to whip any child, and to strike an infant is horrible. A man will whip his own child, and would not allow a servant to whip his young dog or horse, for fear of "breaking the animal's spirit."

IN NEW YORK tonight there will be a prize-fight, with Herr Schmeling, from Hitler's country, opposed to Mr. Baer, of the U. S. A. For the occasion, those engaged in selling tickets are suggesting that Mr. Baer is Jewish.

There is some doubt about it, but it doesn't matter. Fortunately the Jewish race does not depend for its place in history on the ability of its prize-fighters, although many of them have been efficient.

More interesting is the way in which tonight's "big fight" has been affected by the depression.

WHEN GENE TUNNEY fought and beat Jack Dempsey in Chicago on Soldiers' Field, he got for his share alone, for fight and moving pictures, more than one million dollars in cash. He still has it, by the way, according to his friends. And few can say that.

Tonight's fight promoters will be content to get, for themselves and both fighters, as much as $200,000, or 20 per cent of what Tunney got for his share of one fight.

TODAY HITLER will declare "a German moratorium on all forms of foreign payments." Nations, private individuals and financial concerns that lent to Germany, tempted by high interest rates, may now whistle for their money, if they know how to whistle.

Uncle Sam knows how. He has been doing such whistling for a long time. He will not be surprised when he hears from those that owe him, and would not have paid him anyhow:

"You can't expect us to pay you now since Germany is not going to pay us."

THE NUMBER of unemployed in England has decreased by 114,755 in a month, by more than 400,000 in four months. We have no such encouraging figures to offer in this country.

And, unhappily, some of our efforts at economy will make it worse. For instance, getting rid of 250,000 public employes,

RELIEF FROM FATAL HEAT NOT SEEN

Two Dead Here as Mercury Soars; U: S. Swelters

Pittsburgh's official thermometer today hung up a new all-time record for June 8 when the mercury reached 93 at 2 p. m., according to the Weather Bureau. The highest previous mark for this date was 91 in 1914.

No relief from the torrid spell, which claimed two lives and prostrated three persons yesterday, is seen by the weather forecaster here, in spite of possible thunder showers tonight and Friday.

A thunderstorm, accompanied by a vivid electrical storm and gales, early today, brought temporary relief, but caused some damage. Telephone and electric light wires were torn down. Four high voltage wires were blown down at 3817 Bates street and a tree uprooted in Dawson street.

TWO FATALITIES

The heat was fatal to Louis Zoller, 45, of 602 Fifty-second street. He died last night in Allegheny General Hospital after being stricken on an American Bridge Company job. Lois White, of Mt. Nebo, an Avalon High School girl, was drowned in the Ohio River yesterday afternoon. She and companions had gone there to escape the heat.

Thus far in June there have been seven drownings, a rate which threatens to upset the record of 20, set in June last year.

Mattern 'Gassed' In Air

(Copyright, 1933, by Associated Press.)

MOSCOW, June 8.—Gasoline fumes from a leaking gas line, which almost overcame him in the air, forced Jimmie Mattern suddenly to land near Prokopievsk, Siberia, Wednesday, the American round-the-world flier told the Associated Press today. He said:

"I am still sick from those fumes."

The Texan spoke in an exclusive telephone interview from Belovo, a workers' settlement near Prokopievsk, where he came down at 10 a. m. Moscow time Wednesday (3 a. m. Pittsburgh time) a few hours after he had started from Omsk, Siberia, on the fifth lap of his round-the-world dash. His hopes of lowering the world record were dimmed by the latest mishap.

He continued:

"I can't hold any food on my stomach, but I expect to get off for Krasnoyarsk in five or ten hours.

"I was four hours out of Omsk when I discovered a leak in the fuel line, and by the time I had found out what the trouble was I was in bad shape from the fumes."

NEAR COLLAPSE

He added that he was almost unconscious when he brought the plane down on a small emergency landing field at Belovo, the settlement.

"When I landed I broke my stabilizer and I cannot make permanent repairs here.

"They have helped me as much as they can here, however, and I shall be able to get off with temporary repairs within a few hours and run into Krasnoyarsk, where there are facilities for fixing this stabilizer.

"I have already fixed the gas

MORGAN TAX INQUIRY VOTED

Senate Grants Power To Committee Probers

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.)—Unanimously, the Senate today extended the authority of its committee investigating J. P. Morgan & Co., for examination of stock transactions by which partners of the firm reduced their income taxes.

The attitude the Morgan partners will take as a result of the Senate move, remains to be seen.

Their counsel, John W. Davis, refused to commit himself, but did say that if the challenge of authority is carried further, the procedure will be for Thomas S. Lamont—a young partner—to refuse to answer questions. He said:

"That will put it up to the Senate and will provide the means for a test."

SCORES INQUIRY

Soon after the Senate's vote, O. P. Van Sweringen as a witness in the Morgan inquiry characterized such procedures as "terrifically destructive."

Remarking that business was improving, Van Sweringen declared:

"Business needs encouragement and not frightening."

In offering the resolution for an examination of the Morgan partners' stock transactions, Senator Fletcher (Dem.), of Florida, chairman of the probe committee, assured the Senate that the resolution would provide ample authority for the committee to "get at the facts and those facts will enable the Department of Justice and the Internal Revenue Bureau to proceed as may be required."

Both of these agencies already are studying previous testimony in the Morgan inquiry, and it was disclosed today the Justice De-

GORDON ASKS LOAN DATA ON MARTIN

Report Also Sought On Six Legislative Investigators

The State Banking Department today had assumed the role of investigator of the investigators. A letter from the department's Philadelphia office, it is disclosed, directs its deputies in charge of closed banks to report all loans, if any, held in those banks against the six members of the committee named by the last Legislature to inquire into the banking department's administration.

Similar reports were asked concerning Gen. Edward Martin, Pennsylvania Republican chairman, possible candidate for Governor, former auditor general, former state treasurer, director in a Mellon-affiliated bank in Washington, Pa.

The letter follows:

"To All Special Deputies as Agents:

"Please report to this office whether any of the following persons are indebted to your institution either directly or indirectly:

"Harry J. Bell,
"Harry Shapiro,
"Elwood J. Turner,
"Charles W. Sones,
"Robert J. Cordier,
"David R. Perry,
"Edward Martin.

"In the event that any of the above persons are indebted to your institution, your report should contain a complete history of the loan showing the amount of indebtedness at the date of closing, detailing any arrangements for liquidation and showing the amount of indebtedness at this date.

"In the event that any compromise offers have been made,

BAER'S WEIGHT STUNS FANS

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Max Baer, rugged California heavyweight, tipped the beam at only 203 pounds wearing a gold wrist watch when he weighed in officially this afternoon for his 15-round battle with Max Schmeling, of Germany, at the Yankee Stadium tonight under the auspices of Promoter Jack Dempsey.

Baer's weight was a distinct surprise to the boxing sharps and fans. It had been expected he would scale at least 208 or 210 pounds.

The handsome Californian was the first of the two principals to arrive at the New York Boxing Commission's offices in the State Building for the weighing ceremonies. He was in a gay-hearted, nonchalant mood and "kidded" with everyone in sight.

Baer was weighed by Gen. John J. Phelan, chairman of the com-

Woodin May Make Visit to Detroit

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS.)—Secretary of the Treasury Woodin said today that he was considering going to Detroit to have a personal look at the banking situation.

If Woodin decides to go to Detroit he probably will be accompanied by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the R. F. C., who has been playing a leading part in the banking situation.

Redheads Seen As All the Rage This Summer

BOSTON, June 8.—(AP.)—Redheads will be the rage this summer. Redheads not too red—just a sort of red brown, known technically as auburn.

And the redheads will wear their hair short. Not too short—just sort of down to the neckline.

That's the prediction made by experts of the Massachusetts League of Women Hairdressers during their annual meeting.

HAGEN SHARES GOLF LEAD

NORTH SHORE GOLF CLUB, Glenview, Ill., June 8.—(AP.)—Playing erratic but sensational golf, the veteran Walter Hagen, of Detroit, celebrated the twentieth anniversary of his debut in the United States Open championship by shooting a 73, one over par, today for the first round, thereby sharing the early lead with Neil White, of Los Angeles, 21-year-old California amateur champion and surprise "dark horse" in a field of 147.

Gene Sarazen the defending champion, reached the turn in 38, two over par, but he settled down as he started for home, and indications were that he would finish among the leaders.

Vincent Eldred, pro at the Highland Country Club, Pittsburgh, turned in 38-39—77 for the first round.

Charley Mayo, Long Beach, L. I., carded a 74, and deadlocked at 75 were Johnny Farrell, former Open champion; Olin Dutra, P. G. A. champion; Mortie Dutra, his brother, and Horton Smith.

Sarazen came in with a 74, as did Tom Creavy, former P. G. A. titleholder.

U. S. DRY CHIEF FIGHTS REPEAL

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS.)—Declaring that 3.2 per cent beer has reduced drunkenness in the nation and urging legalization of wine, Maj. A. V. Dalrymple, prohibition director, told the House Ways and Means Committee today that he is opposed to repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Appearing as the first witness at the hearing on the Lea wine bill, Dalrymple said modification of bone dry prohibition, including relaxation of medicinal liquor laws, will go far toward restoring respect for law.

The opposition of the administration's prohibition chief to repeal, while President Roosevelt favors it, came as a shock to the committee. Asked how much additional taxes the government would gain with repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, Dalrymple replied:

"I am not convinced that repeal will actually increase revenue.

"I have estimated that under the present modification system—if we can drive the racketeers out of business—the revenue will run over $250,000,000 as things stand today. If this wine bill is passed it will go $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 higher."

Il Duce Pardons French Prisoner

ROME, June 8.—(INS.)—As the first sign of improved Franco-Italian relations since initialing of the four-power peace pact, Premier Mussolini today granted a pardon to Prof. Charles Eydoux, Frenchman, sentenced to a long prison term for espionage.

Postal Receipts Reflect Upturn

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.)—An increase in postal receipts at 50 selected cities of the nation for the month of May was pointed to today by Postmaster General Farley as evidence that business is on the upgrade.

BRITISH ENVOY TO TALK DEBT

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.)—The controversial war debt payments due on June 15 received the attention today of President Roosevelt as he made an engagement with Ambassador Lindsay, of Great Britain, for late this afternoon.

The British Ambassador has been making overtures informally to learn the American attitude on the debts. This is the first time he has come directly to the President, who is personally handling the war debts question.

The British cabinet meets in special session tomorrow to consideh the $75,000,000 payment owed by that government on its installment due next week.

Mr. Roosevelt has given no indication of his position other than an apparent stand for payment of the installments when due.

The United States has maintained that any proposals for revision of the debts must come from the nations owing this country.

The French Ambassador visited the White House yesterday.

Gen. Martin Feted By Friends Tonight

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 8.—(AP.)—Friends of Gen. Edward Martin, Republican state chairman and state treasurer, will pay tribute to his public service at a banquet tonight.

Lieut. Gov. Edward C. Shannon, who also is head of the Pennsylvania National Guard and who served with Martin with the 28th Division in France, will speak.

Ex-King Alfonso On Visit to Ileana

VIENNA, June 8.—(INS.)—Former King Alfonso, of Spain, arrived at Moedling Villa, near Vienna, today to visit Princess Ileana, of Rumania, wife of Archduke Anton of Hapsburg. The princess is expecting another baby in August. Alfonso acted as godfather for her first son, Stephan.

Son of President Blames Rift on Incompatibility

LOS ANGELES, June 8.—(AP.)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said today that her son, Elliott, will establish a residence in Nevada and permit his wife to seek a divorce on grounds of incompatibility.

Then she left suddenly for Washington by air after a visit of a little more than a day with her son.

Elliott's wife is the former Elizabeth Donner, daughter of William H. Donner, Philadelphia industrialist, formerly of Pittsburgh.

The couple has been separated since last year. An agreement is understood to have been reached as to the custody of their child, William Donner Roosevelt, born last November. They were married January 16, 1932.

When Elliott came to the West Coast his wife and baby did not accompany him.

Beyond the bare announcement that the divorce action was to be instituted in Nevada, neither Elliott nor his mother cared to comment much.

King's Son Plays Steeplejack on 'Big Ben'

LONDON, June 8.—(Universal.)—Prince George, fourth son of King George, turned steeplejack yesterday, and a crowd looking on did not recognize him.

Displaying steely nerve for an ordinarily earthbound human, the prince climbed the tower of "Big Ben," going up 300 feet to the famous clock that stares four ways over London from above the houses of Parliament.

The prince worked his way up over the web-like scaffolding structure erected around the clock tower for repair work. He was clad in a gray suit, and two workers accompanied him.

CAIN GUARDED AFTER THREAT

County Treasurer Robert S. Cain, whose office has just completed the issuance of beer permits, today was being guarded by county detectives after a threatening note was found pinned to the door of his summer home in Hampton Township. Detectives guarded the house all night after Cain's daughter, Mrs. Margaret Gordon, found the note, which read:

"We got nothing again you—get out. Be blow up the big boss house."

The note, folded in triangular form, was pinned to a screen door.

Cain, who makes his home in Fortieth street, spent much of his time at the home of his daughter, in Duncan avenue, Allison Park, adjoining the home of District Attorney Andrew T. Park.

In addition to Cain and his daughter, Cain's son-in-law and Cain's granddaughter, Jean Gordon, 8 months, occupy the house.

The note was turned over to Justice of the Peace J. R. Hillman, who notified county detectives.

Roosevelt Aids Leaders Speed End of Congress

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Roosevelt and Congressional leaders went to work today to wind up the extra session program this week. There were these developments:

1. Senate and House conferres agreed on the administration's two-billion-dollar home mortgage relief bill, setting the maximum value of a home on which a mortgage could be handled at $20,000 and the refinancing limit $14,000.

2. Hopes for a speedy compromise were voiced as the President and House leaders conferred on the disputed veterans' economies.

3. Senate leaders were confident of speedy action on the industrial control bill. Senator Reed led the attack on the licensing control and pressed for a sales tax to finance the measure.

With the summer heat prevailing here, there is every prospect that the weary Congress will bring its work to a quick conclusion.

FORBES FIELD, June 8.—Acting Manager Jewel Ens, of the Cincinnati Reds, could not direct his club this afternoon as the Reds and Pirates opened a three-game series at Forbes Field. Ens last night was indefinitely suspended by President John A. Heydler, of the National League, because of a run-in Jewel had with Umpire Barr in Cincinnati Tuesday. Andy High, utility infielder, was in charge of the Reds.

Larry French warmed up to face the Reds in the opener. Ray Kolp and Eppa Rixey loosened up for the visitors. The weekly ladies' day brought out several thousand women and girls.

As a result of their three setbacks in four contests in Chicago, the Pirates returned home in third place and only one-half a game ahead of the fourth-place Bruins.

WOODIN, NORMAN DAVIS SHOULD QUIT, SAYS MUSMANNO

JUDGE ATTACKS 2 ON MORGAN FAVOR LIST

Banking 'Octopus' Link Bars Faith in Both Officials, He Thinks

Asserting every person in the country is affected by the operations of J. P. Morgan & Co., County Judge M. A. Musmanno today told the Wilkinsburg Kiwanis Club that Norman H. Davis should be recalled from Europe and Secretary Woodin should resign as Treasury Department head.

He said the Senate Banking Committee investigation of the House of Morgan has disclosed "the far-reaching tentacles of the J. P. Morgan octopus" entwine themselves around the average citizen. He said "just ordinary gratitude" would cause persons receiving favors from Morgan to be "beholden to Morgan."

MORGAN FAVOR LIST

Referring to disclosures that Davis, representing the United States as ambassador-at-large in Europe, and Secretary Woodin were on the Morgan list and received favors, he said:

"Whom is Norman H. Davis representing in Europe — the people of the United States or J. P. Morgan? Will Davis say or do anything which may benefit his benefactors and compromise the United States? We should not give him the chance to do so. He should be recalled.

"Secretary of the Treasury Woodin should be required to hand back his portfolio at once. It is astounding that he should insist on remaining at the head of our financial structure when he has admitted receiving money from J. P. Morgan. You may call it a financial transaction, you may call it an investment, you may use pretty words, but stripped of all its camouflage, we have the situation of the watchdog of our Treasury having received chicken bones (with plenty of meat on them) from the financefancier of the world.

"During the last two or three months our banking system has been thoroughly overhauled—at least we have been told that it has been overhauled. There is yet much to be done in this connection and if we have at the head of this overhauling job a man who is indebted to J. P. Morgan for favors received, no matter how intrinsically honest and patriotic he may be he is bound to be influenced by a sense of past obligation to his benefactor, Morgan."

DAVIS, BINGHAM RECALL URGED

By KENNETH CLARK

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—America's "misrepresenting ambassadors"—Norman H. Davis at Geneva, and Robert W. Bingham at London—should be brought back immediately before they do "violence to our friendly relations with other powers."

Senator Arthur Robinson (Rep.), of Indiana, thus declared last night in a radio speech denouncing assertions by Davis and Bingham that American neutrality was ended. The address, broadcast over station WINS, New York, originated from the studios of WOL, Washington.

Davis' usefulness has been destroyed, Robinson said, not only because he interpreted the proposed consultative pact as a departure from the principles laid down by the nation's founders, but because he is under obligation to the House of Morgan.

In telling a distinguished British audience recently the United States was abolishing traditional neutrality in world conflicts and wars, Bingham insulted and misrepresented the American people, Robinson said.

STRAUS GIVES CREDENTIALS

PARIS, June 8.—(INS.)—With his wife in the role of an interested spectator, Jesse Isidore Straus, new United States ambassador to France, presented his credentials to President Joseph Lebrun today.

In presenting his credentials to President Lebrun and Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour, Straus spoke of the "deep friendship" borne by the United States for France. He said:

"Our friendship calls for deep understanding from France. We are ready to co-operate with France as we have done before, in the expectation that France, as she has before, will work with us.

"You will agree, Mr. President, that starting with the Kellogg-Briand pact the United States has gone a long way toward assuring that economic and military peace without which no people can enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

GUTTER BALKS MOLLISON HOP

CROYDON AIRPORT, England, June 8. — (INS.) — Virtually "tripped up" by a forgotten drainage gutter at the moment of their takeoff, James A. Mollison and his wife, the former Amy Johnson, famous British fliers, today temporarily abandoned their proposed series of record-breaking non-stop flights.

The plans were dashed when their plane, the Seafarer, turned over as it sped across the flying field in an attempt to get away for a trans-Atlantic flight to New York. Neither Mollison nor his wife was hurt.

But the black monoplane, which Mollison has termed the "flying coffin" was badly damaged.

French Speed Pilots Plan Detroit Flight

PARIS, June 8.—(AP.)—Paul Codos and Aime Rossi, French speed pilots, have abandoned for the present their projected flight to South America and now are planning to try for a world's straight line distance record from Detroit to Europe.

They tested a loaded plane yesterday and practiced takeoffs without wheels under the tail.

Fine Bowen for Beating Pittsburgh Heiress

RENO, Nev., June 8.—(AP.)—For beating Mrs. Miriam V. Hostetter Young, Pittsburgh heiress and Reno divorce seeker, after she allegedly rejected him as a suitor, Eugene A. Bowen, former New York restaurant owner, faced the choice of a $50 fine or 25 days in jail here today.

Bowen's conviction of assault and battery followed a trial in which A. P. Johnson, assistant District Attorney, appealed for a verdict which would show that "Reno doesn't approve of New York gigolos coming out here and beating up other men's wives."

Mrs. Young, wife of Charles Fuller Young, New York broker, testified at the trial yesterday that Bowen had beaten her "black and blue" on two occasions after she had spurned his attentions. She testified:

"He said he was going to fix me so I could not go out with any one but him."

Bowen declared from the witness stand that Mrs. Young received the black and blue marks as she fell against a dressing table in her hotel room. He asserted he came to Reno at Mrs. Young's request and had sought "to protect her from herself" during her divorce residence in Nevada. He claimed he had remonstrated with her for drinking intoxicating liquor.

line leak and I am almost ready to take off as far as repairs are concerned.

"The only thing is that I feel too sick now, and I think I will wait a few hours until I get better."

Asked if he had got any sleep, Mattern replied:

"Not much. I have been working on the ship ever since coming down. But I am not very sleepy and I'll probably pick up some rest at Krasnoyarsk. How is my elapsed time from New York now?"

He was assured that he was all right. In response to a question about what his own log said, Mattern replied:

"Hell! I have lost all track of time."

Asked the exact time he landed, the flier gave the same rejoinder. He explained:

"I can't tell you exactly, but I was just four hours out of Omsk when I found out what had happened and I came down almost immediately."

Having left Omsk at 1:10 a. m. Wednesday, Moscow time, (6:10 p. m. Tuesday, Pittsburgh time), his landing would have been some time after 5 a. m. Moscow time (10 p. m. Tuesday, Pittsburgh time), or approximately one hour after he passed over Novosibirsk. He continued:

"I climbed out of my plane by myself, although I was so groggy I could hardly stand. Before I knew it there were a lot of people around me, but I could not understand the questions they were shooting at me.

"They took me into a nearby house and by that time they found somebody who spoke English. They tried to put me to bed, but I only sat down a few minutes and then went back to the plane.

"They have been awfully good to me, giving me hot drinks and food, but I can't keep any of it down. As soon as I get these fumes out of my system I'll be all right."

News of his mishap cleared up fears for his safety, for he had not been reported after flying over Novosibirsk, 168 miles northwest of Prokopievsk, three hours after leaving Omsk.

Friends here took the information to mean that the flier still hoped to beat the mark set in 1931 by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty. He was previously delayed by a broken strut at Moscow.

On leaving Omsk, he was about an hour and 43 minutes behind Post's and Gatty's time.

His goal on this lap was Chita, just 200 miles from the Manchurian border and about 1,700 miles from Omsk.

Mattern's landing place was about three miles from the little industrial settlement of Belovo, where miners of the surrounding Kuznetz coal basin have their homes.

To get him on the telephone it was necessary to communicate first with the manager of the Belovo telegraph station, in which is the town's only telephone line to the outside world, and to prevail upon the manager to send an automobile to get the flier.

Some three hours elapsed between the time the request was made to the manager and the time the aviator's voice came over the telephone into the Associated Press bureau in Moscow.

JAP, U. S. ENVOY CLASH OVER AIR BOMBS

Verbal Battle Comes At Parley Adopting British Arms Plan

By FREDERIC K. ABBOTT

International News Service.

GENEVA, June 8.—The United States and Japan clashed sharply today after the General Commission of the Disarmament Conference had adopted the British disarmament plan, recommended by President Roosevelt, as the basis for an arms limitation treaty.

Naotake Sato, Japanese delegate, demanded abolition of aircraft carriers if air bombing is to be put under international ban, declaring:

"Japan cannot sacrifice certain particular points of view relating to her security for the sake of a general agreement here unless the general agreement takes into consideration Japan's particular needs."

Hugh Wilson, American minister to Switzerland, protested that the Japanese objections would greatly delay the work of the conference, already in session for nearly 18 months.

The verbal duel began when Wilson declared Sato's declaration was likely to becloud the entire British plan by joining aerial bombardment with aircraft carriers. Aerial bombardment, Wilson insisted, is distinctly a land operation.

The American spokesman then took exception to Sato's remark that the London conference "caused apprehension." He asserted:

"I feel I should point out it is always difficult to single out any one factor as the cause of apprehension. But I am certain Mr. Sato must realize apprehension may arise from other causes equally well."

Sato immediately replied to Wilson. He said:

Signing of Peace Pact Hailed in Washington

WASHINGTON, June 8—(INS.)—Initialing in Rome of Premier Mussolini's four-power pact for the maintenance of 10 years of peace in Europe by representatives of Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy was hailed here today as one of the most important steps towards world peace since the signing of the armistice.

Although State Department officials decided to reserve comment pending a study of the new draft of the pact, they stated frankly that the mere fact the pact brought France and Germany a little closer together was welcome news here and of the utmost importance in the maintenance of European and world peace.

This government, it was said, naturally welcomes any European plan that provides for the maintenance of "sane and realistic" peace.

TAX PROTESTS FLOOD O'BRIEN

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP.)—Mayor John P. O'Brien stood by his $30,000,000 emergency tax program today while a swirling flood of protests rose higher.

Several civic organizations, automobile clubs and motor truck associations joined in hammering away at the program. Threats of legal action and of a huge motor car parade to city hall were heard.

The mainstay of the tax program is a proposal that would double the license fee for automobiles, and make out-of-town cars subject to tax for crossing the East River and Harlem River bridges.

REED ATTACKS INDUSTRIAL MEASURE

Administration Bill Will Ruin Industry, Senator Asserts

WASHINGTON, June 8—(INS.)—In a bitter verbal attack on the administration's industrial control and $3,300,000,000 public works bill, Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, today told the Senate:

"I think the plan is an insane one that is going to destroy industry."

He declared it would mean governmental price fixng.

Reed centered his fire on the provisions authorizing the President to require federal licenses from all the industries in a trade group. He asserted:

"The licensing power extends from the great motor car and steel industries down to the business of running a pushcart.

"The President can establish, if he wishes, a code of fair competition for running a pushcart."

WAGNER ANSWERS

Failure of the bill to provide uniform minimum wages applying nationally within each trade group was criticized by Reed saying:

"It leaves us in a beautiful haze regarding the wage question."

Senator Wagner (Dem.), of New York, leading the administration fight for the bill, declared minimum wage standards are necessary to protect industry from ruthless sweatshop competition. He declared:

"One of the reasons we are dragged down where we are now is on account of the sweatshops."

Reeed replied:

"Under a lot of beautiful phrases in this bill are couched tremendous powers. It means fixing prices, apportioning output and setting up again within every industry the secret pools that we have been fighting for so long.

"We drove these pools out. Now we propose to restore them with presidential sanction."

BITTER FIGHT LOOMS

A bitter fight loomed on the problem of raising $222,000,000 in new taxes annually to finance the program.

Backers of a one and a half per cent general sales tax, with necessities of life exempt, were heartened by Republican support, pledged at a conference attended by 27 Senators. They counted on a number of Democratic votes.

Reed declared:

"The outlook for the sales tax is most encouraging."

But Harrison said:

"The sales tax hasn't got a chance."

PENN.A EASES INSURANCE BAN

HARRISBURG, June 8.—(AP.) Pennsylvania today joined New Jersey, New York and other eastern states in modifying restrictions against loans on life insurance policies.

Under the modification announced by the State Insurance Commission, loans may be made on life insurance policies up to $250 without any restructions. Loans in excess of $250 can only be made after the applicant has stated in writing thep urpose of the loan.

Loans in excess of $250 may be made for almost any emergency, but not for speculative purposes or hoarding. Until today's modification these loans could only be made to pay taxes, interest, education and agricultural obligations.

The order also applies to payment of cash surrender value of life insurance policies.

Stock of Two Banks Bought by R. F. C.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.) — The Reconstruction Finance Corporation today authorized purchase of $400,000 of preferred bank stock in banks of Pontiac, Mich., and New Haven, Conn., and loaned $500,000 more to assist in rehabilitating the earthquake devastated section of Southern California.

Home Mortgage Relief Measure Agreed Upon

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.)—Senate and House conferees today agreed on the administration's $2,000,000,000 home mortgage relief bill, one of the parts of President Roosevelt's recovery program.

As revised by the conferees, the maximum value of a home on which a mortgagec ould be handled was placed at $20,000, as compared with $25,000 voted by the Senate and $15,000 approved by the House.

The refinancing limit would be $14,000, or 80 per cent, whichever was the lower figure.

Early action on the conference agreement will be sought in the House and Senate.

The conferees limited to 40 per cent of the value of the property involved amounts that could be loaned as direct cash advances to home owners, and retained a Senatep rovision limiting interest to 6 per cent.

Provisions setting up a system of national and local conciliation boards to adjust mortgage debts between debtors and creditors were eliminated, along with a provision thht state administrators should be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate.

The confereees restored a House provision that repeals the section of the existing home loan banking law permitting direct loans to home owners.

The bill sets up a $200,000,000 home loan corporation to exchange its bonds for mortgages with authority to issue up to $2,000,000,000 in bonds.

It also provides for a federeal savings and loan association system, to co-operate with individuals about the country in investing funds for financing home purchases.

NO RELIEF FROM HEAT SEEN

JURORS SHED COATS

Following Judge Thomas M. Marshall's lead in discarding the traditional black judicial robes for a light-weight business suit, Judge Samuel H. Gardner appeared in Criminal Court today in a summer suit and gave permission to members of Criminal Court juries to take off their coats in the courtrooms. County Judge M. A. Musmanno granted similar permission.

At least four deaths were attributed to the heat in Harrisburgh yesterday before relief was offered by last night's storm. Louis Zollar, 45, of Pittsburgh, died in a hospital there after being prostrated at work.

Lightning stunned three children in Bloomsburg. It also damaged several homes and caused a fire in the Star Handle Company's plant at Union City, Pa.

One death and at least three prostrations, coupled with extensive property damage, were the toll of the summer's hottest day in Metropolitan area of New York today, according to the International News Service.

MILLION DOLLAR STORM

The violent storms left five dead and 30 or more injured last night as it swept over western New York and Ontario, reports state. Property damage was estimated at $1,000,000.

The electrical storm that flashed across the Pittsburgh district early today left damage in its wake at Franklin, Greensburg and Oil City, according to reports. Turning to hail, the storm battered down gardens, and the wind uprooted trees in Greensburg.

Traffic was impeded in Franklin, where wires and branches were blown into the streets.

The mid-west continued to swelter as along the lake region various towns and cities were recovering from terrific storms that caused numerous deaths and thousands of dollars property damage.

Chicago, which yesterday had a temperature of 100, reported 10 deaths and numerous prostrations, five being at the Century of Progress Exposition.

The Associated Press reported nearly three score of deaths, most of them due to drowning or heat prostration. Wind reached the proportions of a tornado in some sections of the West.

Thunderstorms from the Northwest were reported moving slowly toward the vicinity of Kansas City today, with prospects for the first cool weather that section has had in a week.

LEADERS FACING SHOWDOWN IN VET DEADLOCK

Roosevelt, Foes Make Concessions in Effort To Reach Agreement

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.)—House Democratic leaders and President Roosevelt have gone far toward reaching a compromise agreement on the controversy over how much war veterans' allowances can be cut to aid budget-balancing.

As a special veterans' committee went to the White House this afternoon for a final showdown with President Roosevelt, Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, told newspapermen:

"Surprising progress has been made toward reaching an agreement. Indications are that a satisfactory compromise will be reached. The remaining bone of contention is what is going to be done with the Spanish-American War veterans."

The President, Byrns said, had made some "great concessions," as did advocates of the Connally amendment on the presumptive World War veteran cases.

The virtual agreement on the presumtive cases, provides that they take the 25 per cent reduction—or whatever other percentage of limitation is agreeed upon along with service disability connected cases—subject to a review of each individual presumptive case by the government.

Byrns made the progress report after a meeting of the Steering Committeee and the special veterans committee.

The President's compromise proposal includes an agreement that the compensation of no veteran with service connected disability shall be reduced more than 25 per cent, that in border line presumptive cases the veteran will be given benefit of the doubt and that in other presumptive cases right of six months appeal shall be given.

New Vet Compensations 'Cruelly Unfair,' Reed Says

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.)—Senator David A. Reed says he believes new veterans' compensation regulations are "so cruelly unfair" that Congress will modify them if the President does not.

In a letter answering pleas of thousands of veterans for relief, the senior Pennsylvania Senator said he was satisfied that "if the President doesn't deal justly with the veterans, Congress will," adding:

In the meantime, I can only ask you to be patient, and to believe that the men who suffered in the nation's wars have friends in Washington who will fight for them.

"I will do my level best to see that you receive substantial justice."

Himself a World War veteran, Senator Reed promised veterans he would take up individual cases as soon as all modifications are made.

Cuts in compensation by the veterans' administration as a result of the Economy Act have been followed by a flood of letters to his office as well as the offices of the state's representatives.

'Bring Hoover Back,' 'Kingfish' Tells Senate

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.)—Reaching his best speech-making form, Senator Huey Long, Louisiana Democrat, forced a recess in the Senate's consideration of the Roosevelt industrial recovery bill yesterday by theatening to talk until the body adjourned.

Declaring his unqualified opposition to the bill, which he said broke campaign pledges, Long frequently picked up the 1932 Democratic campaign book and threw it down on his desk, once with such force that it bounced off onto the floor. At one time, he shouted:

"If we are going to submit to the dictates of one man and all of his satellites, we ought to get Herbert Hoover back tomorrow and give boot in the trade."

Long stopped, wiped his brow, and added:

"I've tried hard to get along with this administration."

Senators laughed and Senator Reed, (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, rose to ask:

'Will the Senator tell us what the trouble has been?"

Lond told Reed:

"One thing is that this administration has stood for too many things the Senator from Pennsylvania has stood for."

Long said a "burnt child is afraid of fire" and he has cast his "last blind vote" for an administration measure.

SHOWGIRL, TIRED OF BROADWAY, LEAPS TO HER DEATH

BLONDE WRITES LOVE LETTER, ENDS LIFE

'Main Street' Memories 'Sweet,' Williamsport Beauty Says in Note

International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Tired of the Broadway that had applauded her platinum blonde beauty, Jerry Rogers, 24, one of Ed Wynn's specialty girls in "The Laugh Parade," jumped to her death today from the window of her room on the thirteenth floor of the Hotel Lincoln.

They found her body, crushed and broken, on the sidewalk in front of the hotel and in her room several notes. One of them addressed to "Joe, Dear," was intended for a night club proprietor, police said. It read:

"I am thinking of you constantly. The show business is bad. I am modelling for my old boss again.

"Oh, how I dislike Broadway. I have syeet memories of bygone days . . . rain is worse.

"I am living on the thirteenth floor. I don't know whether it is unlucky or not."

Another note closed with the words:

"I am in love and heart broken."

Whether Miss Rogers had written it, however, could not be learned as it was signed "Lovingly, Loretta, J. G."

Miss Rogers' real name was Mildred Betts, and her home was at 608 Wilson avenue, Williamsport, Pa. Less than a month ago she returned from a vacation there during which she was selected as "Miss Williamsport," in a beauty contest sponsored by a newspaper and a motion picture company.

Last night, it was said, the girl left the hotel during the evening and did not return until 4:45 o'clock this morning. A few minutes after going to her room, she appeared in the lobby again and gave the night clerk a special delivery letter, asking him to be sure the postman got it on his first visit.

Then she returned to her room and was not seen alive again.

Hotel clerks said the dead girl always wore expensive clothes and was a quiet guest.

It was said she had abrother, Clarence Betts, in Elizabeth, N. J.

CHURCH STAND ENDS CABINET

MADRID, June 8.—(AP.)—The government headed by Premier Manuel Azana resigned today.

Opposition to the Azana government, which was formed December 15, 1931, has been piling up for some time. The cabinet's difficulties were increased materially recently as a result of a controversy over Spain's new religious laws.

These laws, which were signed by President Niceto Alcaila Zamora last week, turned religious orders into civic groups and nationalized church property worth millions of dollars. Pope Pius issued an encyclical declaring the legislation constituted an attack not only on the church but on all religion, and members of the Spanish government were automatically excommunicated.

Indiana Votes To Legalize Its Liquid Corn Crop

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Indiana legalized its corn crop. We always claimed that corn pours easier than it bites.

The Hoosier commonwealth is now the tenth aboriginal state to rush the legislative growler.

Indiana was one state the drys were holding for ransom. They figured it was in the bag.

Well, the famous bag is no longer to be feared. Strong burlap does not a prison make, nor cellophane a cage.

Wyoming and Nevada have already roached their bangs and indorsed the foam to the left of the decimal point.

This means a man can walk from Rhode Island to the Rockies and not get tired.

And our special leased haywire from the Gulf clicks the news that he can also go South for the winter.

Wets need only 26 more. They're in the bag.

PORTRAIT STUDY OF ELIZABETH BROWNING D. ROOSEVELT

TROLLEY, RIVAL OF AUTO, SHOWN

NEW YORK, JJune 8.—(AP.)—The newest thing in street cars made its first public appearance today.

The car, built for greater speed and less noise, cost half a million dollars, a big part of which is represented by three years of experimentation sponsored by a group of 25 electric railway systems, including the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

Developments found successful in automotive design have been applied for the first time to the street car. The basic idea of "floating" power is much in evidence.

Rubber "sandwiches" between steel parts which formerly rattled against one another have been extensively used, and the etire truck has been lightened. There also are "resilient wheels," called that because of the rubber in their makeup.

Officials of the American Transit Association say they hope that general introduction of the new type of car will increase street line traffic by offering a vehicle which can compete with the automobile's speed and ease of riding.

HOME BOMBED IN MINE WAR

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 8.—(AP.)—Two homes were damaged by bombs early today, apparently in continuation of the rival mine unions' squabble that brought fatal injuries for one man and gunshot wounds for 10 others at a picketing riot yesterday.

Threee Progressive miners were beaten today as they, with about 500 others, picketed Peabody Mine No. 43, which resumed work this morning with 200 United Mine Workers reporting at the shaft.

The home of Joe Dernoncourt, district president of the United Mine Workers of America, was badly damaged by one bomb.

Another bomb damaged the home of Robert Holman, Negro miner, and blew out windows of the Grace A. M. E. Church across the street.

MOTHER OF 2 HELD AS BABY KIDNAPER

Confesses Abduction, Tells of Longing For Child

CINCINNATI, June 8.—(AP.)—Mrs. Virginia Rogers, 31, mother of two children, was held for grand jury action under $25,000 bond today on a charge of stealing a child to satisfy her desire to have another baby of her own.

She waived examination in the brief hearing in Municipal Court.

A grand jury had begun taking testimony in the affair, and officials said they expected an indictment would be returned against Mrs. Rogers today for taking the 6-weeks-old daughter of Mrs. Madeline Sneed, 21, from its home, May 31.

CITE SUFFERING

Physicians who examined the woman at the direction of the county prosecutor, said the woman had suffered from belief she was about to have a child, and that realization that she was mistaken left her with a desire to possess a baby nevertheless.

The charge of child theft and harboring a stolen child carries a possible sentence of from 1 to 20 years.

Mrs. Rogers was arrested yesterday as the mysterious "woman in white," who took Baby Pansy from the riverfront flat of her parents on a pretext.

Pansy was alive and doing well, although still showing signs of a minor infection which had developed at birth. Mrs. Rogers used the infection and her own white dress as an excuse to "take the baby to a hospital," when she made off with it.

CLAIMED BY MOTHER

Young Mrs. Sneed, when detectives took her to the Rogers tenement flat after receiving tips to look for the child there, screamed:

"That's Pansy! That's my baby."

Mrs. Rogers protested at once, and a detective took the child in his arms, until the confession came from Mrs. Rogers. She explained:

"After I got it all fixed up, it was just as good as anybody's baby. I took just as good care of it as any mother could, because I did love it."

The two children of Mrs. Rogers are by another marriage. So well did she carry off her pose in the dramatic case, that her husband professed himself to be firmly convinced he was a father.

Rogers said he thought the baby was large for a new-born child, but just supposed he was ignorant about such matters.

SON SCORES RAP AT ROOSEVELT

NEWTON, Mass., June 8.—(INS.)—When James C. Lynch, chairman of the Newton Against Repeal Committee, remarked at a civic society "wet" and "dry" debate that the President was interested in balancing the budget and not in human beings, he started something.

James Roosevelt, the President's son, followed Lynch as a speaker. He said.

"The only thing I don't like about your speech was when you got off the subject and referred to a man's feelings for his fellow man in balancing the budget. That is something I denounce."

Young Roosevelt was warmly applauded and he continued his argument in favor of repeal of prohibition.

Elliott Denies Rumors Of Hollywood Romance

LOS ANGELES, June 8.—(Universal Service.)—Good-humoredly but emphatically, Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, only yesterday denied rumors he was having a "Hollywood romance." He said:

"I've been lots of places with lots of people, and every time somebody wants to know if it's a romance. I had my picture taken with a film actress the other day, and I've been expecting ever since to hear that we're engaged. Everybody says that Hollywood is the place where rumors grow, and I believe it."

Elliott's Wife Well Known In Society Circles Here

Elliott Roosevelt's wife is Elizabeth Browning Donner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Donner, who lived in Pittsburgh and were prominent in society here for a number of years.

Mrs. Roosevelt has been a frequent visitor to social events in Pittsburgh since her family moved to Philadelphia. In Pittsburgh her father was a leader in the steel industry.

Mrs. Roosevelt is 21, her husband 22. On November 18 a son was born to them. Their marriage at Bryn Mawr in January, 1932, was a brilliant social event, attended by President Roosevelt, who was then Governor of New York, and Gov. Pinchot.

Mrs. Roosevelt made her debut in Philadelphia in December of 1930 at a dinner dance.

Mr. Donner was the founder of Monessen and Donora. In fact, Donora was named after him. He is a former president of the Cambria Steel Company and chairman of the board of the Pennsylvania Steel Company.

A few years ago the Donner Steel Company, of which he was founder and president, was sold. His wife's first husband was the late Norwood Rodgers, of Bellevue.

The former Pittsburgh girl's mother-in-law, the First Lady of the Land, stopped in Pittsburgh last Sunday en route to the coast to see her son.

Young Roosevelt's Wife Refuses Comment

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—(AP.)—Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, whose marital trouble was publicly disclosed today by her husband's mother, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, is maintaining a strict silence.

Neither she nor her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Donner, of Villa Nova, near here, would make any statement.

Mr. Donner, millionaire former steel man said if and when he had any statement to make he would see that the public got it.

News that the wedded life of the 21-year-old heiress and the 22-year-old second son of President Roosevelt was not running smoothily did not come as a surprise to society in and about Philadelphia, but not one word of the difficulty had been authorized for publication.

Mrs. Roosevelt has been staying at the Donner estate, "Camp Woods," at Villa Nova, since the inauguration of the President. She has been much entertained by society.

VISITED WHITE HOUSE

Two weeks after the inauguration she visited the White House. Several weeks ago, Mrs. James Roosevelt, of New York, mother of the President, was a visitor at the Donner home.

The young son of the Elliott Roosevelts, William Donner Roosevelt, born in New York, November 17, last, is with his mother.

The President, while Governor of New York, visited the Donner home twice. The first time was shortly after the engagement of the young couple was announced on October 30, 1931, and the second time at the wedding, January 16, last year.

After the wedding, which was an outstanding event in social circles here, the Roosevelts took up their residence in New York, where the young husband was in business.

Six Weeks' Residence Needed for Nevada Divorce

RENO, Nev., June 8.—(AP.)—Nevada's divorce laws permit either party to file suit, regardless of which has established residence.

This procedure has been followed many times, notably in the divorce here a year ago of Ann Harding, movie actress, and Harry Bannister.

FACTORY GIRLS' VICE CHARGES AIRED

State Probers Order Prosecutor to Act Against Employer

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—(AP.)—A special legislative commission investigating alleged sweatshop and labor conditions in Pennsylvania next turns its spotlight on industry in the Scranton area on Tuesday.

After hearing workers tell of "starvation wages, illegal and inhumane hours of labor" and conditions menacing to girls in their teens in so-called sweatshops in Philadelphia, the committee called on employers to give their side of the story yesterday.

Most of them urged protection for the legitimate manufacturers against "brutal cut-throat competition" of sweatshop owners, particularly in the garment industry. A minimum wage law also was recommended.

The testimony concluded a two-day inquiry in Philadelphia.

During the day, three young girls and their 60-year-old employer, whom they accused of improper advances, faced each other.

The man, Joseph Liberman, made denials after the girls testified he followed them into a dressing room.

Senator G. Mason Owlett, chairman of the investigating committee, later announced the case will be placed in the hands of the District Attorney. He said:

"If it is shown these girls were subject to indignities there will be criminal prosecutions."

Thirty-two manufacturers failed to appear before the investigating committee as requested. Members of the committee went into executive session to see what could be done concerning them, but made no announcement.

Several of the employers who failed to show up were accused in testimony of paying as little as 50 cents for four days of work. Few of the wage scales listed totaled more than about $5 to $7 weekly for upwards of 60 or more hours of work.

RIFTS DENIED IN 'TUB' DEATH

SAN JOSE, Cal., June 8.—(AP.)—Quarrels or indications of jealousy in the Stanford University campus home of David A. Lamson, charged with murdering his young wife, were unknown to her, Mary Dolores Roberts, the Lamson maid, asserted here today.

Miss Roberts, who said she left the Stanford cottage "for a rest" a few days before Mrs. Allene Thorpe Lamson was discovered dead from a blow, or blows, in the bathtub, also said there had never been any love affair between her and Lamson.

E. M. Rea, attorney for Lamson, permitted her to answer questions submitted to her in writing by interviewers. She said Lamson was kind to her and that Mrs. Lamson never discussed intimate details of her married life.

SAVES SON BY TRANSFUSION

Many a time Patrolman Thomas McGuire has given his blood to hospital patients needing transfusions, but today there was one of which he was proudest.

Tuesday a son was born to the Oakland policeman and Mrs. McGuire. Last night in Magee Hospital, McGuire gave a pint of blood to save his son's life. The infant was improved today.

Coincidently, on the day of the infant's birth, McGuire submitted to a transfusion for another patient in the hospital.

LEGAL ASPECT OF PARK BUS PLAN STUDIED

The legality of the County Commissioners' plan to operate passenger buses to the county parks in opposition to the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company and other licensed carriers was being studied today.

The Commissioners are seeking to enable the public to visit the county parks at fares lower than those charged by the coach company.

Assistant Solicitor Mortimer B. Lesher is to render an opinion to the Commissioners. The matter was referred to him yesterday after the Commissioners had met nearly a score of bus operators who carry children to and from school during the terms.

Commissioner C. M. Barr, who is handling the transportation question, said that if the Commissioners' [illegible] inaugurate the park service is established, bids will be asked from the private operators.

PINCHOT BALKS TAX CUT HERE

When Gov. Pinchot recently struck out the $1,163,500 appropriation for Pittsburgh embodied in the Parkinson road bill he cost the citizens of Pittsburgh a tax reduction of 1½ mills.

At least, that's what Mayor John S. Herron and Councilman W. Y. English assert. They said yesterday that if Pittsburgh had received the sum set forth in the Parkinson measure it would have been possible to cut next year's tax rate 1½ mills. The money, if received by the city, would have gone for street projects.

English yesterday called attention to the fact that Philadelphia is to receive $1,000,000 under the bill.

Jewish Emergency Fund Appeal Made

An appeal for funds in the $1,000,000 Emergency Fund Campaign of the American Jewish Congress was made here today. Adolph Edlis, chairman of the committee for Western Pennsylvania, said groups of workers are now calling for donations.

The campaign headquarters are in the Standard Life Building.

Going to Chicago

We invite you to make our store, 114 South State Street (opposite Palmer House), your headquarters. We've made every arrangement for your comfort, convenience and service without cost or obligation to you.

No magic.. just Better Fabrics

There's no trick in making fine clothes. We simply use finer, more expensive materials than other brands in our price class.

We can afford to do it because we are the biggest woolen buyers in the United States and get the pick of the best materials at a lower price than smaller users.

By making our own clothes and selling them direct from our factory to you, we also save you the middleman's profit and give you better workmanship, newer styles, superior value and better fit.

Our big selection and one-price policy enable you to satisfy your personal choice as to color, pattern or style, all for the single low price of $18.50.

A million of the country's most particular men prefer Richman Brothers Clothes to any other brand made. Be open-minded and try them yourself. You'll never want any other kind... and you'll save money.

VOTE MACHINES FOR PRIMARY UNLIKELY

Allegheny County's 1,100 vote machines may be idle during the primary election because too many parties are entitled to be enrolled.

Assistant County Solicitor Ralph H. Frank today had given the election bureau an opinion that the Independent party is entitled to a place on the ballot. The machines, which cost the County $1,200,000, and are undergoing $125,000 worth of repairs, are not big enough for the galaxy of parties.

The machines are known as nine line machines and the election bureau, figuring on the presidential election, had allotted three lines to the Republicans, two and maybe three to the Democrats, and the remaining lines for the Socialist and Prohibition parties.

Ralph said the municipal election of 1931 should be the criterion. In that election C. M. Barr, Independent party candidate for commissioner, polled more than the required five per cent of the high candidate, in fact polled 30 per cent of the vote for County Controller R. G. Woodside, high man.

The Square Deal party is also entitled to a line, because Bert A. Llewellyn, candidate for poor director, got more than five per cent of Woodside's vote. The Communist and Liberal parties also want a line.

If the opinion stands, it is said the machines will not accomodate all the parties seeking to nominate candidates.

EXPLORER LOST 6 YEARS SAFE

PEIPING, China, June 8.—(AP.)—Dr. Nils Ambolt, a member of a Chinese-Swedish expedition who was lost in 1927 in Northern Tibet, is safe in Khotan, Southwest Turkestan, according to a telegram received today by the Swedish explorer, Dr. Sven Hedin, who planned to search for his confrere.

Dr. Ambolt went into Sin Kiang with a caravan of 80 camels in order to continue four years of research in Central Asia. A terrific snowstorm caused Dr. Ambolt to lose his camels and scientific instruments worth thousands of dollars.

He proceeded afoot towards Cherchen oasis, 400 miles south of the capital of Sin Kiang and had not been heard from until today.

CUBAN REFORM MOVE PUSHED

HAVANA, June 8.—(INS.)—President Gerardo Machado went forward with plans for reforming the Cuban constitution today in an effort to quell completely all rebellion against his regime.

Implying he may resign about January 1, 1934, despite his recent contrary statements, he issued a statement outlining plans for changing the constitution to restore the vice presidency.

There was also an implication that all political exiles may be allowed to return to Cuba on the first day of next year.

TWO ROB, BEAT WIDOW IN HOME

Police today sought two young burglars who beat and robbed a widow Sunday.

Mrs. Helen Kolson, 52, of 214 Spring avenue, McKeesport, reported to police yesterday that she had been attacked and robbed. She said she had been in bed three days because of shock and bruises. The men, she reported, entered her home and beat her, smothering her cries with a pillow. As one held the pillow over her face the other ransacked the house.

Pittsburghers Held In St. Louis Robbery

ST. LOUIS, June 8.—(AP.)—East St. Louis police are holding two men giving the names of Raymond Del Monte, 25, and William Bovak, 20, both of Pittsburgh.

Police say they confessed to holding up a drug store Monday night from which they obtained $12.

W. Va. University Professor Stricken

Charles Warren, formerly Assistant Attorney General of the United States, will be the principal speaker.

FOREST ARMY QUOTAS SET

Quotas for 31 counties in Western Pennsylvania directed by the local United States Veterans' Bureau for ex-servicemen's enlistment in the reforestation army were announced today.

While quotas of many counties are less than 10 men, E. R. Benke, local bureau manager, said the places will be given to the most needy applicants. The full quota is 764, with Allegheny County's allotment 266.

The other counties and their quotas are: Armstrong, 15; Beaver, 29; Bedford, 7; Blair, 27; Butler, 16; Cambria, 39; Cameron, 1; Centre, 9; Clarion, 7; Clinton, 6; Clearfield, 17; Crawford, 12; Elk, 6; Erie, 34; Fayette, 38; Forest, 1; Greene, 8; Huntingdon, 8; Indiana, 15; Jefferson, 10; Lawrence, 19; Mercer, 19; Mifflin, 8; McKean, 11; Potter, 3; Somerset, 16; Venango, 12; Warren, 8; Washington, 40; Westmoreland, 57.

Veterans outside of Pittsburgh may apply by mail for application forms, Benke said. Certification of those selected will be made to the nearest United States Army recruiting station, where physical tests will be made.

Pennsylvania veterans will be assigned to flood control work in Vermont, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

POLICE PENSION SLASH FOUGHT

Judge James R. Macfarlane is hearing testimony on the efforts of John McClintock and others to prevent the Police Pension Fund from reducing patrolmen's pensions from $86 to $51 a month. The pension board last July, declared an emergency and since has been paying $51 a month.

The protesting group seeks restoration of the previous rate, asserting the board exceeded its authority.

Attorney John A. Metz, for the association, argued yesterday that there is no obligation to maintain the higher rate. He maintained that a reduction can be made when the fund's condition warrants it.

Ex-Singer's Husband Collapses in Court

CHICAGO, June 8.—(AP.)—Dr. Maurice Mesirow, husband of Irene Pavloska, former Civic Opera singer, collapsed in court yesterday after he had appeared to answer charges he was in arrears on alimony.

Judge Craig A. Hood ordered a physician to examine Dr. Mesirow and report in 10 days.

County Employes Hold Park Outing

Several hundred county employes and their friends attended the annual picnic of the County Assessors yesterday in South Park. A mushball game, boxing bouts, a tug-of-war and music were included in the afternoon program at Spreading Oak, Grant Richey, of Bellevue, was in charge.

Dentist, Ready to Pull Tooth, Robbed by Pair

Two Negro gunmen who bound, gagged and robbed Dr. Anthony R. Laneve as the dentist was about to pull a tooth from one of them in his office, 1003 Wylie avenue, were hunted today by police.

As Dr. Laneve stood with forceps poised, the "patient's" companion pinioned the dentist's arms.

The man in the chair then drew a gun, forcing Dr. Laneve to open a safe from which the robbers took $40, police were told.

Schoonmaker's Son Held in Auto Crash

CRESSON, Pa., June 8.—(AP.)—Under indictment charging aggravated assault and battery in an automobile accident last Christmas Eve, Max Schoonmaker, Pittsburgh attorney, and son of Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, is held for the next term of Cambria County Court.

Charges allege Schoonmaker's machine struck a car driven by Arthur Stafford, of Waynesburg, carrying four people.

Jap Airdrome Blast Claims Many Lives

LONDON, June 8.—(INS.)—Fifty persons were killed and injured and many airplanes destroyed in yesterday's airdrome disaster at Hamamatsu, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Tokio said today.

Damage was estimated at 5,000,000 yen. A series of explosions blew up a powder magazine at the airport.

Woman, Man Cut With Razor in Fight

Nannie Watterson, 22, Negro, of 417 Calliope street, was in South Side Hospital today with razor cuts inflicted, police said, by Rose Benjamin, Negro, of 62 South Thirtieth street.

Murray Benjamin, 41, husband of Rose, attempted to seize the razor and was cut on the hand. The Benjamins were held by South Side police.

Burns Cause Death Of Turtle Creek Baby

Burns caused the death of George McFeely, 14 months, in the Braddock General Hospital last night. The child was burned in his home, 412 Brown street, Turtle Creek, Monday.

Six Girls Await Vice Charge Hearing

Six girls accused of accosting pedestrians were arrested by North Side police last night. The arrests were made "on complaint," police said. The girls will be given a hearing in Morals Court.

News Cameramen To Exhibit Pictures

An exhibit of photographs taken by Pittsburgh newspaper photographers will be held June 16 at the Warner Theater. Among the exhibitors will be R. L. Baird, Irving J. Newman, Ray Gallivan, Frank A. Bingaman, M. H. Kennedy, W. B. McGill, Arthur Chapman and Herman Schmidt.

Stop-Light Holdup Remedy Planned

The Better Traffic Committee announced today that 102 timers will be installed at isolated traffic lights in the Pittsburgh district so that they will flash after midnight. The committee said that robberies caused by delays at outlying stop and go lights will thus be prevented. Stop signs will also be placed at 35 intersections in the city where right-angle accidents have predominated.

FEUD OVER FIRE CHIEF ENDS IN DRAVOSBURG

With Fire Marshal Thomas L. Pfarr acting as mediator, Dravosburg Council and the borough's volunteer firemen decided last night that John Sargent would be fire chief.

After three hours of debate, Council reaffirmed its appointment of Sargent, but stipulated that it would accept his voluntary resignation if firemen agreed on any other man to be chief except the ousted Charles Thomas.

Council instructed Chief of Police Charles Livingstone to arrest Thomas if he entered the firehouse. This action came after Thomas threatened to run over Livingstone's car if he blocked the driveway as he did last Saturday to keep the fire truck out of a parade.

Pfarr criticized Thomas, charging he had failed in his duty. He censured Council for instructing Livingstone to block the fire truck driveway and upheld the firemen's right to elect their own officers, with Council's approval.

81, SHE OFFERS BOOKS FOR AID

The sad plight of an aged North Side woman came to light today.

The woman is Mrs. Katherine Degler, 81, who has been living with her daughter, Mrs. Mary Lacy, at 219 Mendota street. Mrs. Lacy's husband, Armon, had been unemployed for over a year. He is working now, but taxes and other debts take most of his wages. It is felt by the couple that they cannot give Mrs. Degler the care she should receive.

Mrs. Degler

Another daughter, who lives in Florida, is willing to keep her mother, but lacks funds to transport her there. Mrs. Degler said she has relatives in this state and in West Virginia, who might help her, but has not seen them for many years and does not know their addresses.

She also has many old books which she will part with to obtain money. They include a Latin history dated 1697, a German grammar of 1778, a German dictionary of 1779, and many others.

Mrs. Degler was born in Johnstown in 1852. She was married in 1868, and came to Pittsburgh in 1913. Her maiden name was Goughnour.

Woman Auto Victim Wins $5,775 Award

Mrs. Bessie E. Liller, of 7120 McClure avenue, Swissvale, who suffered a broken jaw and other injuries when struck by the automobile of William Fisher, 7120 Blackhawk street, Swissvale, was awarded a verdict of $5,775 in Common Pleas Court yesterday.

Judge James H. Gray heard the case.

They SOUND great!

JUST listen to Kellogg's Rice Krispies when you pour on milk or cream. They actually crackle with crispness. And their wonderful flavor makes you want them again and again.

So nourishing. So easy to digest. Fine for children, particularly the evening meal, because they invite restful sleep. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

MELLON ASKS QUASHING OF TAX SUIT

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Former Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, through his Washington attorney, Donald D. Shepard, has filed in the District of Columbia Supreme Court a demurrer against the suit recently brought by David A. Olson, onetime Senatorial investigator, seeking to collect $220,000,000 in taxes involved in rulings made by Mellon and other former Treasury officials in connection with foreign steamship companies.

The present suit, one of many filed by Olson, alleges that rulings and interpretations of the law made by Mellon, former Commissioner of Internal Revenue David H. Blair, former Secretary Ogden Mills and former Assistant Secretary Arthur A. Ballatine, resulted in the loss of $100,000,000 in income tax due the government, plus a refund of $10,000,000 granted 122 foreign steamship companies. Suit was brought for double the amount involved under penalty provisions of the law.

In seeking to collect the money, Olson is proceeding under an old statute of 1863 which would give him half the amount returned, if any.

Asking that the Olson suit be thrown out, the Mellon demurrer, also signed by William M. Robinson and Arthur B. Van Buskirk, Pittsburgh attorneys, declared that the action of the former Treasury head was under all the circumstances a "sound and reasonable exercise of the discretion and authority vested by law in the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the Secretary of the Treasury."

Contending that there is no statutory authority for such a suit, Attorney Shepard declared that Mellon relied upon the opinion of the then Attorney General of the United States in making the ruling brought into question. Congress, the Mellon brief asserted, subsequently approved a redetermination and settlement of the foreign steamship company cases through the Joint Congressional Committee, which passed on all refunds involved.

PARK STUDYING BRIBE CHARGE

A copy of the auditors' report made in connection with allegations that two county engineers accepted bribes was placed in the hands of District Attorney Andrew T. Park today.

Park said he was studying the report to determine whether there is ground for prosecution.

J. W. Butler, McKeesport contractor, made the accusations against E. A. Griffith, maintenance engineer in the Department of Highways, Bridges and Tunnels, and W. C. Lyle, former county road engineer. Both of the accused denied the charges.

Four Chinese Get Dope Law Sentences

Four Chinese convicted last week in Federal Court of violating the narcotic law by having possession of smoking opium, were sentenced yesterday by Judge Nelson McVicar.

Lee Shar Eng will serve four months in jail, and Yee Suey Hall, Yee Hick Ho and Gung Think Hong will serve one month each. They were arrested April 27 by government narcotic agents and city detectives in raids on Second avenue.

FELLOW-WITNESSES TALKING IT OVER

partment has asked for original copies of some of the evidence.

The Senate also voted an additional $100,000 to enable the investigation to proceed into other angles of private banking.

Van Sweringen in his testimony today interrupted a long series of questions by Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, to remark:

"All business is of greater volume than a year ago."

Referring to rail operations, he added "That's all we need." He went on philosophically:

"Business needs encouragement and not frightening.

"If I may speak frankly these 4investigations are terrifically destructive."

A moment later he said:

"I should not have said that. I did not mean these investigations, but—"

He never finished the sentence.

J. P. Morgan, chief object of the inquiry, sat back among waiting witnesses smiling.

ESCAPES TAX

Van Sweringen admitted that the special corporation device used in some Van Sweringen railroad operations to escape income tax payment had on one occasion removed liability for tax on $13,000,000.

Fall in Kin's Home Fatal to Man, 65

A fall down a flight of steps while visiting at the home of a relative at 525 Brushton avenue cost the life of William E. Woods, 65, Negro, of 720 Oakwood street, in Pittsburgh Hospital early today. Woods was injured last night.

SHAM DENIED BY MITCHELL

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP.)—Charles E. Mitchell testified at his income tax evasion trial today that when he bought 8,500 shares of Anaconda Copper stock in 1931 he had no idea he was buying the same shares he had previously sold to W. D. Thornton in order to escape paying any income tax for 1930.

The government charges that the sale to Thornton was a sham entered into for the sole purpose of defrauding the government.

A similar sale by Mitchell to his wife and repurchase from her was made to escape Mitchell's 1929 income tax.

Sewer Gas Blast Injures Two Men

CINCINNATI, June 8.—(AP.)—Two men were injured, one seriously, today in an explosion of sewer gas in a 48-inch water main under construction in the east end section of the city.

Gas filling the pipe hampered firemen attempting rescue. Several were reported to have been overcome.

Ill Zoo Head Docks With 200 Animals

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP.)—Albert Bingmann, of the Fleishhacker Zoo in San Francisco, arrived on a freighter yesterday with some 200 specimens of rare animals, birds and reptiles from Africa, made minute arrangements for the care of his charges and only then consented to be taken to a hospital to undergo an appendicitis operation.

ASSEMBLY QUIZ OF STATE BANKS UNDER PROBE

a copy of the compromise should accompany your report. State whether or not this offer was made in writing. In the event that none of the above are debtors of your institution, please report this fact.

"This report must leave your office not later than Monday, June 5, 1933.

"Very truly yours,
"WILLIAM D. GORDON,
Secretary of Banking.

"Per William Lewis McGee,
"Special Deputy Secretary."

SECRETARY IN CHARGE

McGee is deputy secretary of banking in charge of the Division of Closed Banks. His offices are in Philadelphia. It is this division which directs the policies of deputies in charge of individual closed banks concerning collections of notes and mortgages.

Friends of the Pennsylvania Republican organization saw in the letter the threat of intimidation of the investigating committee.

Friends of the Pinchot administration and the Banking Department hinted that reasons other than the public welfare, and not due solely to politics, had inspired whatever demand there may have been for an investigation of the department.

BELL IS CHAIRMAN

Senator Bell, of Fayette, is chairman of the committee. Representative Perry, of Blair County, is secretary. Senators Sones, of Lycoming and Shapiro, of Philadelphia, and Representatives Cordier, of Lackawanna, and Turner, of Delaware, are the other members.

The committee has no appropriation to finance its investigation but plans to open its hearings in Harrisburg Wednesday.

The investigation, said by Pinchot's friends to have been designed partly to embarass the Governor politically, is expected to probe deeply into McGee's department.

McGee's Philadelphia office was bitterly attacked here when depositors in the Citizens' Trust Company of Bellevue excepted to the account of George F. Taylor, deputy in charge, at Bellevue. They said McGee was extravagant, his office was illegal.

DEPARTMENT EXPENSES

McGee, on the stand, testified his department is spending something under $500,000 a year, prorated among more than 125 closed state banks in Pennsylvania.

Judge Elder W. Marshall has, as yet, handed down no decision in the Citizens' case.

Knowledge of the McGee letter leaked to the public today as politicians throughout Western Pennsylvania prepared to attend a dinner in honor of Martin in Washington this evening.

Martin is known to have his eyes on the Governor's chair which Pinchot will vacate in January of 1935. What effect the McGee letter and the information—if any—he has received through it will have on plans to be formulated tonight could not be guessed.

In a telephone conversation from Philadelphia today, McGee refused to comment upon the investigation.

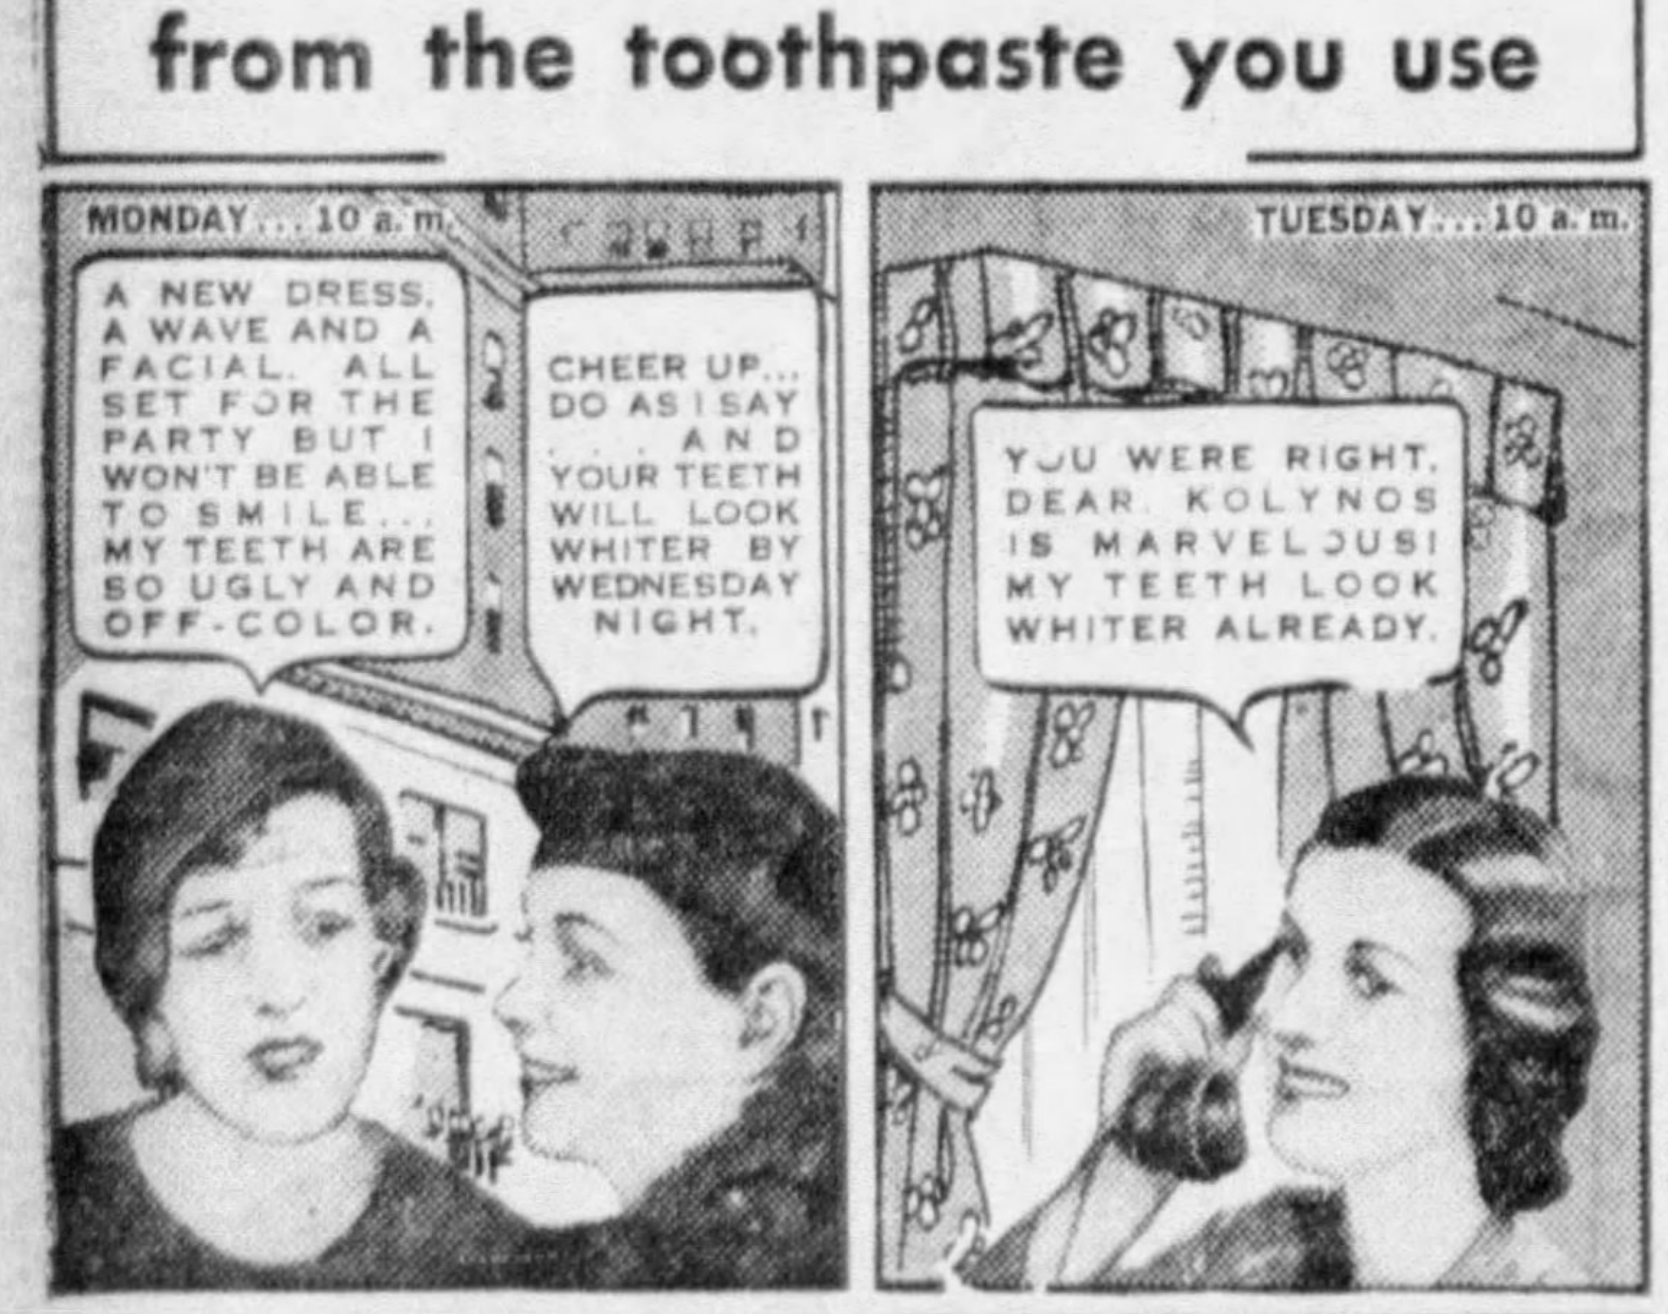
NOW GET RESULTS —WHITER TEETH
from the toothpaste you use



MONDAY . . . 10 a. m.
A NEW DRESS, A WAVE AND A FACIAL. ALL SET FOR THE PARTY BUT I WON'T BE ABLE TO SMILE... MY TEETH ARE SO UGLY AND OFF-COLOR.
CHEER UP... DO AS I SAY . . . AND YOUR TEETH WILL LOOK WHITER BY WEDNESDAY NIGHT.
TUESDAY . . . 10 a. m.
YOU WERE RIGHT, DEAR. KOLYNOS IS MARVELOUS! MY TEETH LOOK WHITER ALREADY.

YES, QUICK RESULTS
START brushing your teeth with Kolynos. In just a few days they'll look whiter—shades whiter. They'll feel much cleaner. Here's the reason: Kolynos does what ordinary toothpastes can't do. As it removes ugly stain and tarnish—it foams into every tiny crevice and kills millions of germs that are the known cause of most tooth and gum troubles.
Thus Kolynos gives RESULTS YOU CAN SEE. Cleaner, whiter teeth. Healthier looking gums. Give up incompetent ways of brushing and start using the Kolynos technique—a half-inch of this remarkable dental cream on a dry brush twice a day. It's the better, quicker way to cleaner, whiter teeth—try it.

WEDNESDAY . . . 10 p. m.
YOU'RE GORGEOUS! I'M GOING TO SEE A LOT MORE OF THAT FLASHING SMILE OF YOURS.

Dempsey's Fee 'Exorbitant,' Radio Fans Won't Hear Baer-Schmeling Battle

By AIRCASTER

Will the Baer-Schmeling fight tonight be broadcast?

Well, as reported here the other day, that redoubtable impressario of swat, Mons. Jack Dempsey, wanted $20,000 for the privilege. And so-o-o-o . . .

Quoth one of the lofty officials of the National Broadcasting Company this morning:

"Because of the exorbitant amount of money asked for the privilege, the NBC will not broadcast a ringside description of the fight tonight."

Quoth an equally lofty official of the Columbia Broadcasting System:

"We have a commercial program on at that time."

Catch on?

Ask Me Another

"Dr." M. Sayle Taylor, who is the WJAS "voice of experience," is hardly to be blamed for dissenting with the pre-radio crack made by Plautus that "giving advice is like casting words into a leaky cask."

The doc is having a swell, if arduous time, dispensing counsel to a radio audience that surely can ask for it, even if it can't take it.

He has become an air name because he has followed the simple formula of giving away something for nothing, without insisting on rules.

I can understand his joy at having a naive prebiscite endow him with such superhuman facilities. Take the letter from the Philadelphia woman, for instance. It reads, verbatim, as follows:

"I am in doubt of a journey. I have 2 places I want to go. Advise me what to do. Should ?I go west, or should I go back to my husband?"

Hello, Mawruss

Potash and Perlmutter, famed in play, literature and on the screen, come to radio June 26. Abe and Mawruss will begin their series of complete episodes on that date over NBC, and will be heard Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 8:30 p. m.

Joseph Greenwald, who played the role of Rosie's father in "Abie's Irish Rose" for five years, will be the Abe of the air, and Lew Welch, last of the performing Welch family, will be his stooge, Mawruss.

Grand girl, Fanny Brice. She received a letter the other day from a youngster in a boarding house who wanted her to change the time of her program. Seems that all of the boarders wanted to listen to Fannie while the little girl liked to tune in on another program at the same hour . . . so Fannie forthwith sent her a radio set all her own.

Globe-Trotter Schedule

Four times daily the latest bulletins are flashed over WCAE and WJAS by Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News. He goes on the air at 9:05 a. m. over WCAE, and 12:15 p. m., 2:15 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. over WCAE-WJAS.

Hello, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Congratulate me, ladies and gentlemen, a baby has just been named for me. He is Louis L. Marinaro, born June 4. Maybe we ought to relicitate the parents. After all, they are interested, too. They are Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Marinaro, of Bellevue.

Members of the Miller family, of Pitcairn, have a private marathon contest, to determine the longest time one can attend school without being absent or tardy. Thomas Miller, 16, hasn't had an absence or lateness marked against him in 10 years. Edna Mae, who has attended school for six years, has a 100 per cent record.

Mrs. J. H. Ambridge—Took care of that little request.

Mrs. F. A. K.—Just read your interesting letter on bees. Experts declare that it is not the noise that attracts them but the vibration that they sense. Beating dishpans, they say, doesn't help. Covering bee stings with salt to take away the pain sound okay, but I hope I'm never close enough to a bee to have to try it.

Woman Finds Relief After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I am now forty-six and passing through the Change. I was a terrible sufferer from headaches and giddy spells which lasted two days at a time. I felt as if I had an iron hat on my head. I tried several medicines but felt no better. Then I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and oh joy! the headaches and the hot flushes are gone. You may publish this letter. I hope it will help some one else to use your wonderful medicine."—Mrs. Stewart Fookes, Palace Apts., Mineola, L. I., New York.

Man! Watch your KIDNEYS

If you are over 40, give Kidneys and Bladder benefits of Santal Midy

When a man reaches his prime, kidneys and bladder frequently go back on him. Then, about 75% of the body's waste matter which must be eliminated by these organs does NOT pass out.

Doctors know the power of Santal Midy Capsules in keeping the bladder and kidneys healthy and free from irritation. Santal Midy contains a precious extract from the East Indian santalwood tree, which has been prescribed for over a hundred years in all parts of the world.

Don't let your genito-urinary organs work under a strain and a hardship. Prevent burning sensation, backaches, restless nights, frequent risings, leg pains, stiffness, heavy eyes. Get some Santal Midy from your druggist—today.

Kills Roaches

Roaches come from nests to eat Peterman's Roach Food. Crawl back and die—leaving NO ODOR. Young and eggs are killed. Guaranteed to rid quickly. Used in a million homes. At your druggist's.

GULDEN'S MUSTARD

Brother, can you spare a challenge?

It's the open season for gasoline challenges, counter-challenges, guarantees--or what have you. They are throwing them at the little man to confuse him. But he is not confused. He wants to make a challenge, too! Just a mild 14¼ Belmont collar size challenge. It's a challenge that comes from the heart--not from the dictionary. He says, "Never mind the ballyhoo. They can't experiment with my money. If facts ever prove that any regular gas is better than Orange American Gas, I'll listen. Not before! I know what I'm getting in Orange American. So far as I'm concerned, Orange American Gas always was--and still is--the best gasoline selling at regular gas price."

HERRON, HONUS WAGNER -:- Alex Morrison Reviews Open Golf Tourney -:- ON THE AIR TONIGHT

Polly Moran, 'Sax King' With Rudy

Having brought to the air a veritable "Who's Who" last week, Thursday night continues in its role of "Celebrity Nights" on the air.

Topping tonight's bill are Mayor John S. Herron, Honus Wagner, Polly Moran, Rudy Wiedoeft, Benny Kreuger, Alex Morrison and Rudolph Ganz.

Herron and Wagner, with Richard Guy, are billed on C. A. Wakeman's KDKA sport review at 11 p. m., heralding the Wagner Observance Day at Forbes Field tomorrow.

Polly Among Guests

Polly Moran does a Rudy Vallee guest appearance on WCAE at 8, as do Wiedoeft and Kreuger, making up a saxophone trio with the crooning maestro. Leo Carrillo, master of ceremonies on the Sunday night coffee program; Bob Hope, young comedian who registered in "Ballyhoo," and Katherine Perry, singing star of Lew Leslie's forthcoming "Blackbirds of 1933," also are booked.

Morrison, who on Saturday will give an eighteenth-hole description of the National Open Golf championship finals over NBC, reviews the opening day's developments on KDKA at 7:30 tonight. A stroke-by-stroke account of the entire final round Saturday by Ted Husing will be aired by CBS-WJAS.

Ganz, famed pianist, conductor and composer, is heard over NBC-KDKA at 10 tonight as soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra during the second of the summer series inaugurated last night.

Spotlight Singers

Sarah Logan, contralto, and Malcolm Thompson, tenor, are slated for "Pittsburgh Spotlights" at 6:30 on KDKA.

A medley of Gershwin tunes, including "The Man I Love" and "Rhapsody in Blue," highlights the Stoopnagle-Budd-Kostelanetz show...WJAS at 9:30.

On the same station at 9:15, Fray and Braggiotti, CBS piano aces, offer "My Hero," from "The Chocolate Soldier"; Rachmaninoff's Concerto No. 2 and the new European hit, "Mad About the Boy."

The amusing story of a one-eyed sailor who took up ranching as the result of a poker game is the Death Valley Days KDKA drama at 9.

With George Olsen's orchestra and Ethel Shutta booked for the Willows tomorrow and Saturday nights, Johnny Johnson says a temporary "Farewell" on WWSW at 11. He'll return Monday.

Vallee-ian

The screen-famous Polly Moran, who'll head Rudy Vallee's WCAE show tonight at 9 with a bit of monologue.

SKIDS CAUSE MANY MISHAPS

Skidding caused 2,242 accidents in the state during the first four months of the year, 59 of them fatal, according to City Traffic Engineer Lewis W. McIntyre. The Governor's Committee on Street and Highway Safety in a message to Pennsylvania motorists said today:

"The way to get out of a skid is to steer into it. When the rear of the car skids to the right, turn the front wheels to the right. If it's going to the left, turn the front wheels in that direction."

Elect Sutherland College President

ELKINS, W. Va., June 8.—(AP.)—Howard Sutherland, of Wheeling, former United States Senator, was elected president of the board of trustees of Davis and Elkins College yesterday. He succeeds Dr. F. H. Barron.

REPAIRS MADE AT AIRPORT

Defects in the administration building of the county airport have been remedied and the building is now in fair condition, Property and Supplies Director Ray Sprigle reported to the County Commissioners yesterday. Sprigle said the Union Indemnity Company, which completed the work after the contractor, J. P. Ramella, failed, had made the repairs.

Sprigle said the insurance company had stopped the leaks in the roof with a composition, put on new paint and replaced door hinges. After hearing his report the Commissioners released $2,304 which had been withheld from the bonding company.

Sprigle said that despite the repairs the building needed a new roof, and received authorization to advertise for a new one, of asphalt construction.

Circulation Dept.,
Sun-Telegraph,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Upon condition that Father James R. Cox is given the usual commission paid for home delivery newspaper orders you will please deliver the daily and Sunday Sun-Telegraph to my home address below for a period of 26 weeks or until I thereafter order it discontinued for which I agree to pay the carrier boy on my route the usual rate in the regular order of his collections. I have not been a subscriber for the Sun-Telegraph for 30 days or more.

FOOD, CLOTHING STILL NEEDED

Warm weather naturally lessens the actual suffering among the destitude, but does not decrease the calls on Father Cox for food and clothing. First of all he needs donations of food—and plenty of it. Next he needs clothing for men, women and children—particularly for men and boys, so they can look presentable when searching for employment.

Incidentally he is in a position to furnish reliable men for garden work and house repairing, and women for housework. Readers of the Sun-Telegraph who wish to donate food or clothing or need help around the house call Grant 4390—the parish house of Old St. Patrick's.

Father Cox is not letting up in his subscription campaign for Sun-Telegraph readers. He has a goal set and expects to make it. Every subscription that comes in on the blank on this page or comes in by telephone—Grant 6500—with the request that Father Cox be given credit for it, brings a liberal cash commission for his unemployment relief fund.

Memorial Services To Be Held Sunday

Memorial and Flag Day services will be held Sunday afternoon at Gold Star Grove, Schenley Park, by the Allegheny County Council Service Star Legion. The Rev. John Ray Ewers, pastor of the East End Christian Church, and Father James R. Cox, pastor of Old St. Patrick's Church, will be the two principal speakers. Four veterans' organizations and the Salvation Army Band will take part in the ceremonies.

PUPILS TO GET S. A. R. MEDALS

Good Citizenship Medals will be awarded tomorrow morning in the H. C. Frick Teachers' Training School to children of the eighth grade in the Pittsburgh schools. The Rev. Dr. Carl A. Voss, of the German Evangelical Protestant Church, will be the speaker.

The awarding of the medals is an annual event sponsored by the Pittsburgh Chapter, Sons of American Revolution. The medals are given to students showing outstanding qualities in dependability, co-operation, leadership and patriotism.

How Modern Women Lose Pounds of Fat Swiftly—Safely

Gain Physical Vigor—Youthfulness With Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle With Glorious Health

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter and cream—in 4 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—your eyes sparkle with glorious health—you feel younger in body—keener in mind. Kruschen will give any fat person a joyous surprise.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling and it lasts 4 weeks. If even this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any drugstore in the world.

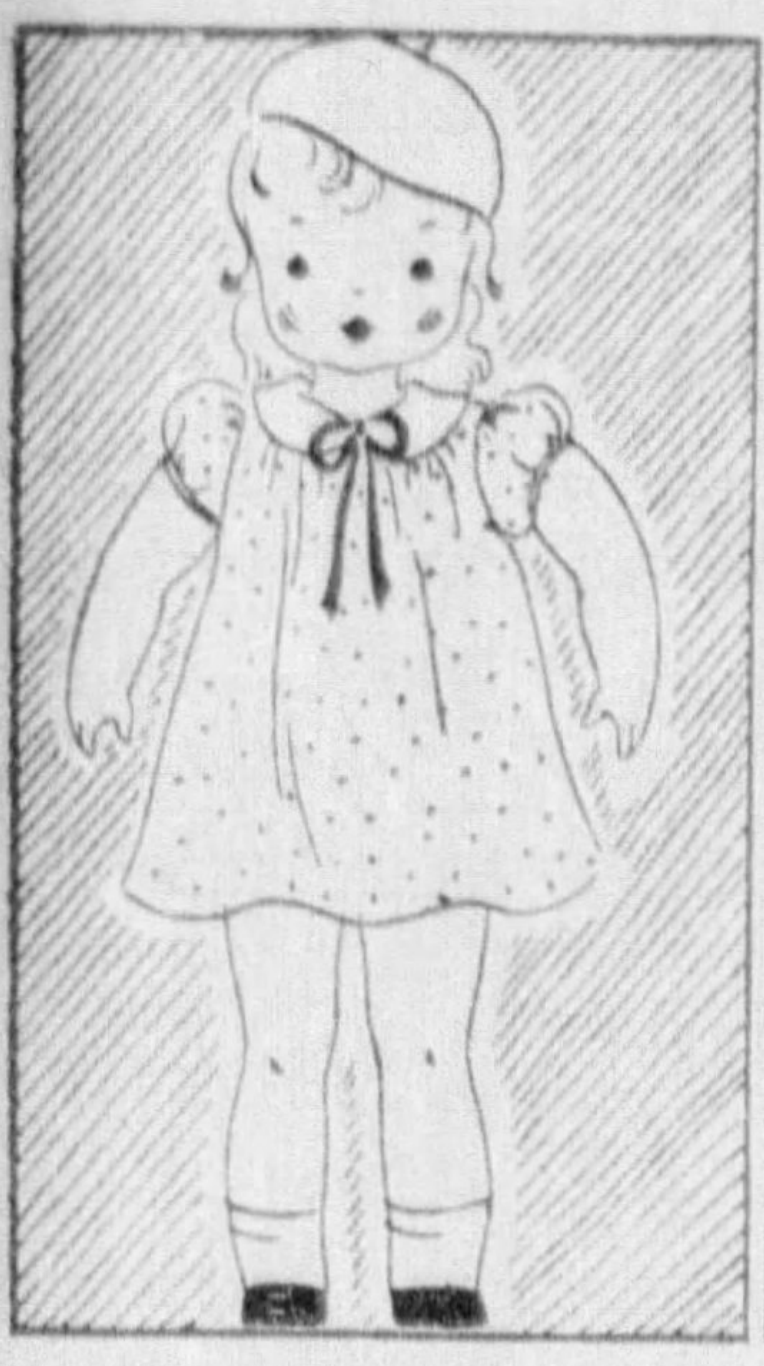
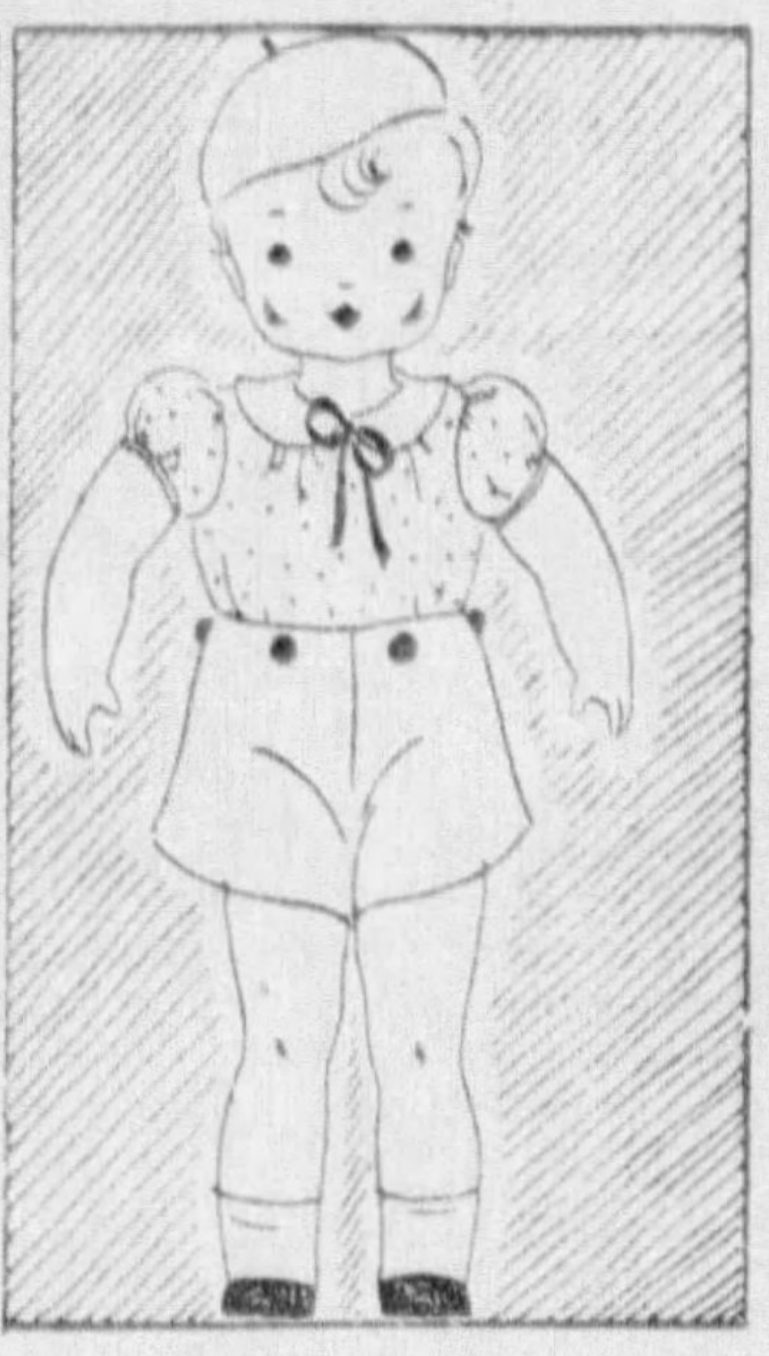
BROTHER AND SISTER DOLLS



PATTERN NO. 436



PATTERN NO. 458

BY LAURA WHEELER

To be in style, sister and brother must dress alike when they are little. These dolls not only are brother and sister but twins, for they are the same size and equally cuddly. Each doll is complete in itself, and with each the clothes are designed to fit a regulation 4-inch doll. Each pattern contains a transfer pattern of the doll, a pattern for the clothes as well as directions for making the doll and the clothes, and illustrated directions for attaching yarn hair in a hair-comb suitable for each doll. Either doll may be ordered separately. Price of each pattern 10c; 20c for both.

Pittsburgher Wins St. Vincent Degree

LATROBE, Pa., June 8.—Edwin Paul Bender, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bender, of 2438 Hazelton street, North Side, Pittsburgh, was among 40 students to receive degrees today from St. Vincent College. He is known by his religious title of Frater Edwin.

Coming to St. Vincent in 1924 in the scholasticate, he entered the novitiate of the Order of St. Benedict. Since that time he has been carrying on his musical and philosophical studies.

Locked in Icebox Man Nearly Dies

MISSOURI VALLEY, Ia., June 8.—It was 100 degrees in the shade here, but nevertheless Bert Lister, merchant, nearly froze to death.

Lister accidentally locked himself in the refrigerator at his store. His yells finally attracted the attention of Charlie Hilbert, working in a garage some distance away, and Hilbert released him.

Bert spent the rest of the day sitting in the sun.

"I Lost 53 lbs. of FAT" Says New York Mother

Gained New Health, too

"I had used all sorts of remedies without much success in losing weight until I tried BonKora. Then I lost 53 pounds in 10 weeks. I will keep on reducing until I have lost 30 pounds more. BonKora improved my health too. Ended indigestion, headaches, and tired feeling. Many of my friends are now taking BonKora. I am sending you some photographs showing how I used to look and how I look now."—MRS. MARTHA NEBOZEN, 635 E. 6th St., New York, N. Y.

Safe, Pleasant Way. Eat Big Meals

Fat Goes Quick—or Pay Nothing

Lose 10 lbs., 20 lbs., 50 lbs., as much as you wish, as Mrs. Nebozen did. Other remedies had failed her but BonKora took off 53 pounds in the first 10 weeks and she can lose more if she wishes.

BonKora takes off fat new 3-stage way. Triple action, triple speed. Take a little BonKora daily. EAT BIG MEALS of foods you like, as explained in every package of BonKora.

There are no dangerous drugs in BonKora. In fact, the treatment builds health while reducing fat the quickest way. When you become thin enough, stop taking BonKora and hold your new slender figure.

Don't be fat any longer. Get a bottle of BonKora from druggist today. If not delighted with quick loss of fat and new health, manufacturers refund money you paid for this bottle. You don't risk a penny.

Pennsylvanians, Once Fat, Praise BonKora

Nurse Loses 21 Lbs.

"After other remedies had disappointed me, I took BonKora and lost 21 pounds. Reduced hips 4 inches, waist 6 inches. Five friends are taking BonKora since they saw what it did for me. I will also recommend it to all my stout patients as I am a Registered Nurse."—Mrs. Grace Hughes, Trained Nurse, 17 N. Lindenwood St., West Philadelphia, Pa.

Lost 26 Pounds Quickly

"After using first bottle of BonKora I found I had lost 11 pounds. Not wishing to reduce too fast I then lessened the dose and then I lost at the rate of 4 to 5 pounds a week, reducing 26 pounds in all."—Mrs. H. Caulkins, 1423 Conlyn St., Philadelphia, Pa.

BonKora Special This Week at MAY-LIGGETT, DOW, MAYFLOWER, SUN DRUG STORES and all other good drug and department stores. Your own druggist has it. If he is out of BonKora, insist that he secure it for you from his wholesaler today. No matter where you live, your druggist can get BonKora.

Men aren't the only ones who know Luckies are better

We women know that there's always a good reason for everything. And when a cigarette is so unusually mild, so pure and fine-tasting as Luckies are—what other reason but "Toasting" could there be? No man has to tell me that fine tobaccos play an important part—but Luckies please me completely in still another way. My cigarette is such a personal thing—when I place it between my lips I want to be sure not to offend my sense of feminine daintiness. You men have your reasons for saying "Luckies Please!"—but with me it's the welcome purity as well as the flavor and mildness that "Toasting" imparts.

MILLER GRILLED BY SENATORS ON I. C. C. POST

POLITICS
Democratic Primary May Be Exciting
By MARK SHIELDS

Democrats, believing that their mayoralty nomination may mean something next fall, are apt to stage a primary fracas quite as exciting as the show in prospect under Republican auspices.

Mr. Shields

It is possible the Democratic nomination may not be easily controllable by the regular Democratic organization, headed by County Chairman David L. Lawrence. That depends greatly on the size of the Democratic registration.

Should the City of Pittsburgh follow the lead of the boroughs and townships, and exhibit a substantial swing of heretofore Republicans to the Democratic column, then the minority primary will be more entertaining than usual. The accessions to the party will be the independent wing of the Republican group, men and women who had no strong factional attachments, but who have voted independently.

Will Find Targets For Their Fire

That independence will be one of the reasons actuating them in making the switch. Bringing that independence with them, they will demonstrate it in the Democratic battling just as they have previously in the Republican squabbles. They will find targets for their fire, and will discover various shadings of Democracy, just as they encountered when labeled Republicans.

So far there has been no inkling of the favorite among organization Democrats. Nor have the anti-Lawrence battlers, such as E. Lowry Humes and John Henry, indicated the man they believed to be the bright, shining patriot to carry their banner.

Henry Hornbostel, an architect, has been spoken of as a possible entry in the primary. It is not probable he would be readily accepted by all kinds and conditions of Democrats. He has been a business associate of Col. Eric Fisher Wood, at one time executive chairman of the Republican State Committee, a place he filled when W. L. Mellon was state chairman.

He has friends in both Democratic camps, but not in numbers sufficient to avert a fight.

Dr. Marion McKay Also Mentioned

Dr. Marion McKay, of the University of Pittsburgh, and president of the Civic Club of Allegheny County (not the newly organized Citizens League) is another whose name is mentioned as a mayoralty possibility.

Dr. McKay was a candidate for Congressional nomination in the Thirty-second District last year, but was defeated in both the Republican and Democratic primaries. He has affiliated himself with the Citizens League, but that group is understood to have in its make-up Democrats as well as Republicans.

One active participant in the affairs of the regular Democratic organization told me there was no question but what Dr. McKay is a Democrat. But he is a Democrat who might be expected to find greater favor with the anti-Lawrence group than with the crowd now in the ascendancy through pleasant relations with President Roosevelt.

STEEDLE ASKED TO RESIGN

Representatives Joseph G. Steedle, John M. O'Rourke and Joseph A. Rectenwald, of the Twelfth District, have been asked to resign from the Legislature and return to the state treasury the money they received as salary and expenses in a resolution adopted by the Voters' League of the Twelfth District.

All three legislators are charged with a "deliberate disregard" for "the common desires and good will of the people of the district."

Samuel D. Hollis, of the Twenty-ninth Ward, is president of the League, which has a membership in most of the southern portion of Allegheny County.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 8. Aviation developed another Lindbergh, Jimmie Mattern and Amelia Earhart, when Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt finished a transcontinental flight. There is a real boost for aviation. But here is what she really takes the medal for. Out at every stop, day or night, standing for photographers by the hour, being interviewed, talking over the radio, no sleep, and yet they say she never showed one sign of weariness, or annoyance of any kind.

Will Rogers

No maid, no secretary, just the First Lady of the Land on a paid ticket on a regular passenger plane. If some of our female screen stars had made that trip, they would have had one plane for secretaries, one for maids, one for chefs and chauffeurs, and a trailer for "business representatives" and "press agents."

Yours, WILL.

FUNDS FOR VET FARM SOUGHT

Aid of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation by which 150 to 300 unemployed war veterans would be taken off the unemployed list and placed on a 600-acre co-operative veteran's farm in Indiana County was sought today by Congressman-elect Henry Ellenbogen.

The movement was launched by the Western Pennsylvania Veterans' Foundation. Buildings on the farm are now available for 50 families.

Gang Storms Home And Beats Up Men

Six men forced their way into the home of Charles Claypool, 58 South Seventeenth street, shortly before last midnight and beat up Claypool and a friend, Stephen Groskopf, 37, of 1702 Sidney street, the police reported.

Groskopf was treated at South Side Hospital.

Stepchildren Share In Father's Estate

Fred Stampfle, of Royal street, disposing of his $7,000 estate, willed $500 to a step-daughter, Emma L. Dierdorf, and divided the residue among his daughter, Ida L. Stampfle, and two step-daughters, Emma and Clara Dierdorf. He named the latter executrix.

METHODISTS REORGANIZE DISTRICTS
New Plan Will Place All City Churches Under One Head

A metropolitan district of the Pittsburgh Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, is to be created by realignment of the four districts comprising the conference.

Bishop Adna W. Leonard is expected to announce the boundaries of the new district, probably to be known as the Pittsburgh district, at the time he hands down the list of pastoral appointments of the conference now in session in the Bellevue church.

This move, designed in the interests of more efficient administration, will place all city churches under one district superintendent.

At present the city is split up among the four conference districts — Allegheny, McKeesport, Washington and Blairsville.

UNDER ONE HEAD

Ministers attending the conference express the opinion that one of the four present district superintendants will be named to supervise the proposed Pittsburgh district.

The Rev. Dr. L. D. Spaugy, superintendent of the McKeesport district, has general administrative direction over most of the churches of Pittsburgh between the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, numbering some of the most influential in the conference.

The other district superintendants are R. W. McKenzie, of Blairsville; Dr. W. S. Trosh, Allegheny, and B. R. McKnight, Washington.

The number of districts was reduced from five to four by a vote of the conference several years ago.

The Rev. Dr. W. F. Conner, reported that arrangements had been completed for merging several German Methodist Episcopal churches with the Pittsburgh Conference.

GIFT TO PASTORS' FUND

An anonymous gift of $39,000 raised the total of the permanent annuity fund for retired ministers to $504,895, Elmer L. Kidney, treasurer of the Centenary Fund Society, reported to the Conference. He said the donor wished his name be withheld.

A report of the commission on social service, of which the Rev. Dr. B. S. Crawford, of the Perrysville Avenue Church, is chairman, will be presented to the conference at tonight's session. This report is expected to deal with numerous aspects of social legislation.

A report is also being drafted by the board of temperance prohibition, and public morals, headed by the Rev. J. C. Matteson, of Ambridge.

The Rev. E. H. Greenlee, of Scenery Hill, Washington County, was retired after 40 years service.

Officers Elected By Dietetic Group

Officers were elected by the Western Pennsylvania Dietetics Association at its annual meeting in the William Penn Hotel last night.

The new officers are: Miss Sylvia Levie, president; Miss Pauline Sanders, vice president; Miss Janet Forbes, secretary, and Miss Elizabeth Rugh, treasurer.

Magic! Escaping a Straitjacket

Valley Doctors Trading Pills for Garden Truck

Peas for pills and asparagus for advice.

Doctors of Tarentum, Brackenridge and Natrona are accepting farm and garden produce in exchange for medical service.

With an estimated total of 16,000 people on relief out of a population in three communities of 25,000, many are hard pressed to pay their bills.

Doctors throughout the district claim they are being paid sums varying from 10 to 25 per cent of their fees during the past two years and more. One doctor said:

"A patient paid me $2 yesterday. I checked back to see when I had last received a fee, and discovered that I had prescribed for 37 patients since I last received any money.

"The majority of doctors in this section have had to borrow on their insurance policies in order to pay their premiums—and many of us have had to let our policies lapse."

One doctor's wife, a former nurse, is doing day nursing in order to make enough to enable her husband maintain his office. The doctor said:

"We are giving as much medical service as is asked for and living in the hope that people will get back to work some day and think enough of us to repay us something."

BISHOP SCORES PULPIT 'FREAKS'

Bishop Adna W. Leonard's advice to 11 young men received into the ministry at the Pittsburgh Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, today was:

"Don't make freaks of yourselves to attract attention. Do not use your pulpits for ecclesiastical vaudeville."

He said one reason men fail in the ministry is that they "do not know the meaning of hard work," and that, having no direct supervision, they fall into a rut.

The bishop yesterday became the grandfather of a child named for him, the Rev. Dr. Ralph B. Urmy, pastor of the Bellevue Church, informed the conference. A son was born to Bishop Leonard's daughter, Mrs. Henry G. Budd, Jr., of Plainville, Mass.

The new grandfather grinned broadly as the announcement was greeted with applause.

WIZARDS MEET, FOOL SLEUTHS

By IRVING J. NEWMAN
Staff Correspondent.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., June 8.—A magician can be a good businessman as well as a sleight-of-hand performer.

This was demonstrated here today by Otis Manning, 20, of Toledo, O., during the second day of the International Brotherhood of Magicians' convention. Manning arrived in town two weeks ago, bought every rabbit he could find in Beaver Falls, more than 20 in all.

Rumor had it early today that the keeper of the local jail in his morning check-up had one extra prisoner. It finally turned out, however, that it was Dr. Boris Zola, of Saginaw, Mich., who, by way of novelty, had "escaped" into jail instead of out.

Later in the day state police from nearby barracks were said to be looking for a maniac on a motorcycle. It turned out to be an innocent demonstration by S. S. Henry, of Wilmington, O., who wanted to show his brother magicians that, although he weighs nearly 300 pounds, he can be an acrobat while traveling at 60 miles an hour.

Yesterday afternoon, the artists of legerdemain entertained hundreds of Beaver Falls children. In the evening, adult Beaver Falls residents watched 11 acts of magic in the high school auditorium. Two Pittsburghers, Rudolph Schlunegger and Jean Foley, were on the bill.

SENATOR REED NOT BACKER, HE SAYS
Pledges Fairness in Lake Cargo Case; Action Delayed

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.)—Senator Kean (Rep.), of New Jersey, asked the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today for a day's delay before a report on the nomination of Carroll Miller, of Pittsburgh, to be Interstate Commerce commissioner, because of protests he had received from manufacturers.

The protests, he said, were made verbally, and he had asked that they be put in writing. If they did not arrive by tomorrow, he said, he would not oppose a favorable report.

Miller appeared before the committee today and told the story of his career as a consulting engineer since his graduation from Stevens Institute.

COAL FIGHT LINKED

The long-standing fight between Pennsylvania and West Virginia on coal freight rates was catapulted into the hearing by Senator M. M. Neely, West Virginia Democrat, when he asked Miller if he thought he could decide a lake cargo case without any prejudice toward Pennsylvania. He said:

"I absolutely have no prejudice or opinion."

Neely asked:

"Do you know anything about the lake cargo cases?"

"I only know what I have seen in the papers."

Neely continued:

"Do you know that the Interstate Commerce Commission has increased Pennsylvania's advantage over West Virginia since 1912 by over 400 per cent?"

"I haven't any exact figures in mind, but I know that there have been changes."

DENIES REED'S AID

Upon further questioning, Miller said Senator David A. Reed had nothing to do with his nomination. Reed and he, he said, had been friends for many years.

Neely responded:

"With due respect to the Senator, he has been advocating a further handicap to West Virginia in the cargo case."

Miller also denied any connection with Andrew W. Mellon, with the Pittsburgh Coal Company, the Westmoreland Coal Company, or any Mellon concern.

The only possible way in which he could have worked for a Mellon company at any time, he said, was when he was manager of the Philadelphia Company, a Pittsburgh utility, in 1918. He was not certain, he said, whether any of the Mellon family was interested in that concern at that time.

The committee went into executive session at the conclusion of Miller's examination.

CITES CAREER

A tall, medium heavy man with thin, graying hair, Miller told the committee of his professional career to date, before Neely started his questioning.

He said he was 58 years old. A native of Richmond, Va., he was with the Illinois Steel Company in Chicago for a year after he graduated from college in 1896.

He later was consulting engineer for the United Gas Improvement Company, George Knapp of Chicago, the United Gas and Electric Company, and the Philadelphia Company.

He said he had lived in Pittsburgh since 1918 and, off and on, since 1902. He had been advisory engineer in building several natural gas plants in Germany, England and Japan. He lived in Japan for four years, early in the century.

Neely put several dozen questions in an effort to find whether Miller could be any way prejudiced in the lake cargo case.

In answer to one of them, Miller said he was in no way connected with the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce or any trade organization in Pittsburgh.

2 Held for Court On Narcotic Charge

James Routzham, 32, of Forbes street, Soho, and Joseph Hufnagle, 29, of Orville way, were held for court on a charge of violating the narcotic act. Police testified in Central Police Court today that they had morphine in their possession when arrested in Wylie avenue.

PRIEST, LAWYER HONORED BY DUQUESNE

Duquesne University held its fifty-fifth annual commencement in Memorial Hall last night when 255 graduates were presented degrees by the Very Rev. J. J. Callahan, university president.

Honorary degrees of doctor of laws were conferred on Martin Conboy, New York attorney, the principal speaker, and the Very Rev. James A. Wallace Reeves, president of Seton Hill College.

TALKS OF JOBLESS

Attorney Conboy, addressing the graduating class, said that it seems ridiculous to some observers that people out of work do not take to the idea that, like cattle, they should mill around and bless whoever will drive them to comfortable stalls. He said:

> "It seems fair to infer from what has been said that however exceptional may be the measures taken to meet the present emergency, the good sense of those upon whom responsibility devolves may be depended upon to reject any and all solutions inspired by mere awareness that there are large masses of men to be provided for."

NEED OF LEADERSHIP

Father Callahan said education has been so intent on analyzing and specializing that it has lost the art and power of unifying. He added:

> "Even if by our combined efforts we succeed in shoving the ship of progress off the rocks where it is now stuck, and again start it on the high seas, it will be to crash again on the rocks elsewhere unless our education can produce a more enlightened leadership than has been hitherto plotting the course."

STUDENTS WIN MEDALS

Marshaled by the Rev. Michael J. Brannigan, vice president of the university and dean of the college of fine arts, the commencement procession formed inside Memorial Hall and moved through the corridors to the auditorium.

These students received gold medals: Elizabeth Atwater, church history; John Roche, College of Arts; Joseph S. Meenan, philosophy, and Joseph George Trageser, Helen Alma Murray, Martin George Albaugh, general excellence.

Girl Struck by Auto, Man Faces Charge

Edward J. McDade, 23, of 2136 Charles street, faced a reckless driving charge today because his automobile is alleged to have hit Margaret McDade, 10, of 1934 Charles street, while she played near her home last night. There is no relationship. The girl was treated in Presbyterian Hospital.

Emil C. Ertzman, of Kaercher street, by his will probated yesterday, leaves one-third of his $20,000 estate to his widow, Rebecca F. Ertzman, and the remainder to his children and grandchildren in equal shares.

Mrs. Mary Firley, of 3437 East street, bequeathed the family home at that address to her son-in-law, Henry A. Richert, in disposing of her $15,000 estate. The residue is distributed equally to him and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Anna Waldschmidt, North Side, left $100 to a son, Henry, in disposing of her $6,400 estate, the remainder going to another son, George.

Atterbury Favors 2 Rail Systems For U. S.

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP.)—The Herald-Tribune says William W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, will formally advocate consolidation of the nation's railroads into two competitive systems, in a speech he is to deliver at Harvard University tomorrow.

By going on record in favor of such a move, the newspaper says, one of the country's dominant railroad operators will signify a vital departure from the present plan for dividing the eastern lines into four systems.

Although Atterbury is not expected to name any railroads, the Herald-Tribune says it is understood he believes the Pennsylvania and the New York Central to be the logical bases for the two systems.

CONSTITUTION ACTION SOUGHT

The Allegheny County Bar Association tomorrow will vote on a resolution urging Gov. Pinchot to convene the Legislature to enact statutes enabling the people to vote on holding a convention in 1934 to ballot on a new state constitution.

The resolution to be voted upon points out that the present constitution has been amended 33 times by the vote of the people upon 48 proposed amendments since its adoption January 1, 1874.

GREAT, HUMBLE MOURN DEATH OF CURTIS

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—(INS.)—From President to newsboy thousands of persons in all walks of life today mourned the death of Cyrus H. K. Curtis, noted magazine and newspaper publisher, who died at his estate, "Lyndon," in Wyncote, early yesterday morning.

President Roosevelt and former President Hoover dispatched messages of sympathy to the bereaved family. Boys of all races at the Burroughs Newsboy Foundation in Boston pooled their pennies to send a wreath.

The President's message, sent to Curtis' daughter, Mrs. Mary Louise Curtis Bok, read:

> "In the passing of your father America has lost a great publisher, a noted leader in the field of journalism and a generous and kind employer. Please accept my sympathy."

A tribute from William Randolph Hearst read:

> "Mr. Cyrus H. K. Curtis will rank as one of the greatest of American publishers, great not only because of the unusual success that he achieved with his publications, but because of the helpful social and political work he accomplished by means of them.
> "At the time when the weekly was supposed to be extinct, he revived the Saturday Evening Post and made it more successful, more widely read and more influential than any weekly that had preceded it.
> "His monthly publication was equally outstanding in its field; and his daily and Sunday newspapers occupied the position and possessed the influence that comes from high character and sincere purpose.
> "His publications will continue to be successful in proportion to their close adherence to the principles and policies of the man who created and inspired them."

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon at the Curtis estate.

Zack Miller's Ex-Wife Pleads in Assault

NEWKIRK, Okla., June 8.—(AP.)—Mrs. Margaret Blevins Miller, divorced wife of Col. Zack Miller, of the 101 Ranch, pleaded not guilty yesterday to a charge of assault and battery brought by Miss Margaret Smith, the colonel's housekeeper.

Mrs. Miller was released upon her own recognizance and the trial was set for September 4.

Florists to Hold Dance on Tuesday

Several hundred florists from Western Pennsylvania are planning a dinner-dance Tuesday, at the Keystone Athletic Club. Frank J. Baker, of Utica, N. Y., president of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association, will be the principal speaker.

He will discuss problems of the floral industry and the "flower-by-wire" service.

Coal Producers To Map Program

Members of the newly-formed Coal Producers' Association of Western Pennsylvania will map a program at the second general meeting of the group tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Hotel William Penn.

C. F. Hosford, chairman, will discuss the administration's industrial control bill and the conferences which he attended in Washington this week.

INDIANA DEFEAT FAILS TO HALT DRY BATTLE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 8.—(AP.)—F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, today said the dry campaign would not be affected by Indiana's overwhelmingly wet vote but would be pushed with a general drive to keep the Eighteenth Amendment from being repealed.

He said Indiana was normally wet about 60 to 40, and added:

"Even with the coercion of wet politicians and their ballyhoo, no great dent was made in the dry vote."

Bringing an optimistic note to an executive session of Anti-Saloon League superintendents of nine southern states, he said:

"If other states register their dry sentiments as Indiana did, the Eighteenth Amendment will remain in the Constitution."

Declining to make a statement today, Bishop James M. Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who is sitting in on the conference, said the Indiana vote hal "developed a very important angle," and that he might have something to say after a careful study of returns from the election.

Dr. J. Bibb Mills, Anti-Saloon League superintendent for Alabama, described the conference as a "private affair" and declined to comment on reports that dry forces planned to concentrate on Alabama, the first southern state in which a repeal election will be held. Alabama's election has been set for July 18, to select delegates to a convention in August.

Indiana Dry Strongholds Fall in 'Repeal Parade'

INDIANAPOLIS, June 8.—(INS.)—Indiana repudiated national prohibition by a popular vote of 554,129 to 312,464 in Tuesday's referendum on repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, complete but unofficial returns showed today.

Of the 329 delegates elected for the ratification convention to be held here June 26, there are 246 pledged to repeal. Only 165 are required for a majority.

Sweeping into the agricultural areas once claimed as dry strongholds, the liberal vote carried 57 of the state's 92 counties.

Father and Son To Vie in Planes

DUBOIS, Pa., June 8.—(AP.)—Father and son will race 25 miles through the air Sunday and the one that loses will have to be the winner's mechanic for the next six weeks.

The race, between Russ Howard, an architect, and James, his son, is a feature of an amateur flying program to be run off in honor of "Deacon" Litz, Dubois automobile racer, who will fly from the Indianapolis speedway.

POLICE HEARING FOR RAID CAPTIVE

MEYER SCHWARTZ (RIGHT) IN POLICE COURT . . FINED $50 AS NUMBERS JOINT OPERATOR

RACKET RAIDS NET ONE FINE

Mayor Herron's city-wide clean-up, which offered the racket guys their first opportunity in a long time to shake in their boots, today netted the city $50.

That sum is 1 per cent of the reward which Council today had decided to offer for the arrest and conviction of any of the bombers who have been lending a Fourth of July atmosphere to East Liberty.

The Mayor himself appeared before Council and suggested that the $1,000 reward which Councilman P. J. McArdle, who is no political friend of the Mayor's, had suggested, wasn't enough. So the ante was raised to $5,000 per bomber. It was McArdle's idea in the first place.

The $50 came from Meyer Schwartz, 34, of Perry street, who is NOT a bomber. Schwartz was one of 30 arrested in a raid on a numbers joint in Penn avenue a week ago after the riot act had been read. The 29 were discharged and Schwartz, held as the proprietor, finally was fined $50 in Central Police Court today. Magistrate Leo Rothenberg admitted the sleuths hadn't produced much of a case and suggested Schwartz appeal. But Schwartz apparently was satisfied.

Strauss to Replace Toscanini at Fete

BAYREITH, Germany, June 8.—(AP.)—Richard Strauss, the famous German composer, has agreed to conduct the opening performance, July 21, of "Parsifal" at the Wagner festival here, in place of Arturo Toscanini, who recently announced his intention not to appear at the festival because of the Nazi attitude toward Jews.

Karl Elmendorff will take the place of Toscanini in conducting "The Meistersinger" the following day.

SECRET BRIDE WINS DIVORCE

Mrs. Helen Fay Armstrong, 105 Ross street, Tarentum, who eloped to Wellsburg June 30, 1928, and was married to Weir P. Armstrong, has been granted a divorce by Judge Frank P. Patterson.

Mrs. Armstrong said she did not tell her mother of the marriage until last September, and never lived with her husband. She said they had agreed that he was to provide a home, when his earnings increased, but he never did, and quit seeing her in July of the year they were wed. She said he is now in California.

Divorce suits were filed by Joseph G. Renner against Marie Renner, Magdalena Meyer against John Meyer and by John Frishkorn against Irene E. Frishkorn.

GANG GUNS KILL GIRL IN HOTEL

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS.)—Gangland guns belched here early today and left as testimony the lifeless body of a woman.

She was killed in her room by a gun fired from the hotel corridor, through the thin partition. Police identified her as Lelia Morrison, or Leseure, 28, of Frederick, Md.

Police are seeking three men, two of whom overpowered employes of the hotel, firing the fatal shot through the partititon when the girl and her male companion refused to open their door. The third man is believed to have operate the automobile in which the killers escaped.

2 BOYS KILLED NEAR HOMES BY AUTOS

George Farling, Jr., 3, of 4242 Winterburn street, died last night in the Magee Hospital shortly after he was struck by an automobile in front of his home, according to a coroner's report.

Joseph Cassele, of 4300 Winterburn street, who police said was the driver, was ordered to post bond pending an inquest. The child's back was broken, the report said.

HIT BY TRUCK

Four-year-old Bertram Weiss, of 17 West Cherry Hill street, was killed last night when a truck backed into the curb on which he was sitting near his home, a coroner's report showed. He died in the South Side Hospital shortly before midnight.

The truck, driven by Gilbert Schultz, of 1562 Westmont street, was turning in the street when the accident occurred, according to the report.

HIT-RUN VICTIM

Victim of a hit-run automobile driver, John Kovalski, 52, of 1015 Carson street, was in Mercy Hospital today with a fractured left leg. The accident occurred in Second avenue, near Tenth street.

Margaret Meyer, 7, of 46 Sharon street, suffered slight injuries last night when she was struck by an automobile at Monastery avenue and South Eighteenth street. The machine was driven, police say, by John Konlenic, of 2313 Jane street.

Roy Hassell, 26, of 1511 Bailey street, McKeesport, suffered head and body injuries early today when his automobile skidded in Mifflin road and struck a pole. He was taken to the South Side Hospital.

Patricia Pitt's Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair

-With-

Patricia Pitt

June is not playing truant this year at all. The month of roses is living up to its age-old reputation of charming brides. And for full measure is bringing us romantic betrothal news.

Mary Jane Kealey Becomes Bride In Church

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Kealey of Frothingham avenue, Jeannette, Pa., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Jane Kealey to A. Markley Barnes, son of Mrs. Virginia Barnes, of Wheeling, W. Va. The ceremony took place at 8.30 o'clock yesterday morning in the Grace Reformed Church, Jeannette, with the Rev. Ralph S. Weller, pastor, officiating. The church was decorated with ferns and garden flowers.

The bride wore an ensemble of beige crepe with brown accessories and her corsage was of tea roses. Miss Mildred Klingensmith played the wedding music, and Mrs. Edwin Clarke, the bride's sister, sang.

Mr. Barnes and his bride left by motor for a tour of the West, and after September 1 will reside in Jeannette. The bridegroom is coach of the Jeannette High School football team.

Miss Elsie Gabosh Is Married to W. G. Houck

Miss Elsie Gabosh, daughter of Mrs. Irene Gabosh, of Brookline, and Walter G. Houck, of Brighton road, formerly of Latrobe, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Houck, will be married on Wednesday evening at 7:40 o'clock in the Lutheran Church in Allentown.

The bride will be given in marriage by her brother, Elmer Gabosh, and her sister, Mrs. Margaret Pelzel, of Perth Amboy, N. J., will be matron of honor, and another sister, Miss Alma Gabosh, will be maid of honor. Carl Gabosh will be an usher and serving as best man will be Howard R. Houck, brother of the bridegroom.

There will be a reception in the Gabosh home after which Mr. Houck and his bride will leave on a trip to New York and Atlantic City. Upon their return they will be at home in Brookline.

Garnet Blaine Has Church Wedding

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. McMarlin, of Rockland avenue, Beechview, of the marriage of their sister, Miss Garnet R. Blaine, to Charles P. Esson, Jr., son of Charles P. Esson, of Hiawatha street, North Side, which was solemnized at noon on Tuesday, in the First Presbyterian Church. Officiating was the Rev. Dr. W. A. Jones.

Miss Clara Davis was the maid of honor, and Frank Blaine, the best man.

After an eastern honeymoon, Mr. Esson and his bride will reside in the North Side.

Miss Donaldson Married to T. S. Daw

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Donaldson, of Wilkinsburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Isabel Donaldson, to Thomas S. Daw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Daw, of Wilkinsburg.

The ceremony took place Monday afternoon with the Rev. Orva Lee Ice, of the Wilkinsburg Baptist Church, officiating.

Catherine A. McGough To Be Married June 20

Tuesday, June 20, is the date chosen by Miss Catherine Anne McGough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. McGough, of Hermitage street, as the date for her marriage to James A. Predmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde P. Predmore, of Holden street. The ceremony will take place in Holy Rosary Church, Homewood, with the Rev. D. J. Maladey officiating.

Miss Annette B. Weinman Sets July 6 for Wedding

Miss Annette Beatrice Weinman, daughter of Mrs. Ida Weinman, of Phillips avenue, has chosen July 6 as the date for her marriage to Harry Pollock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pollock.

Rabbi B. A. Lichter, of the B'Nai Israel Synagogue, will officiate. The bridegroom-elect is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh Law School.

New Century Juniors To End Year Saturday

A bridge luncheon at the clubhouse on Saturday will complete the year for the Dormont New Century Club Juniors. The affair will be under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. B. Roberts.

Ann E. Farrell to Wed Paul J. Reider June 16

Miss Ann Elizabeth Farrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack F. Farrell, will marry Paul J. Reider Friday, June 16, at 10 o'clock in the morning in Holy Rosary Church.

Today, for a glorious example, brings us two engagements of extraordinary interest.

Mrs. Frederic Tremaine Billings, of Wallingford street, is announcing the engagement of her daughter Lucretia to Dr. A. Murray Fisher, of Baltimore, son of the Jannon Fishers, of Eccleston, Md.

Bud Two Years Ago

Lucretia came out two seasons ago after having attended the Masters' School in Dobbs Ferry. She's a member of the Junior League, and one of the most popular and attractive members of our younger set.

Her fiance is a graduate of Princeton, class of '23, and of Johns Hopkins Medical School, '27.

Betty McKay, who came out with Lucretia, is giving a luncheon today, at which the engagement is being announced.

From Boston comes the announcement of the engagement of Elizabeth Bulkley McGinley, daughter of Thomas Atterbury McGinley, of Sewickley Heights, and Mrs. Holden McGinley, of Milton, Mass., to Richard Borden, son of Spencer Borden, of "Interlachen," Fall River, Mass.

Elizabeth is a granddaughter of Mrs. John Rainey McGinley, of Manchester, Mass., and of Pittsburgh.

Made Bow In Boston

She was graduated from Milton Academy in 1931, and the following winter was presented to society in Boston with her cousin, Barbara Greenough, now Mrs. John Freeman Bradley.

She is a member of the Vincent Club and the Junior League of Boston. And she has just finished her freshman year at Vassar, where she was president of her class.

Her fiance was graduated from Milton Academy in '29, and will be graduated this month with the class of 1933 at Harvard University. There he's a member of the Owl and Hasty Pudding clubs, Institute of 1770, and the Signet Society.

The John E. Nelsons and their daughter, Peggy, are off for Europe. They sailed today on the S. S. Berengaria. Their son, Wendley Dodds Nelson, is in Holland on business. And, of course, they'll meet.

Annabelle Ryave Has Wedding In Hotel

Miss Annabelle Ryave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ryave, of Craft avenue, became the bride of Maurice Slutsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Slutsky, of Stanton avenue, on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, in the Hotel Webster Hall. Officiating was Rabbi Herman Hailperin, before an embankment of ferns and palms.

The bride wore a princess gown of white lace with short puffed sleeves, and her tulle veil was finished with a cap of the lace. She carried calla lilies. Mrs. Erma Lazarus, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor, and wore beige lace and carried Dresden roses. Miss Belle Slutsky, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, and wore yellow crepe and carried yellow roses.

The bridesmaids included Miss Olive Chatkin, Miss Evelyn Choskov, Miss Esther Grumet, Miss Dorothy Pearlstein, Miss Grace Venzer, Miss Rebecca Ryave and Miss Isabelle Ryave, cousins of the bride. Samuel Blank was best man, and ushers included Meyer M. Labowitz, John Sussman, Marcus Blank, Leon Ryave, Herbert Shook and Alfred Ryave.

Arnold Ryave and Darold Lazarus were pages, and Allen Smalley was ring bearer. The bride's mother wore pink lace with a corsage of blue spring flowers, and the mother of the bridegroom chose blue lace with a corsage of pink flowers.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Slutsky left for a honeymoon in Chicago. They will be at home in the Christian Apartments, of Forbes street.

Mt. Lebanon Club Garden Section to Hold Show

A flower show, supper outdoors and a sale of garden pottery and accessories will feature the garden fete to be held June 28, by the garden section of the Mt. Lebanon Woman's Club. It's to take place at Mrs. Walter Fuller's home in Washington road.

Norcross Club to Give Luncheon on Tuesday

The Highland Country Club has been chosen as the place for the annual luncheon of the Norcross Club on Tuesday. Mrs. H. R. Welty is receiving acceptances.

A GRATEFUL CARESS AT HARMARVILLE HOME

MISS PHYLLIS TOTTEN MRS. ELLEN STONE BAILEY

Two of many visitors to the Harmarville Convalescent Home's twentieth anniversary tea entertaining two of the young children enjoying the home just now. The Federation of Girls' School Societies aids in maintaining the institution.

Gay Frocks Add Color To Tea at Harmarville

Harmarville Convalescent Home for Women and Children celebrated its twentieth anniversary yesterday afternoon with hundreds and hundreds of members of the Federation of Girls' School Societies, which aids in maintenance, there to share in the festivities.

Everything was splashed with color from the gay flowers growing in window boxes of the attractive cottage-type home to the gayly printed cotton and silk frocks of the visitors. The children of the home, too, chubby, happy little boys and girls, were dressed colorfully, and not in uniforms.

Groups wandered about the landscaped lawns of the home, chatted with the children, visited the exhibits of the occupational therapy department, and gathered for tea either in the home or on the shady lawns.

Strolling about with Mrs. W. C. Robinson in a black and white cool printed crepe frock were her niece, Madelaine Alexander, in navy blue with touches of white organdie, and Betty Childs in an interesting broken, diagonal-striped black and white frock.

Petite Mrs. William A. Duckham looked charming in a black linen frock and a white pique swagger coat with the top of the full sleeves cut into points. A white pique hat with a touch of black completed her costume.

Having tea on the lawn were Bertha Dunbar, Margaret Meanor, a deb of the past season; Helen and Betty Davison, Mary Elizabeth Creighton. Nearby also having tea were Helen Edmondson, Mrs. David N. Carlin and Elizabeth Carlin. Helen chose a white crepe frock over which she wore a cherry-red and white checked swagger coat with smart epaulettes for trimming. Mrs. Carlin and her daughter wore white crepe suits.

Betty McKay in pink crepe strolled by with Lucretia Billings, and Patricia Witherow in a red and white diagonal-striped linen frock, chatting with friends.

Charming Mrs. George Singer Ebbert, president of the federation, looked cool in a red and white printed linen dress; Mrs. George C. Stephenson wore white and green and black printed crepe, and Mrs. Theodore F. Smith chose a striking linen print with red and white predominating with touches of blue.

Visiting the children on a terrace ideal for scooters were Mrs. George A. Kelly III, in a chartreuse green crepe suit; Phyllis Totten in a finely striped sports dress in shirtmaker style, and Mrs. Ellen Stone Bailey

Social Affairs Arranged for Women at Convention

A luncheon and bridge will be given June 19 at the Schenley Hotel gardens for women here for the twenty-sixth annual convention of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers to be held at the William Penn Hotel June 19 to 21.

On June 20 there will be a luncheon in the Twentieth Century Club, followed by a visit to the Carnegie Museum and Art Gallery. A ride down the Ohio River is arranged for the evening. On June 21 the wives of the delegates will be guests at a luncheon in the Pittsburgh Field Club, to be followed by bridge and golf and a visit to the Better Homes exhibit in the Gulf Building.

A trip to the H. J. Heinz plant and the annual banquet are scheduled for June 22.

Miss Mary L. Foley is chairman of women's entertainment, aided by Mrs. J. W. Bamford, Mrs. P. C. Hodill, Mrs. W. C. Ziegler, Mrs. H. B. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Joseph Till.

Homewood Scholarship Benefit on Monday

The second in the series of benefits for the Homewood Women's Club scholarship fund will be a card party to be held at Spear's, Penn avenue. Mrs. George W. Postgate, chairman of the scholarship committee, is in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Myer Caplan To Be Honored Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Girson, of Columbo street, East End, will be at home Sunday evening from 8 until 11 o'clock in honor of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Caplan, who are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary.

Dinner, Reception to End Year for B. P. W. Club Next Thursday Night

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

A dinner in conjunction with a reception for the incoming and retiring officers is the season's closing event for the Pittsburgh Business and Professional Women's Club. The affair, which is set for next Thursday night, will take place in the South Hills Country Club.

Miss Marie Maloney succeeds Miss Martha Morrison as president of the organization. Miss Maida Weir and Dr. Alice S. Gularski are the new vice presidents. Miss Mary E. Eberle is now recording secretary, and Miss Inez B. Peele has been re-elected to the corresponding secretaryship. The duties of treasurer will fall to Miss Marie Statler. The new directors include Miss Jennie Beam, Miss Ruth Forsht and Miss Olive Kinsey.

Committee Announces Magazine Council Slate

The nominating committee of the National Better Magazines Council has presented this ticket for election: President Mrs. J. F. McCrory; vice president, Mrs. Harvey S. Fouse; financnal secretary, Mrs. Harry Smith; corresponding secretary, Miss Jane M. Kerr.

Election of officers, as well as committee reports, is scheduled for the annual meeting, to take place in Kaufmann's dining room on Tuesday morning.

JACK OECHSLE JEAN OECHSLE MRS. S. J. OECHSLE BOB OECHSLE

WOOLEN SHORTS soft as new after 24 quick trips through Chipso suds. Blue blouse still "true blue" after a year of Chipso washings.

JEAN'S yellow crepe de chine dress is fresh and shimmering after dozens of washings in Chipso.

MRS. OECHSLE'S black and white sweater has been in Chipso suds 12 times. "It is," she says, "as good as the day I bought it."

BOB'S BLUE BLOUSE is unfaded after 52 Chipso washings. His woolen shorts are 2 years old—washed more than 60 times in Chipso!

Master Jack Oechsle, of Germantown, Pa., looks very spruce in his blue blouse and woolen shorts—you'd never dream that they are a year old. And when Jack outgrows them, they'll be handed down to brother Bob for another year's wear. "Our clothes wear a long time," says Mrs. Oechsle, "because they're safely soaked clean in Chipso suds!"

There's no hard rubbing in a Chipso washday to wear clothes thin and shapeless! And there's nothing harmful in Chipso to bleed colors—even as easy-fading a color as blue!

"I always marvel at Chipso," Mrs. Oechsle says. "No wash is too dirty for Chipso to soak clean, yet it's safe, even for silks! Everything goes into Chipso suds in our house—from the children's play suits and towels, to my very nicest things like woolens and fine linens. It is so safe, it makes all the clothes wear longer."

Why is Chipso so hard on dirt but so easy on clothes? Because Chipso is not adulterated with the harsh substances contained in inferior soaps which gradually weaken fabrics and dull their color. Chipso loosens dirt harmlessly by RICHER SUDS. That is why Chipso-washed clothes stay new-looking for years.

Don't endanger the clothes you have spent good money for by washing them in cheap flakes or strong granulated soaps and powders. Get Chipso from your grocer. At its low price, Chipso is the biggest value in rich, safe soap on the market today!

Chipso makes clothes wear longer

Lack of Schoolroom Will Not Prevent Education

What do you do about folks who know more than you do?

Does your sense of inferiority make you feel so mean and sarcastic that you try to "take it out on them?"

That's what Keet's doing?

She loves Bob. But, you see, she'd had to stop school, and he hasn't, so—

Dear Elsie:

Will you please help me. I need it.

For about two years I have been going with a boy, and getting along nicely till just lately.

He is just about to finish high school and will go to the university. Now all the education I have had, besides grammar school, is two years at Business College. Of course I don't consider myself exactly dumb, but when my boy friend and other boys and girls I know begin talking about subjects they learn of in school, and I can't join them, I feel terribly hurt. And then, when my boy friend says something to me about something like that, I can't help being sarcastic. When he asks me what is the matter, all I can do is snap back "nothing!"

I always regret this afterward; but when I get hurt, I don't care if I hurt anybody else.

WANTED EDUCATION

I always did dream of having a thorough education, but fate has deprived me of it. Well, I didn't let that get the best of me. I just kept playing my part, but this is a little too much.

I don't know what to do. If I feel this way now, how will I feel when Bob comes back from the university? I know he loves me, and I love him. I would hate to part from him, but I know we can't get along this way.

Won't you please advise me as to what I can do?

KEET.

What can you do?

That's simple. Stop crabbing and feeling sorry for yourself because other folks know more than you—and dig in and learn something yourself!

You've dreamed of having a fine education? All right. If that was really your pet dream, there isn't a reason on earth why you shouldn't be just as educated as you want to be. What you really and honestly long for, and are willing to work for, you'll get.

CASE OF JEALOUSY

Just now you're being spiteful and catty, not because you regret your lost schooling, but because your nose is out of joint. You're jealous of people who seem to have gone a little beyond you—and because of that spitefulness, you're slamming the door of happiness in your own face.

What'll you do, when the boys and girls you know talk about something that's "over your head?" Listen to them. Ask them questions. Find out what it's all about. They'll be glad to tell you, if you'll come down off your Martyr Complex and show some genuine interest.

That's the way to not only get along with people who know more than we do, but to get ahead in the world as well.

So get busy. Don't stop learning just because you can't sit in a schoolroom. The world is full of fine books. Fate can't "deprive you" of the chance to know what's in them, and make your life rich and lovely. Only you can do that!"

So cut out the "hurt" feelings and do a little hustling! And here's betting on you, child!

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

"Social Accustomedness"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What age must a girl be in order for a man to tip his hat upon greeting her? My guess is that if a girl is under 16 it isn't necessary. Am I right? Please give me the exact age, if there is one.

LOUIS.

Well-bred men, gentlemen who realize how important it is for very young people to develop appreciation of the social graces and amenities, raise their hats to young ladies long before they have reached the age of 16 . . . maybe even 10 years before they have reached that age. This may sound like a very young age to you, but no age is really too young, after babyhood, to begin with this gallant sort of gesture. The best way to acquire that "social accustomedness" which most of us long for, is to "begin early." I have known many little ladies of 6 and 7 who have their own visiting cards, and who are perfectly familiar with how to use them in enclosing them with flowers and gifts that they give. They are taught how properly to answer older people, how to make and to receive introductions to older people, and, in turn, they know and appreciate how older people should acknowledge social forms to them.

"Thank You" Note

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When visiting in the city recently, I spent the day at an elderly lady's home, to which I was invited by her grandson, having both luncheon and dinner there. I usually, after spending a few day's at someone's home, write a "thank you" letter upon my return home, but I am in doubt whether this would be appropriate on this occasion, as I do not want to create the impression that I am writing it only to receive further invitations. What would you advise?

W.

Please by all means "obey that impulse" and write your gracious note of appreciation to this kind hostess. She will deeply enjoy having you be so thoughtful and polite, and will love to know that you had a happy time at her home. All people, and especially elderly people, place a high value on just this sort of graciousness.

And please, too, dear girl, never take an unworthy attitude toward your letters. There would be no reason in the world why this extremely kind hostess should misinterpret a letter of thanks and appreciation from you—except your own attitude about it. Throw away that attitude!

BRIGHT FASHIONS FOR BEACH AND CABANAS ARE AMUSING

OUR BEACHES should look gayer than ever this year. Bright canvassed cabanas intermingling with colorful beach umbrellas and chairs will make the perfect background for fashionable beach clothes. Some are too amusing . . . which makes them frightfully smart. Others are simple and workmanlike in design, though of strange new fabrics.

THE BATHING SUIT, of flannel shorts with kerchief top, sketched, is prescribed for young things with long, slim legs. In this, bronzed goddesses with high shades of tan (as the fashion books say they should be) look like healthy Dianas. The point to remember is to have the kerchief colors gay. Yellow, red, blue, green, brown or orange are all good in clear shades. Wishy-washy colors have no place on the beach! The bag, in identical kerchiefs, has a wooden frame, and will hold myriads of things—it's enormous! See how the hand crocheted Sainte Maxime sandals expose painted toes. Incidentally, this mode continues with emphasis on matching toenails and finger nails.

DO YOU remember how you groaned when you tried on some of the beach pajamas of other years? They were invariably bulky and made you stick out where you could stand it least. This "brunch coat" pajama set, of the once-considered homely sugar sacking muslin, natural colored, is as sleek and fitted as any street suit. Since you cannot do without at least one gigantic beach hat, it might as well be this, of matching muslin and bright wool band. Don't worry about getting the pajamas wet over a dripping bathing suit. When they dry they will still be as they should be—smartly wrinkled and slightly "mussed." Amusing melon-shaped gadgets of hand-carved wood hang from the belt and fasten the coat at the neck. Cut-out sandals of canvas match the darkest pajama band. For parading purposes, a more flattering costume would be hard to find.

Fay King Writes of Those Minutes Which No Wealth Can Buy

IT TAKES ONLY A LITTLE OF YOUR TIME, AND MAKES HER SO HAPPY TO HEAR FROM YOU!
AW GEE! WHAT'S THE USE OF WRITING
FAY KING

By FAY KING

Mothers Day has come and gone.

Perhaps you wrote to your mother. Perhaps you forgot to.

But one day in the year to remember or to forget is a small matter. There are 364 other days in the year, in which to make her happy with a loving word, or a thoughtful deed.

No child is a failure in a mother's eyes. Don't wait for success, to surprise her with grand things you mean to do. They will never make up for neglecting her now.

That success may come too late, and find her gone. Then all the wealth and power in the world cannot buy back five minutes of the time you do not give her now.

Be kind while there is time.

Nick Reveals That Owen Is Seriously Injured

If Nick, the gangster, had been possessed of delicate perceptions, he never would have been deceived by the amused laugh I gave at his boast that the rope he and Tony had stretched across the road would have stopped a locomotive. It was the most artificial sound possible—every nerve shriekingly protested as I forced it out, but it served my purpose of diverting his attention from the attempt to bribe Tony to let me escape that I meant to make at the first possible opportunity.

Patently, however, he thought it genuine, for he chuckled again delightedly.

"You're not so slow, are you, Babe?" he said admiringly. "Nobody has to knock you on the head to get over what they mean. But step careful, now. I've got to get across the road to find out what Tony's up to, and I want to plant you just inside the fence where I can find you again, but where you won't be likely to be hit by a stray shot."

I shivered, then forced my tone to archness.

"I'm sure I have no desire to act the role of the innocent bystander," I said.

SHOTS WERE HIGH

Nick laughed indulgently.

"You're a cute trick, Babe," he said, "and you sure have the gift of gab. Now here's the dope on the shooting: If Jerry's birds had been running booze and we had tried to highjack it, there wouldn't have been any letup till one side or the other was finished cold. But on a job like this, where Jerry simply sends a couple of men for a bodyguard for some guy like this Owen, the birds on the job aren't any more anxious to stop bullets than you would be. So me and Tony just flattened ourselves out by the one side of the road, and Jerry's mugs did the same on the other side. Then we sent some shots across so they'd know we meant to get what we were after, and they returned 'em so that bird, Owen'd think he was getting value received on the protection end. We were all shooting high, wide and handsome, and being careful not to send any bullets low enough on either side of the road to do any damage to any of us."

He stopped and I seized the opportunity to say breathlessly: "Oh! how clever of you! And of course you and your friend have won out. But—won't the employer of the other men—Jerry, didn't you call him?—won't he be very angry when he finds out what has happened to Owen, who no doubt has paid well for an escort and protection."

"I'll say he paid well," Nick returned with a short laugh. "Charging for protection is one of the very best little things Jerry does. But he won't be sore about this, because in the first place, he won't never know about it."

OWEN HURT

"What—what do you mean?" I faltered, sudden horror gripping me by the throat. "Is—is—Owen dead?"

"Not yet," Nick returned callously, "but soon. Why, what do you care? A little while ago you thought this Owen was the outside rind of the cheese. I figured you'd be doing a clog at that news instead of throwing a scared fit."

"I'm not worrying over Owen, and I'm not frightened," I said stoutly, hoping that my knees would not crumple under me. "The only thing that bothers me is this: Don't you see that if Owen dies, Ronald stands in danger of—in danger of—"

"In danger of nothing," Nick said with decision. "Not if your girl friend and her sweetie can keep their mouths shut about what happened. All they have to do is to beat it when their friends come, leaving Owen tied up just where he is. If he lives, he won't squeal, because kidnaping ain't so hot, if they got on to what he'd been pulling. And if he's croaked—the police and the papers will call it another gangster killing—maybe they'll get after Jerry, and that would be just too bad. But remember, if you tote him away with you, and then he croaks, your girl friend's sweetie will have to take the rap."

Household Hints

Rhubarb and apples are greatly improved in flavor if stewed in the juice of an orange instead of in water.

Never throw away old coffee grounds. Dry them in the oven, add a pinch of bicarbonate of soda, and you will have an excellent knife powder.

Kerosene will remove grease and rust spots from the kitchen sink. Apply with a newspaper and avoid an oily cloth around the house.

Never lift the goblet or tumbler to the servant to be refilled when dining out. The goblet remains on the table and the maid brings the pitcher to it.

Sixteen mesh is the best size screening for windows and doors as it will keep out the smaller insects as well as flies and mosquitoes.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Benefits of Sun Many; There Are Dangers, Too

Even though some appear to forget it, most of us know that prolonged exposure to the rays of the sun is dangerous. I recently visited a friend who was recuperating from a severe sunburn. In the course of conversation he told me that he had fallen asleep while taking a sun bath.

Dr. Copeland

When he awakened he could hardly move. His body seemed to be on fire and he suffered marked agony. He was rushed to a hospital where he received the necessary treatment for the severe burn that he had inflicted upon himself. My friend was dangerously ill for weeks and at one time little hope was held for his recovery.

Of course this is an extreme case, but the rays of the sun are strong and penetrating. The skin is easily burned by excessive exposure. The burn is similar to that received from fire or scalding liquids. Extensive skin burns from any cause are dangerous and may result in serious complications. Extensive burns covering a wide area of skin may be fatal.

Everyone enjoys a good suntan. It gives a healthy appearance and a feeling of well being. It can only be safely acquired by gradual exposure to the sun.

Redness and tenderness of the skin are nature's signs of warning. Bear in mind that exposure to the sun must be gradual and not increased in length until the skin has a protective coat of tan. Once the skin has this protection you may stay out in the sun for long periods.

Though the value of sunlight as a means of combating disease has been known for many centuries, it is only within recent years that its really curative effect has been appreciated. The rays of the sun supply the body with certain substances essential to good health and nutrition. They are of special value in the prevention of certain childhood diseases.

The rays prevent certain vitamin-deficiency diseases, such as rickets. The child who has an abundance of sunshine will never have rickets. This disease was formerly a common ailment of children who received little sunshine and fresh air.

Sun baths are now given to the infant when it is but three or four weeks old. During the winter months when sunlight is scarce, or even weather prevents out-of-doors sun baths, cod liver oil should be given. This supplies the necessary vitamins developed by the rays of the sun and necessary for sturdy bones and healthy bodies.

The value of sunshine cannot be overestimated. But the dangers of careless exposure to the sun must not be diregarded. Get your share of sunlight, but do so carefully and in moderation. Never expose yourself to the sun rays for a long time until you have that protective coat of tan. And, above all, do not fall asleep in the sun, as my friend did.

Answers to Health Queries

M. B. Q.—What causes brown spots to appear on the neck? 2—What do you advise for pimples?

A.—These are probably liver spots. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question. 2—Diet and elimination are important in the correction of this disorder.

Contract Bridge -:-

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

An Exit Fork Strip

I must confess that I am almost as greatly intrigued by the names given to some of the more unusual plays at Bridge as by the plays themselves. Mr. George S. Coffin has written a book, "End-Plays at Bridge Explained," in which he has enriched the vocabulary of Bridge with a new terminology, part of which is extremely interesting and all of which, to say the least is unusual. When you come to such titles as the "Forced Fork Strip" and the "Forced Fork Dodging Strip," you are treading new and unbeaten paths. But these are relatively simple compared with such names as the "Undertrumping Grand Coup Fork Cross-ruff Strip" and the Fork Strip Forced Automatic Squeeze." Antoher interesting name for an end-play is the "Perpetually Retained Squeeze." At last there is something in Bridge that never changes!

Mr. Coffin recently sent me the hand below, which he classifies as an "Exit Fork Strip." It was played in the New England Championship Pairs at Holyoke, Mass., by Mr. Coffin himself.

South, Dealer.

♠ A 9

♣ A J 10 7 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	1♢	Pass	3NT
Pass	Pass	Pass

Mr. Coffin and his partner were playing an unusual bidding system, which explains West's extraordinary Opening on 1½ honor-tricks. This bid was not intended in any sense as a psychic, but was based upon the belief that in Duplicate the requirements for Opening bids must be lighter than in Rubber Bridge. Mr. Coffin might have been risking a Slam by his response of three notrump, but, as the cards lay, there was nothing of that kind possible.

The Opening lead was the club 7, which was won with Dummy's 8. The Ace of diamonds won the next trick, and South's discard revealed the fact that no tricks outside of the top cards could be developed in that suit. A low club followed, which Dummy was permitted to win with the King. A spade was now lead, and then another. North won the second round and led the Queen of hearts. Mr. Coffin, winning this with the Ace, cashed his good spade and the remaining high heart, and then threw North in the lead by leading the heart 6. North then won another heart trick, but in the end was forced to lead up to the diamond tenace in Dummy.

If you will study this play, you may understand what is meant by an "Exit Fork Strip." For myself, although I must confess to a great admiration for Mr. Coffin's terminology, I shall probably continue to call it simply a forced lead.

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

Balm

I've saved the letters that you wrote to me,
 I've saved the thoughts of fresh, enchanted bliss;
I never thought such happiness could be,
 For life to me was ever hit and miss.

The days were magic interludes of dreams,
 The nights were all too short, but heaven sent;
Love came on wings of burnished gold, it seems,
 Paused for a while, then all too swiftly went.

Now it is done—new lures have called to you,
 And life takes on its sombre, gray routine;
There's nothing really left for me to do
 But bind my wounds—and vanish from the scene.

You've taken hope and trust from me—that's true
But you can't take those nights along with you!
—Kid Kazanova.

Groucho Marxmanship

At the eye-filling premiere of Abe Lyman at the Cocoanut Grove in Lon Angeles the other night—the Crawfords, Harlows, Weismullers, Mixes, et al. weren't half the fun as tuning in on Groucho Marx, who, with his brothers, owns a new boxer, named Sammy Cohen.

"We decided," said Groucho, "that the name Sammy Cohen sounds too Jewish—so we call him 'Canvass-back' Cohen. We feel that people might think he's a duck!"

Cohen, who was knocked out by a sparring partner the other day, makes his debut in the ring this week.

"Who's gonna go in the ring with him?" we inquired.

"Nobody," niftied Groucho, "except a doctor."

Heheheh

Groucho added that his alleged fighter bleeds so easily they are seriously thinking of renting him out for blood transfusions, instead.

Meowch!

Joe Moss tells the quip about the show girl, who married into a socially prominent tribe, but did not forget her old stage friends, inviting them frequently as her guests.

"I see," said one former chorus comrade at one of these affairs, "that Lucille uses only colored help now."

"Yes," was the retort, "she got tired of having her catty pals ask if her maids were relatives."

He's Back!

By the way, Izzy Elinson finally contributes, my name has been on J. P. Morgan's list for years. They said they'd let me know just as soon as there was a job open.

Observation

Tony Wons wishes to remind you that with show people who are temperamental—it usually is 98 per cent temper and 2 per cent mental.

By Way of Report

It happened in Cuba, where the Lottery is among the national pastimes, and where lotteries are watched with the same interest as major elections. The whole thing, of course, is run strictly on the level, and is a source of much needed revenue to the government.

Anyway, a few years ago, one of the gazettes there began a heated and vigorous campaign against them. Lotteries, editorialed the rag, were undignified, unethical, etcetera. "They took the savings of the poor working people," argued the editorials, and so on and so forth, for a long time.

Well, the sheet attracted attention to itself, and managed to get a few reformers on its side, but needless to say, the lottery was held as per schedule. And who do you think had the big winning number? Not any poor laborer, at all.

It was the editorial staff of the crusading paper, who had purchased a few tickets in the hush manner. Yes, they didn't refuse the money.

Interview

One of the English weeklies has been running a contest for the best imaginary interview with a public figure, and this one with James Barrie should have been the winner.

"Sir James Barrie, I presume?"

"You do!" was the squelcher.

Quiteso, Quiteso

"And," adds Reader's Digest, "the honeymoon is over when he stops calling her 'darling' and starts yelling: 'Say!'"

Don't Get Personal

"The honeymoon is over," shrieked Mrs. Winchell, "when she's just handed him a bill from Hattie Carnegie's for $1,100, and he mumbles something about seeing girls who look just as nice in dresses that cost $14.95."

Common?

It was recently recorded that Peggy Joyce had stated in an interview that she didn't wear orchids anymore since a columnist cheapened them. It appears that what Peggy really said was:

"Since a columnist made them common by giving them away."

This confuses us. Because the San Francisco papers just arrived and they moan over the failure of the benefit for lovely Ruby Adams. At this benefit several celebs, swellebs, and smellebs, were imported from Hollywood.

Their transportation, hotel, food and laundry bills (and long distance calls!!!) were paid for out of the monies for the benefit and, as a result, Ruby Adams cannot have the operation that might have made her walk again, after eight years of pain.

Ruby Adams didn't even rate a penny of it, revealing extremely poor management, of course. But, according to the San Francisco newspapers, there might have been a few dollars less loss—if Miss Joyce, upon arrival there, hadn't displayed anger because she wasn't welcomed with orchids! Which were sent to her!

What! No scallions?

Mattern's Hop On Screen

THE GLOBE TROTTER

The actual take-off of Jimmy Mattern from Floyd Bennett Field, New York, as he started on his record-breaking solo flight around the world, is shown in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News. Mattern delivers a farewell talk, climbs into his big plane, leans out, shouts "Goodbye, fellows," and he's off, not to stop until he reaches Norway. The Globe Trotter describes the sensational flight.

From the same field come pictures of expert women fliers racing for the Gibson trophy. Twenty-two of them dash over a triangular course of 45 miles. Amelia Earhart acts as starter, with Ruth Nichols keeping score.

Pope Pius is shown making a pilgrimage to St. John Lateran, the "Mother Church" of the Roman Catholic world, where he was ordained a priest 54 years ago. A crowd of 300,000 persons greet him and he bestows his blessings upon them.

Kidnaped victims of the jail-break of the Kansas penitentiary bring graphic descriptions of their experiences. Louise Wood, of Kansas City, who with her mother and a friend, Cloris Wears, were kidnaped tells her story, as does Keeper Law.

President Roosevelt hands out diplomas to the graduating class at Annapolis and delivers a forceful address.

A World's Fair crowd of 30,000 sees Mr. Khayyam win over Head Play in the great American Derby at Chicago, dashing from behind in the home stretch. It is a real thriller.

A fire which followed an explosion is shown sweeping an oil field at Long Beach, California. With damage of $2,000,000, and 10 lives lost, a vast track of land is laid waste.

British tars at Portsmouth, England, practice juggling guns in preparation for the Royal Tournament in London.

McKeesport Man Struck by Train

Frank A. Guiser, 75, of McKeesport, business man, was struck by a train last night at the Walnut street crossing of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, McKeesport. He was taken to the McKeesport Hospital suffering from severe head injuries and shock.

Rival Summer Theaters Have Ambitious Programs

By GEORGE SEIBEL

The Atlantic seaboard and the New England mountain-sides are not the only spots where the drama is to bloom during this summer. Pittsburgh is to have several rural centers where enthusiastic mimes will present theatrical entertainment. The very fact that one group will open with "Another Language," Rose Franken's successful comedy, and the rival group with "Springtime for Henry," Benn W. Levy's uproarious farce, shows these young people are to be taken seriously. Neither play has been seen in Pittsburgh. Both were big hits on Broadway.

Mr. Seibel

The Pittsburgh Summer Playhouse, which will operate in the Shady Side Academy Auditorium, at Fox Chapel, has listed six plays. After "Springtime for Henry" comes "The Second Man," by S. N. Behrman; "He," by Alfred Savoir; "Good-Bye Again," by Scott and Haight; "Three To Make Ready," by Helen H. Mason, and "Dangerous Corner," by J. B. Priestley.

The Mason play is a world premiere for a Pittsburgh playwright of the greatest promise.

The Stage Guild, the other organization, will hold its revels at The Willows, Oakmont. After "Another Language" they will produce "Honeymoon," "There's Always Juliet," "Biography," "The Party's Over," "Here Today," "Good-Bye Again" and "Three-Cornered Moon."

"Good-Bye Again" is on both repertoires. Let us hope that this is not an ill omen.

TELL IT TO MAETERLINCK

Meanwhile another summer diversion is to be presented tomorrow evening in the Frick School Auditorium in Boquet street. Pupils of the Beechwood School will stage their own version of "The Blue Bird," apparently having rewritten Maurice Maeterlinck's fairy spectacle, furnishing original music and a new text.

It sounds like impious presumption, but as the Board of Education and the Superintendent of Public Schools are sponsoring the affair, and Dr. George W. Gerwig assumes primary responsibility, what is Monsieur Maeterlinck go to do about it?

Maybe the young people will improve upon his occasionally heavy symbolism and find the Blue Bird much quicker.

Since the Blue Bird is Happiness, it may be they've caught it in this ambitious dramatic project, exercising what Schiller called the "Spieltrieb" or "play instinct."

THE TIE THAT BINDS

It would never have occurred to me that there was any link connecting me with the "Disabled American Veterans of the World War." But you never can tell.

John G. Rainey writes to inform me about a benefit for the building fund of Greater Pittsburgh Chapter No. 8, at the Liberty Theater next Sunday evening. And he adds:

"If you are George Seibel, we have one little thing in common. I was the young man who took tickets at the Pitt Theater for William Moore Patch when your play, 'The Leper,' was at its peak."

This being so, how can I keep from going to East Liberty Sunday evening to see "Daring Daughters" and "Death Drums of New Guinea"?

And I hope Rainey will be taking the tickets. He knows the game.

Russ Prince Admirer Of Bing Crosby

One of Bing Crosby's most ardent admirers is Prince Sevelode, of Russia, who now resides in London. He has a standing order for Crosby's phonograph records. Whenever he is particularly pleased, he writes Crosby a letter. Such a letter just arrived in Hollywood, where the crooner is playing in "College Humor."

"Prosit!"

You can see by the mouth that this would be El Brendel, popular film comic, who perhaps is thinking "health to you!"

Picks Ben Alexander Twice in 19 Years

Ben Alexander is being "discovered" for the second time in his life by Cecil B. DeMille. Nineteen years ago, DeMille spied Ben, then a toddling youngster, and gave him a part in a Mary Pickford picture, "The American." Recently, DeMille picked Ben for one of the featured high school boy roles in "This Day and Age."

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

For years a great deal of theater production has depended upon that dear old soul called "the angel," the person who supplied the financial backing. Now it appears the theater may have its own angel, a corporation having Crosby Gaige, producer, as its president. This, the National Theatergoers' Association, Inc., aims to have a capital stock backlog of $6,000,000, its purpose being to finance productions of selected directors. The promotional group is said to include 100 persons in the banking business, dramatic production, performing and writing fields. Besides Gaige, interested persons of the theater include Jane Cowl, actress, and Sam H. Harris, producer.

David Cornman wrote the complete book of "The Right Bank," all of its songs, lyrics and skits, and is directing this revue. It will be given in the "Y" Co-operative Playhouse next Monday and Wednesday evenings. About 40 persons will participate in the show.

The Pittsburgh Summer Playhouse, which will open its season at the Shady Side Academy Theater, Fox Chapel, June 26, sent out subscription forms to prospective subscribers, and found out that Pittsburgh has a large number of actors of professional experience. Instead of subscribing they wanted to act. The subscription response, however, has been satisfactory.

* * *

The Willows, where the Stage Guild will present eight plays during June, July and August, opening June 19, has completed the stage upon which performances will be given. The seating arrangements will care for 1,500 persons.

George Olson and his orchestra, with Ethel Shutta, well-known as radio entertainers, will be featured at the Willows, Oakmont, Friday and Saturday. Both Olson and Miss Shutta have been prominently associated with musical productions of the stage.

* * *

Tom Mix and his wife, Mabel Ward, former circus performer, are being booked for a summer tour of combination houses that still play vaudeville. Mix's horse, Tony, Jr., will be part of the act, which will travel by motor.

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

The Superman

IF YOU will travel back a few years in your memory you may recall that the Eastern portion of our strange country was in the grip of a ''Back to Nature'' fad. For some reason that I have never been able to understand, certain men who were sane enough in other respects took themselves into virgin wildernesses and there wrestled with the elements for a week or two.

Almost any edition of your favorite newspaper carried the story and picture of one of those rugged lads. He was usually draped in a leopard skin, and carried a hatchet or some such silly weapon that was to be his only defense against the primeval forces. Remember?

Just who started the fever, and what the originator hoped to gain by it, I do not know. It doesn't make much difference, because we need concern ourselves only with one of the movement's disciples, a chap we'll call Bert Wilson, since that's as far from his right name as any I can think of at the moment.

Bert was born in a small New England town and, in his youth, distinguished himself only by his ability to exist for twenty-odd years without the disagreeable influence of manual labor entering his life at all. And, although he had never done anything more strenuous than lifting his arm at a dinner table, he was firmly convinced that he was slightly different from the ordinary run of mortals.

He knew himself to be a super he-man. And he dreamed of the day when the world would recognize him as such.

In view of the circumstances, then, you will probably not be surprised when I tell you that Bert was one of the first to succumb to the "back to nature" fad. He slung a knapsack over his shoulder, said goodby to his anxious folks and told the world that he was departing for the Maine woods, where he would live in communion with the beasts of the forest and subsist only on berries and the meat of such animals as he would slay unassisted. Thereby proving that man was supreme—and that he was nuts.

On the morning that he arrived at the point where he was to bid farewell to the outside world, there was a small gathering of curious folk and one or two newspaper reporters to see him off. Bert delivered a carefully-prepared little speech, posed willingly for a picture, and, with a last wave of his hand, disappeared into the woods. . .

For two weeks, which was the length of his stay, nothing was heard from Bert. Then he emerged from the wilderness with a half-grown beard, limbs and face swollen from poison ivy and a consuming hunger. He posed for another picture and gave out harrowing and slightly false statements regarding his experiences of the past 14 days.

Inasmuch as several of his predecessors had attempted the same feat and failed, Bert was hailed as a person of superhuman stamina and bravery. The Chamber of Commerce of his home town, pleased with the publicity it had received, feted him royally. Bert, I need not tell you, was in his glory. At last the world had awakened to the fact that he was a man among men.

The newspapers, of course, ceased to mention him after the first few days. By that time another superman had remained in the woods for three weeks, and Bert was promptly forgotten. Forgotten, that is, by every one except Bert himself.

The feat was over, but the boasting lingered on. Any one who made the mistake of pausing long enough to say "Hello" to the erstwhile man of the forest was obliged to listen while he recounted in great length and great detail his experiences in the Maine woods.

For several years Bert remained in the background. Then suddenly his name popped into the news columns once more.

This time he was performing no heroic deed. He was merely taking unto himself a wife. And if you find these last statements open to argument we will pass over them quickly.

The newspaper items at this time were not very lengthy, except in the local papers where Bert's past history and the story of his bravery in the face of dangers of the wilderness were again dug up and set forth.

It was pointed out at that time that Bert's fiancee, who had excelled in athletics at high school, was indeed a fitting mate for the modern Tarzan.

The ledy of his heart resided in a small mill town not far from Bert's home, where her father was a foreman in one of the factories. Bert was indeed deeply in love, inasmuch as he consented to accept a job in the factory and settled down to a humdrum life.

For a while all went well. Bert found that working for a living wasn't quite as bad as he had imagined. And in the town where he now lived, there were any number of people who had never heard his first-hand recital of his one notable experience. A condition which, you may be sure, was rectified in short order.

Then it all began to pall upon our hero. After two years of married life he was thoroughly disgusted. He often sat and thought about it, and the longer he thought, the unhappier he became. Doris, his wife, it was plain to see, didn't appreciate him. She didn't seem to realize that he had once been a celebrity.

There were other things, too, that they could not agree upon, and Bert longed to wander far from the small Massachusetts town which had been his home since he married, to roam the world unhampered. One morning he decided to take the initial plunge.

"I guess you and me made a mistake when we got married," he told his wife. "I guess we shouldn't have tried it in the first place. I've made up my mind to go away. There's no use in me hanging around if we can't get along together. After I go you can sue me for divorce if you want to. It's very easy in this state. A woman can always get a divorce when a man deserts her."

Doris laughed disagreeably.

"Nothing doing," she retorted. "If there's any divorce in this family, you're the one that's going to get it. I don't get any money from you now, and I know better than to think I'd ever get any, divorce or no.

"Don't think," she added, "that I'm going to make things as easy for you as all that, my fine boy. If you want a divorce, you can sue for it yourself."

Bert did just that. He sued his wife for divorce. For he wanted no ties left from his old life.

For the third time in his life Bert's name and picture appeared in the newspapers. This was the occasion of his divorce hearing.

He made several charges—and among them was one of extreme cruelty, which has long been a favorite in Massachusetts divorces.

In elaborating on this complaint the superman declared that his wife had always insisted upon leaving the bedroom window open during the night—and that the coldness of the night air had caused him great anguish! . . .

Faversham, Jr. Wins Lead In Film

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, June 8.—Warner Brothers are giving a long term contract to the son of one of the most famous matinee idols of a few years ago. He is Phillip Faversham, son of William Faversham, whose record in the theater needs no recital here.

It was back in college that Phillip first took up acting. Later he became a professional and, several months ago, he was engaged to play the juvenile lead in the Los Angeles production of "Another Language."

From this part, he went to Warners to do a bit in "Captured," a picture now awaiting release. When Warner sales executives previewed this film recently, they singled out young Faversham for high praise.

Then came the contract.

And now to crown his good luck, the youthful actor has been chosen to play opposite Barbara Stanwyck in "Female"—from a bit to a lead in one performance.

And still they come—these anecdotes about the Marx Brothers' fistic protege, Canvasback Cohen.

Several days ago, the Paramount studio asked Zeppo Marx to get the brothers and the fighter together for publicity pictures. Zeppo agreed. They suggested 11 o'clock the following morning.

"Okay," said Zeppo. "No, wait a minute. If he comes at 11, we'll have to feed him. Better make it 1 o'clock."

Negotiations are going on with much secrecy, but a few people know that Connie Bennett is close to signing a contract with the new Twentieth Century Productions. Which means Darryl Zanuck and Joseph M. Schenck. Higher bids from another company may block the deal. But they'll have to be quick.

Had you heard that Hitler's private secretary, Anne Goerling, used to work for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in Culver City? She played Marie Dressler roles in German versions.

Just as soon as the studio gives the final word, Jean Harlow is leaving for the World's Fair (she used to live in Chicago). On her way home, the platinum-haired star will visit her grandmother in Kansas City . . . Greta Garbo has joined the bicycle fad, but she makes no public appearances. Her pedaling is limited to the walks and paths of her estate . . . Wonder why Billy Bakewell ducked out on his party at the Brown Derby the other midnight and went across the street to the Hollywood Place to long distance El Paso? And he talked for 30 minutes.

The funniest picture Fox ever made—they'll tell you—can't be shown in theaters. It's Winnie Sheehan's private reel pieced together from "blow-ups" (missed lines and impromptu comments) on the sets

Did you know: That there's a Beverly Hills business firm called Gary Cooper Ranches, Incorporated? It handles Gary's properties in California, Arizona and Montana.

Film Recipe Lacking

There is absolutely no formula for making a successful motion picture, according to the opinion shared by Louis Gasnier and Max Marcin, co-directors of "Gambling Ship," featuring Cary Grant and Benita Hume.

"Making pictures is unlike the manufacturing business," Gasnier declares. "One can't pour just so much love interest, a prescribed dash of mystery, a goodly measure of laughs, and the standard amount of plot into a mould and be certain that it is going to come out according to expectations.

"After reviewing the experience I have had with screen productions I, for one, can't think of any kind of formula that makes a successful motion picture." Marcin agrees with his co-worker.

Gasnier and Marcin also agree in declaring that there is no such thing as "trend of public taste."

They point out that great storie which were popular 100 years ag still appeal as much as when the were written.

FIRST ACT!

The cue for getting a party under way is the serving of the long, tall drinks. And it's part of a clever hostess' role to be sure that they're made with The Champagne of Ginger Ales. • For Canada Dry comes very close to perfection. It doesn't merely mix . . . it blends! Take the flavor of apple or juniper . . . take a little lemon or lime . . . and fill the glass to the brim with Canada Dry. That's the way to stir things up! • It's a wide world, but there's only one Canada Dry in it. As a partner in a long, tall drink . . . or in a glass all by itself . . . there's a sheer delight in The Champagne of Ginger Ales never found in less royal beverages.

Ways to Win

Many have used the Sun-Telegraph Classified Ads as a stepping stone to success.

Workers who are dissatisfied with present positions, those who feel that careful endeavor and conscientious effort have not led to advancement, should consult the Help Wanted Ads to better their position.

There is always a way to get ahead: write an Employment Want Ad, stating briefly your experience; seek a position where energetic service will result in advancement.

The Sun-Telegraph Ads have helped many.

U. S. DELEGATES UNWELCOMED IN ENGLAND

PLYMOUTH, Eng., June 8.—(INS.)—In marked contrast to the colorful greeting extended the United States delegates to the London naval conference in 1930, virtually no one was on hand today to welcome the American representatives to the world economic conference.

The delegation reached Plymouth aboard the President Roosevelt in brilliant sunshine. But no representatives of the United States embassy, the British foreign office or the municipality of Plymouth were present.

The delegation slipped ashore almost unnoticed save by a small group of British newspapermen and American correspondents.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chairman of the delegation, was immediately subjected to a barrage of questions regarding the foreign debt. The secretary emphasized he had no authorization to discuss the problem.

In answer to a question regarding disarmament, he remarked:

"That's a question for Norman Davis."

Hull called attention to the brilliant sunshine. He said:

"I consider that a happy augury for success at the economic conference."

DOLLAR SLUMP LAID TO REICH

By EDWARD L. DEUSS
International News Service.

LONDON, June 8. — German financial maneuvers are responsible for the fall of the American dollar on the London exchange, according to authoritative financial opinion today.

With the dollar opening at $4.09½ to the pound sterling, hitting a new low since Britain's abandonment of the gold standard, money traders here ascribed the fall to announcement by Dr Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, that he will declare a 100 per cent moratorium today on all forms of payments abroad.

BERLIN, June 8.—(AP.)—A declaration of Reichsbank plans regarding the transfer problem was expected after a cabinet meeting tonight, although bank officials declined to predict what action would be taken.

Some circles said they would not be surprised if a moratorium on all foreign debts were declared, but American bankers here said they believed Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, head of the bank, would announce only a partial debt holiday.

BRITAIN'S PLIGHT WARNING TO U.S.

Shows Why English System Shouldn't Be Imitated

(This is the fifth of a series of six articles by Samuel Crowther, noted author and writer on economic subjects, dealing with the forthcoming London Economic Conference. The sixth article will appear tomorrow.)

By SAMUEL CROWTHER

The position of Great Britain is in reality more critical than that of any other nation at the London conference. An understanding of that position will do much to explain why the British do not share the enthusiastic hope that the conference will set the world to rights forthwith.

And also her position may be taken as a warning to those who would have us abandon the American economic system in order to found a new one on the British model.

Everyone knows that a nation which engages in foreign trade must in some way balance buying with selling. If a nation sells more than she buys, she can take the difference in securities, and, if these turn out to be good, an investment income will be built up. If she buys more than she sells, the difference will have to be made up out of savings. When these are exhausted, the nation will go broke.

England in the last century, having a clear manufacturing supremacy, adopted free trade—which meant that she abandoned her farm communities to their fate and deliberately set out to buy food more cheaply from abroad than it could be raised at home and turned the whole country to manufacturing goods to be sold abroad.

Since a record is kept of all incoming and outgoing cargoes, the compilation of exact figures on goods exports and imports is easy.

From these it has appeared for some years that Britain bought more than she sold. This is known as having an "unfavorable" trade balance. But it has always been explained that the British shipping, insurance and other service charges, coupled with the interest payments from the large investments in foreign lands—which are called invisible exports—more than made up the difference between the income and the outgo of goods.

Trade Balance

It is one of the favorite assertions of our economists, and all those who believe that the tariffs of the United States should be broken down to admit more foreign goods, that a creditor nation must always have an excess of goods imports over exports, in order to receive interest and other payments from abroad.

England is cited as an example of the proper conduct for a creditor nation. We are told that we must either take more imports or make more loans.

Although the imports and exports of goods are carefully tabulated by all nations, the exports and imports of money are not tabulated—gold figures as a commodity.

Our Department of Commerce began, during the period when Mr. Hoover was secretary, to make up a balance sheet showing each year what we paid to the world and what the world paid to us.

The money items on these sheets are collected by questionnaires and not from records. There are no records. An analysis of the figures shows that the position of the united States, in view of the breakdown of so many of the foreign bond issues placed here, is not nearly so secure as was imagined. What has happened to England can be taken as a warning of what may happen to us.

The British for years have believed implicitly that their invisible exports more than made up the difference between their imports and exports of goods.

British Jobless

But it will be remembered that permanent unemployment began to appear in England before the war. This was put down to many causes.

The MacMillan committee, appointed to investigate the state of trade and finance, in 1931 brought in a report which for the first time questioned the tradition of financial security.

They went into the methods by which the Board of Trade got up its annual balance sheet on international trade and found that, instead of these items being compiled from records, they were made up by what the committee called "pure guess-work"; that the margin of error might be very wide and the invisible exports not nearly so large as imagined, and that the nation might be buying more than it sold and therefore gradually dispersing its savings.

The committee reported:

"In the case of nations, as in the case of individuals, no financial system, however devised, can work miracles, nor can it cope with all the problems which may be presented to it by an unsound national policy, whether internal or external. The financier is not to blame if the politician sets him problems which no financial expedients can solve.

"If our budgetary position is unsound, and if our industries, owing to the level of their costs, or for other reasons, are unable successfully to compete, as they used to do, in the markets of the world, no management of the terms and quantity of credit will be able to maintain our national prosperity."

Their report spurred the London Economist to examine the sources of the Board of Trade figures on which national policies were based. The result was an editorial in which occur such phrases as "jungle of imponderable uncertainties," "incredibly haphazard," "prolongation of a rather crude and precarious computation, made years ago," and "an incrustation of many years' guesswork grown over an antiquated private estimate."

The Economist proceeded to make up some new estimates of the balance of payments, but with the warning that the data was "flimsy" and "the margins of error wide."

There is no doubt now that Britain during 1931 and 1932 had an outgo exceeding income. The only doubt concerns how long this has been going on.

Debt Payments

There are some who believe that England has been living on its hump for half a century, and informed British financiers readily admit, except for publication, that the British payments on the American war debt were of trivial importance in the events leading up to the abandoning of the gold standard.

British finances, it is revealed, have been precarious for many years, and, unless a method be found by which more will be sold or less will be bought, the nation will have to go into complete repudiation and arrange its affairs to exist as a minor power.

That is why the British free trade policy has been scrapped.

In order to cut down the purchases of food from abroad—which is the biggest item—England has turned to its neglected farms and is offering bounties as well as protection.

In order to promote more sales overseas, the Prince of Wales has put in most of his time as a road salesman.

The agreements concluded at Ottawa for preferential arrangements with the colonies, and the agreement recently arrived at with Argentina are direct results of the prince's pilgrimages.

The British delegates at London, headed by Neville Chamberlain, are the hardest-headed and most extreme of the British protectionists. It is a matter of great satisfaction and some amusement abroad that the United States, already in control of half the world's market, should be represented by a group of free traders.

No one abroad even dared to hope for anything like that.

DEADLY RADIUM LOOT HUNTED

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—(AP.)—Three experts, each carrying radium-detecting instruments, today continued to stalk the offices and corridors of a mid-city office building figuratively hunting for needles in a haystack.

They are looking for radium in six small needles, stolen Friday from the offices of Dr. William L. Clark, a cancer specialist.

If the wrappings are removed, experts said the tiny needles might bring death to anyone exposed to them for any length of time. The needles are valued at $6,000.

Bolt Hits 'Big Top,' 4,000 in Scramble

YORK, Pa., June 8.—(AP.)—A matinee circus audience of 4,000 persons got an unexpected thrill yesterday as a terrific storm hit the "big top," tearing out some sustaining poles and ripping the canvas.

Excitement reigned for a time as the crowd scrambled for the exits.

TRAFFORD BANK SUIT VOIDED

Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker yesterday dismissed a suit brought by John H. Feathers, receiver of the First National Bank of Trafford, against the Barclay-Westmoreland Trust Company, of Greensburg and the Trafford School Board to recover securities valued at $46,256.27.

The securities had been deposited in the Greensburg bank to secure the school district's deposits.

The First National, which suspended business February 2, 1932, posted the securities September 28, 1931. The stipulation was that the assignment not be recorded until the First National was unable to make payments on the school district's account.

The receiver sought recovery on the ground that the assignment was not recorded until the First National became insolvent.

-"spring fever" may not put you in bed

but if you feel

listless, tired, run-down, appetite dull, with a weak let-down feeling — perhaps nervous and worn out — why not "snap out" of this condition? Tone up your appetite, increase those red-blood-cells, and get in step with those who put zip and pep into everything they do — the best way to be happy and cheerful.

Colds, the "flu," or other illness, and poisons accumulated during the winter months, often diminish the number of red-blood-cells which are so vital in maintaining vigor, strength, and a clear skin.

There is a good old medicine, S.S.S.—tested both by time and by scientific research, which in addition to being a valuable general tonic, has been found to be remarkably efficient in restoring to the blood the normal amount of red-blood-cells and their hemo-glo-bin.

if you suspect

an organic disease, consult a physician. S.S.S. is not a "cure-all" BUT for that tired, worn-out, let-down feeling — "spring fever" just try S.S.S. and see how you awake after a night's sound sleep feeling fresh and fine, — and see how you eat with restored appetite.

Instead of slowing down in the early afternoon, you should possess ample energy to carry on thru the day and evening hours. Begin taking S.S.S. at once and build the new energy that you need. Ask anyone who has tried it.

do not have a rosy road in the winter — coughs, colds and children diseases — in and out of school — bravely fighting along with a wonderful spirit notwithstanding lost weight and strength. Loving care and nourishment do much, but if parents could only realize what a boost that good old-fashioned tonic, S.S.S. usually gives in such cases, they would not delay a single day in starting them back to robust health. Full directions on every bottle. If you have never used S.S.S. you should try it.

as a word of caution

to the millions who know S. S. S. and its benefits from personal experiences, we suggest that you do not permit anyone to switch you to any of the hundreds of "just as good as S. S. S." substitutes. For generations S. S. S. has been building sturdy health. Why experiment? Remember that successful products are always imitated, but it seldom pays to buy imitations—insist upon S.S.S.

S. S. S. is a particularly valuable tonic in the Spring of the year. It is liquid of course . . . never sold in tablet form. All good drug stores throughout the land can supply you. The larger size is more economical because it contains double the quantity at an appreciable saving. Start taking S. S. S. today. © The S. S. S. Co.

"I wonder WHY this soap actually makes my skin younger-looking?"
"I don't know why... but we've all been using it for years because it does..."

Here's WHY, Miss Bennett! SCIENTISTS now Explain...

"Nature puts certain precious elements into every type of skin to keep it smooth and young. But these elements are gradually lost with the years; then skin grows dull, rough, old-looking.

"This beauty soap," scientists go on to say, "actually contains precious elements skin itself has and must have, to stay youthful. It checks the loss of these precious elements."

JOAN BENNETT

Lovely Fox star. Scientists now tell her why this soap is such a wonderful aid in keeping her skin young-looking.

This soap contains precious elements Nature puts in skin itself

THINK OF IT! Scientists find this beauty soap actually contains precious elements skin itself has—and must have to stay youthful!

Here's news of vital importance to every woman who ever has said to herself: "I wish I could keep my skin radiant, smooth, YOUNG-LOOKING."

The Secret of Youthful Skin

Nature, you know, puts certain precious elements in every type of skin. These elements are present in abundance in youthful skin, keeping it radiantly smooth and young-looking. But as the years go by, these elements are gradually lost, making skin rough . . . dry . . . old-looking.

But here is good news: Scientists now say, you can check the loss of these precious elements!

Scientists attest the fact that Lux Toilet Soap, with its complete freedom from harshness, its ready solubility, and its content of precious elements, is an unquestionable aid in keeping skin smooth . . . young-looking.

No wonder screen stars, whose complexions must always be at the peak of perfection, are so devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. 686 out of the 694 important Hollywood actresses use it. And it's the official soap in all the big film studios.

A Lovelier YOU

Hollywood has found, through years of experience, that this fragrant, white soap actually keeps skin younger-looking. Millions of men and women everywhere are proving it to their own satisfaction every day.

Why don't you let this scientific care keep your skin exquisitely young-looking? Get two or three cakes of Lux Toilet Soap—start today to use it regularly and watch your skin grow lovelier.

For EVERY Type of Skin

SCHMELING SEEN AS PROBABLE WINNER

Jack Dempsey

THE APPROACH OF the hour set for Jack Dempsey's Battle of the Maxes finds no new development to warrant any change in the original opinion that Schmeling probably will defeat Baer. As a matter of fact, the passing days have served to strengthen that belief. For those interested in the success of the show have devoted the ballyhoo almost entirely to boosting Baer and making him look good, seemingly a confession that in their eyes he did not measure up to Schmeling's standards and had to be given an artificial build-up to make the thing, for gate purposes, resemble an even match.

To the average ring follower that's a tip-off that even the men behind the show do not consider Baer to be Schmeling's equal. Possibly the outcome of tonight's fight may prove that Baer, aside from the box office angle, did not need that boosting. The Californian's physical equipment is ideal. He is taller, heavier, stronger and younger than Schmeling. He is as tough as rawhide, able to go a route, carries a terrific punch and can take it to a fare-the-well. He never has been knocked down. But in spite of all those advantages, he does not look equal to Schmeling as a fighting machine. Even though said to be taking the game more seriously than he did a year or so back, Baer has not fought enough good men to learn as much about fighting as his opponent knows.

The German is not spectacular, but of the plodding type that keeps on plugging away until he gets there. He is faster than Baer, a better boxer, a shorter, quicker hitter, equal to him in ruggedness and stamina, has the best short right-hand punch in the heavyweight class, and above all has in his favor, the biggest of items, greater experience.

As a tough, willing mixer who has size and uncommon punching power, Baer must be conceded a chance, and he is likely to make the going smoke at times, but in all-around Queensberry equipment, Schmeling appears to have the edge, and the German shapes up as the probable winner, possibly not by a knockout but at least by a clearly earned decision with the bout going the 15-round limit.

THE PIRATES' SERIES in Chicago brought only further disaster, three defeats in a row after the capture of the opener, and failed to produce any sign of an ending to the slump in which they lost seven of their last eight games and 12 of their last 18 up to today. The pitchers continued to stagger and the hitters still were unable to deliver when the bases were occupied. In the last two games 23 runners were left stranded on the sacks.

Today found the Bucs only half a game above fourth place. But that isn't as bad as it sounds, for they were also only two and a half games from first place, and they ought to make speedy upward progress again as soon as the slump has passed. Perhaps the three-game series with the Reds here, starting today, with the enthusiasm of Wagner Day tomorrow, will enable the club to get its feet under it again. A right attitude on the part of the fans will be of much assistance. It's at a time like the present that the Pirates need encouragement, not when they're winning. It's now that loyal support will count for most. Turn out and help 'em along.

THE ABSENCE OF old Opportune Hit from the Pirate attack, leaving enough runs on the bases almost daily to win an average game, has prompted a number of suggestions looking to a possible remedy. The latest comes from "A Fan," who writes:

"What the Pirates need at this time is Good Ole Dave Barbee to punch in a few runs as he did last year. I think he would be a great improvement on some of the present players as a pinch-hitter."

THE VAST DIFFERENCE between a thrower and a pitcher, or between even the brightest star in the college ranks and a finished performer in the majors, is illustrated by the case of Owen Carroll, who has just come into his own with the Dodgers after several big league failures. And no one has been more impressed by the difference than Carroll himself. Eight years have elapsed

Straight Heat Wins Mark Oval Races

Four straight heat victories were scored at the first weekly program of harness races staged by the Schenley Matinee Club at Schenley Oval yesterday afternoon.

In the only split-heat triumph, Patricia Dean, with Wright in the sulky, won the fourth race, a trotting event, taking the second and third heats after finishing fourth in the first.

Other races were won by Little Abbey, David Dodge, Great Atlantic, in the free-for-all trot, and Rena Direct.

PIRATE LINEUP SHAKEN UP BY PILOT GIBSON

A hint of new faces in the Pirate lineup was thrown out today as a result of the poor showing of the Buccos since Memorial Day. Manager George Gibson, arriving with his club from Chicago where the Pirates dropped three out of four battles to the Cubs, plainly showed his disappointment at the recent performances of his team. Gibby made another change in his batting order for today and his manner indicated there would be something more drastic forthcoming unless the team begins to win ball games.

The Cubs jumped on Bill Swift in the second inning of yesterday's contest in Chicago. Swift was shelled off the mound under a four-run drive. Remy Kremer went to his rescue and pitched fine ball for several innings. Kremer blanked the Bruins until the fifth when a couple of bad breaks placed him in a jam and the Cubs scored three more tallies. Hoyt and Harris finished and Comorosky had batted for Kremer. The score of the Cubs' victory was 7-2. The Pirate fielding was loose again.

Guy Bush pitched a masterly game against the Pirates. He was reached for a single tally in the second and then twirled shutout ball until the eighth when the Buccos made their last run.

Schmeling Rules Betting Favorite

NEW YORK, June 8.—(INS.)—The betting facts on tonight's fight between the Mauling Maxies—Baer, the California Jew, and Schmeling, the Hamburg German—are:

1. The odds against Baer are 2 to 1; against Schmeling, 2 to 5.
2. The odds against Baer scoring a kayo have dropped from 6 to 1 to 3 to 1, with most of the wagering being done on this basis.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE KING OF BEASTS—The huge, fierce black Buffalo of the Cape (Bos Caffer) is the true King of the Beasts. Its scent is keener, and its sight far better, than those of either the lion or the elephant. Its strength is incomparably more enormous and when turning to bay it is vastly more ferocious and dangerous than the lion. The largest lion will not tackle an adult buffalo bull. Hunters consider the buffalo vastly more formidable and dangerous than lion, leopard or elephant. A CARRION FLOWER—Stapelia Nobilis, of South Africa, named after the Dutch physician Van Stapel, belongs to the carrion flowers, characterized by a fetid odor. Bees will not alight on it, but the odor of decaying flesh attracts Green Bottle Flies, which deposit their eggs within. The eggs are consumed by the flower, being absorbed through little glands into the plant.

His will, filed for probate by the County Trust Company of White Plains, indicated the value of the estate left by the former state athletic commissioner was undetermined. A trust fund of $7,000 was set up for the White Plains Hospital and the St. Agnes Hospital of White Plains to share in equal amounts of the income after certain payments.

Germans Promise Olympic Equality

VIENNA, June 8.—(AP.)—With assurance from Germany that Jews would not be discriminated against in Olympic competition, the International Olympic Committee unanimously has approved award of the 1936 games to Berlin.

BRITONS N[illegible] TEAM

LONDON, June 8.—(INS.)—The British Ryder Cup golf team named to meet the invading Americans at Southport, June 26, includes five newcomers—Percy Alliss, Alan Dailey, Arthur Lacey, A. H. Padgham and George Perry. The other three—Abe Mitchell, W. H. Davies and Charles Whitcombe—have represented Britain in the International matches in past years.

65,000 CROWD EXPECTED TO VIEW FIGHT

mission, who expressed his admiration of the Westerner's magnificent physique.

Dr. Joseph M. Sheridan examined Baer and pronounced his condition "superb." He said:

"He is a perfect physical specimen. His poise is wonderful. His heart is 64, which is normal. His blood pressure, 122, is perfect."

Schmeling appeared at the commission offices at 1:05 E. S. T. and almost immediately stepped on the scales to send the bar to 189¼ pounds, within three-quarters of a pound of the weight he had said he would carry into the ring. He thus will give Baer an advantage of 13¾ pounds.

Schmeling had not appeared when Baer was weighed and examined. He left his camp in New Jersey this morning to come to the city by automobile and was delayed.

BAER SLEEPS WELL

Baer left after the weighing for a private home, where he will remain in seclusion until the time arrives for his start to the Stadium. He said he expected to eat a big meal, which would put his ring-time weight up around 207 or 208. He said he slept 11 hours last night and was "feeling great."

In his corner tonight will be his manager, Ancil Hoffman; his trainer, Mike Cantwell, and Whitey Morris, bucket, etc.

Indications were that Jack Dempsey's big spectacle would draw a crowd of 65,000 inside the Stadium portals tonight. The weather was ideal, and a gate of $250,000 was forecast. In the event of a last-minute rush, it may even hit $350,000, with a capacity crowd of 80,000.

NO BROADCAST

Dempsey plans to start the main go promptly at 10 p. m., Pittsburgh time. The fight will not be broadcast by radio.

Betting odds today had widened to 2 to 1, and in a few cases of 2½ to 1, with Schmeling the favorite.

WAGNER DAY PLANS SET

A parade which in size and appeal will rival any previous pageant in Pittsburgh today was assured for "Honus Wagner Day" to be observed in the city tomorrow. Almost 800 motor vehicles, including several fire trucks and a number of floats, will be in the line of march, which starts at noon from Stockton avenue, North Side, and proceeds to Forbes Field by way of Federal street, Liberty avenue and Fifth avenue.

D. P. Force, chairman of the parade committee, today stated that the pageant alone would be a headline affair if the weather is fitting. The active grand marshal of the parade is Lieut. Col. George H. Cherrington, of the 308th Cavalry. The Hon. John K. Tener, ex-Governor of Pennsylvania, one-time president of the National League and a former major league slab star, is the honorary grand marshall.

A curtailed game between two clubs made up of old-timers is expected to be a high spot of the ceremonies at Forbes Field. The Cincinnati Reds will be the Pirates' opponent in the scheduled game of the day. Athletic events also are on the program.

NORTH SHORE GOLF CLUB, GLENVIEW, Ill., June 8.—(AP.)—A "dark horse," Neil White, Los Angeles amateur, sprang a surprise by shooting 36-37—73, only one over par, to take a temporary lead in the first round of the national open golf championship here today.

Charley Mayo, Long Beach, L. I., was second with 35-39—74.

Johnny Farrell, former champion, finished a few minutes later with a 36-39—75, three over par, to go into a tie with Mortie Dutra for third position.

Playing raggedly, especially off the tees, Gene Sarazen, of New York, the defending titleholder, shot a 38, two over par, for the first nine holes.

SARAZEN OFF GAME

The champion, usually deadly accurate with his woods, pushed half his tee shots into the rough and was saved from going into the forties on the outward nine only because of some exceptional recoveries from the deep grass.

Half the early gallery of 1,500 spectators followed Sarazen and his partner, Wiffy Cox, of Brooklyn, while most of the others pursued Walter Hagen and Olin Dutra, who had 36 and 37, respectively, for the first nine. Hagen's birdie 3 on the ninth enabled him to be level with par.

CADDIE INJURED

While practicing, Harold McSpaden, of Bethel, Kan., hit a caddie just below the eye with a tee shot. The youngster escaped serious injury, but was painfully bruised. He insisted on carrying the clubs of John Rodgers, of Denver, McSpaden's partner.

The temperature was in the nineties again by noon, but a breeze made the heat more bearable than yesterday's record scorcher.

Phil Perkins, of Cleveland, the former British amateur champion and 1932 runner-up in the American Open, was out in 38 and having trouble in finding the narrow fairways.

Tom Creavy, of Albany, former National P. G. A. champion, played steadily to the turn in 37. He was playing with Ralph Beach, of Pikesville, Md., who capitalized brilliant iron play to post a 35, one under par.

Denny Shute, of Philadelphia, one of the Ryder Cup favorites, shot six straight 4s and was even with par.

PARKS WITHDRAWS

Sam Parks, Jr., of Pittsburgh, who injured his back in an auto accident on Tuesday, was forced to withdraw. Parks paced the Pittsburgh delegation in the qualifying test.

The scores for the first 18-hole round:

since Owen graduated from Holy Cross with the reputation of being the best college hurler ever developed, yet he frankly admits that he has only begun to learn how to pitch. He says he realizes now that when he was considered a great flinger he didn't know a thing about the fine art of pitching. He had to acquire not only control and a change of pace, but also the indefinable asset, which he calls a sixth sense, needed to become a really great pitcher. Carroll figures that in a shorter time he could have learned almost any other profession or business.

Owen Carroll

"IT'S A SIXTH sense that goes with pitching and teaches you instinctively how to use your skill," Owen says. "I have made an intensive study of pitching during my eight years in professional baseball. If I had devoted that attention to another profession, probably I'd be a skillful surgeon, a finished lawyer, or a successful business executive by now.

"But I have just started to become a good pitcher. In five or six years more I really shall have mastered the pitching art, just about the time that my arm starts wearing out." Recently Al Mamaux made a similar admission—that he did not really learn how to pitch until he had thrown away his arm trying to overpower the batters instead of finessing them. And Mamaux bore out his assertion only a week ago, when, supposedly no longer having an arm, he shut out the Yankees at Newark after they had gone through 249 straight American League games without being blanked.

IT WASN'T ALTOGETHER Carroll's fault that it took him eight years to find a winning groove. He was started off unwisely as soon as he had reported to the Tigers. The Red Sox were drawing poorly in Boston and they asked Ty Cobb to bolster the gate by starting Carroll. Cobb made the mistake of consenting, with the result that the Red Sox pounded Owen all over the park, ruined his confidence and checked his major league career for several seasons.

Note how different were Fred Clarke's methods. Pittsburghers were wild to see Marty O'Toole in action when Marty joined the Pirates in 1911 as the most widely advertised pitcher in the country. An announcement that O'Toole was to pitch would have meant a huge gate. Clarke said he would start Marty only when he found him ready. He carried the youngster through a whole Eastern trip, and then started him away from home on the last day of the tour at Boston on August 30. And O'Toole won a five-hit game, 6 to 4.

EVEN WHEN STARS are competing, golf matches sometimes are decided by strange flukes, as witness a meeting of Rex Hartley and Eric Fiddian, here with the British Walker Cup team last year, in the recent English amateur championship, which is not to be confused with the British amateur championship. "It was a great and glorious struggle," Bernard Darwin reports in the London Sportsman. "At the twentieth hole, Hartley had two for hole and match, and his ball, at the very most, was only four feet from the hole. He walked up to his shot half nervously, and, I suppose, half carelessly, and in some incredible way managed to keep his own ball out of the hole and knock his enemy's into it. Of course, after that, there could be but one end, and Fiddian won at the twenty-first."

IT STRIKES OBSERVERS around the National League professional football circuit that Greater New York will have plenty of Michigan quarterbacking next season, with Benny Friedman operating in Brooklyn and Harry Newman signed to play for the New York Giants.

And that opens the way for an interesting sidelight in the form of a duel between teacher and pupil. For Friedman is the man who taught Newman much of his stuff after Harry became a successor to Benny at Michigan, and when the Brooklyn and New York teams clash next season the two famous quarterbacks will meet as rivals.

CALIFORNIANS ARE GIVING their victory a slightly incorrect term in boasting that in the recent I. C. 4-A meet their athletes maintained their superiority over the East in "track." That was not quite the case. In "track and field," yes, but not in track alone.

Gene Sarazen

In fact, the track advantage was just the other way. The Californians won the high and low hurdles and Jimmy LuValle won the 400 meters, but of the six straight speed events on the flat, Eastern runners bagged exactly five.

THE FIRST OF the year's major golf tournament will hold the stage today, tomorrow and Saturday while the United States open is being fought out on the course of the North Shore Golf Club at Glenview, Ill. It was thought that one-man domination of American golf had ended with the retirement of Bobby Jones, but here we find Gene Sarazen occupying almost the same position that Jones used to hold. Many of the experts say he can't lose. Others will take no longer a chance against him than to predict that the man who beats his score will win the title. Admittedly Sarazen, who won both the United States and British open tourneys last year, shapes up as the class of the field, but golf is an uncertain game, and Gene will hardly enjoy a cakewalk at Glenview if he does win. There are several other former champions among the starters, including Walter Hagen, Johnny Farrell, Tommy Armour, Cyril Walker and Billy Burke, besides Olin Dutra, Macdonald Smith, Joe Kirkwood and additional players, who must be considered dangerous. One or more of them may make plenty of trouble for Sarazen before the tournament is over. It will be recalled that Sarazen also was considered a sure winner of the P. G. A. last year, and yet he didn't even qualify. You can't always tell about golf.

JONES EXPECTS CLOSE BATTLE IN OPEN

By BOBBY JONES

(Only Golfer to Win Both American and British Open and Amateur Championships.)

NORTH SHORE COUNTRY CLUB, GLENVIEW, Ill., June 8.—After having a go at the North Shore course, scene of the National Open golf championship, one thing stands out with great emphasis: this being that it is not a "slugger's paradise" as earlier reports described it. There is plenty of length with a number of holes around 420, 430 and 440 yards, which may call for good iron seconds, but the fairways are narrow and the rough is severe.

The course is very well balanced, so far as length is concerned and the design is good. There are no weak holes, and few that are uninteresting. I particularly like the long holes here, of the par 5 variety.

TWO GOOD SHOTS

Assuming no advantage or disadvantage from wind, on each of the long holes two fine shots will get home, or so nearly home that they will earn a definite reward. The player who can put two really good shots together will be bound to gain on the man who half misses either one.

All the conversation is about who will win and what score will win. The score is easier to guess at than the player, because there is not likely to be a great margin here. My guess is that someone will do about 292 for the four rounds, and that no one is likely to do much better. But a sudden change of conditions could alter this estimate by several strokes.

FAVORS SARAZEN

As to who will win, one could select anyone of 15 or 16 competitors and have a fair chance of being right. Sarazen, defending champion, deserves to be awarded a slight edge, even considering the difficulty of winning twice in succession. He has the game, the stamnia and the determination to win.

Close behind Sarazen, there are a number who should do almost equally well. Paul Runyan, Denny Shute, Craig Wood, Olin Dutra, Tommy Armour, Ed Dudley, Mac Smith. These are just a few of the illustrious names, all belonging to fine golfers which one finds on the list of competitors. And while one does not actually expect an amateur victory, it would not be surprising to see one of them come out in front. Johnny Goodman, Johnny Fischer, Maurice McCarthy and Lester Bolstad are good enough to figure in any tournament.

Dundee, Goosby Await Bell for Battle

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

When Joe Humphries, the veteran announcer, steps to the center of the ring and hushes the crowd to introduce Max Schmeling and Max Baer for their heavyweight bout in the Yankee Stadium, New York, tonight, Harry Klaas, local announcer, will be shrilling in the Arena, on the North Side:

Frankie Goosby

Vince Dundee

"In this corner—Frankie Goosby, of Pittsburgh—

"And in this corner, Vince Dundee, uncrowned middleweight champion of the world!"

And the battle will be under way.

Returns of the New York fight will be announced as received at the Arena. There will be no radio broadcast of the heavyweight battle.

YEAR'S BIGGEST BOUT

The Goosby-Dundee match is the biggest of the year here so far. Goosby remains undefeated in more than 80 bouts and is supremely confident that he will be returned the winner against Dundee and will take the hurdle in one leap to big matches in New York and elsewhere.

It is a meeting between a tricky veteran and a polished youngster who boasts both boxing cleverness and a punch. Goosby's manager, Cherokee Tom Cox, says this will be the first time in months that Goosby will enter a ring with two good hands, and he will be staking his entire future on the outcome.

Frankie is gambling for prestige, as Dundee figures to get all, or nearly all, of the money. Dundee is receiving a guarantee of $1,250, while Goosby will draw down only $75 for training expenses unless the gate goes over $2,170, the club's "nut" for the show, when he will participate in 50 per cent of any excess. The Arena looks for the first sellout in its history. The show will get under way promptly at 8:45 o'clock.

FOUR PRELIMINARIES

Four five-round preliminaries will set the stage for the attractive main bout, as follows:

Anson Green, of Homestead, vs. Fritz Heinz, of Detroit, middleweights.

Red Bruce, of the Hill, vs. Tommy Glenn, of Dayton, O., substituting for Max O'Connor, of Detroit, middleweights.

Joey Bazzone, of McKeesport, vs. Max Elling, of the Hill, lightweights.

Harry Jacobi, of Newark, N. J., vs. Bill Nitchy, of the North Side, middleweights.

Between Rounds

Tonight's show will be the last of the season at the Arena, the management having merged with the North Braddock Bowl for its future hot weather engagements.

Vince Dundee arrived yesterday and worked out at the Pittsburgh Lyceum to put the finishing touches on his training for the Goosby fight. Last night he appeared with his manager, Max Maxman, as guests of the Trained Seals of the Sports Department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph during their weekly radio program over WCAE.

Eddie Simms and Otto Von Porat will box one of the 10-round bouts on the Johnny Risko-Patsy Perroni card at the Cleveland Stadium, June 15, with Ted Yarosz and Sammy Slaughter in another 10-rounder, flanked by a good set of preliminaries.

This column likes Max Schmeling in his shindy with Max Baer tonight.

The Tommy Freeman-Alabama Kid windup at Hickey Park next Monday night has caught on well with the fans, as attested by a host of advance orders for ringside seats.

Reed Brown had two winners at Hickey Park last Monday night when his Tony Marino defeated Johnny Perrini, of Buffalo, in 10 rounds and Shorty Washko knocked out Teddy Mancuso.

Say what you will, but Sammy Paris always gives the fans a fight, even in defeat. He is probably the best club fighter in Pittsburgh. If some of the other fighters had his aggressive spirit they would go a long way.

Heine Blaustein, trainer for Vince Dundee, who has seen both Baer and Schmeling work out in their training camps, picks Schmeling to win. He says Baer is just a swinger and Max will step inside the swings and punch the daylights out of him. He wouldn't be surprised to see Schmeling win by a knockout.

Ray Holden, Young Smith and Paul O'Brien, of Franklin; Billy Clark, of New Castle; Wilbert Meyers and John Grudada, of Greenville; Joe Orlando, Leo Stelecki and John Faracenea, of Meadville, and Al Bandy, William Horn, Steve Smith and Ben Toboz, of Homestead, all have been suspended by the A. A. U. for appearing in unsanctioned bouts.

Luke Carney has been appointed booking manager by Jimmy Johnston, Jr., of New York, for Baby Joe Gans and Lew Farber, and would like to match Gans with Ted Yarosz here and Farber with Jackie Wilson, Mose Butch or Jimmy Thomas.

Tiger Roy Smith, of Rochester, N. Y., who boxes Anson Green in one of the two eight-round bouts at Hickey Park Monday night, has boxed Sergt. Sammy Baker, Bucky Lawless, Eddie Ran and others of reputation. He is being handled by Jim Buchanan.

PAUL BOUT POSTPONED

BUFFALO, June 8.—(AP.)—The 10-round bout between Tommy Paul, former N. B. A. featherweight champion and Seaman Watson, British champion, scheduled for tomorrow night, was postponed today because of an eye injury suffered by Paul in a bout with Jackie Wilson in Pittsburgh last Monday.

JEWEL ENS SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, June 8.—(INS.)—Jewel Ens, acting manager of the Cincinnati Reds, has been suspended indefinitely by President John Heydler, of the National League, because of his part in the fight between the Reds and St. Louis Cardinals at Cincinnati Tuesday.

ANSWER TO QUERY

G. C.—Man who bet Tommy Paul won every round from Jackie Wilson last Monday loses. Wilson officially won eighth round, in which fight was stopped and given to him on a technical knockout.

HONUS ON AIR

Honus Wagner, Mayor John S. Herron and Dick Guy, veteran sports scribe, will swap baseball stories with Tony Wakeman over KDKA at 11:02 tonight, as a prelude to Honus Wagner day tomorrow.

PROFIT-TAKING HALTS STOCK UPRUSH

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP.)—Bulls stormed through the stock market in the early trading today, but met increasing resistance from profit-takers and many forenoon gains of 1 to 3 points were reduced or canceled. Volume was around its peak for the movement.

Associated with the morning rise was further weakness of the American dollar in foreign exchange markets, fresh murmurings of inflation and the continued improvement in nearly all lines of trade. Commodities moved rather uncertainly. Wheat was a trifle higher while corn and cotton eased slightly. Bar silver improved and copper maintained its recent steady tone. Bonds were a bit irregular.

Mining and metal shares were again favorites, although a number of industrials came in for heavy trading. Rails were somewhat heavy throughout.

While warnings of a substantial "corrective reaction" were heard in some brokerage circles, the more ardent operators pointed out that these forebodings had been circulating for a week or more and had already resulted in a huge amount of profit-taking. In line with this reasoning, it was argued that the corrective movemen had been under way right along and has been overlooked by "sold out bulls."

Banking circles are interested at the moment in rumors that the administration is considering the establishment of an open gold market here similar to the one in England. Strength of mining shares, which would stand to benefit through heavy premiums on the precious metal in such a "free gold" market, has been attributed partly to these reports. At the same time, it is pointed out, the government would have to pay the premiums demanded and thus far the administration has not indicated it would relish such an outlay.

Further confirmation of business and industrial recovery was contained in the General Motors report of sales to consumers in the United States during May. These totaled 85,969 units, against 71,599 in April and 63,500 in May last year. Forecasts of United States Steel's unfilled orders as of May 31, which will be made public Saturday, estimate that a fair-sized increase, the second since last October, will be shown.

WHEAT TAKES NEW UPTURN

CHICAGO, June 8.—Reports of dust storms in the southwest led to early upturns of wheat prices today, unfavorable crop news from Spring wheat territory northwest was also a stimulus to buyers.

Opening ⅛-⅜ higher, wheat afterward held near the initial range. Corn started ¼ lower to a shade advance, and subsequently declined all around.

Later setbacks in wheat values more than wiped out gains. Corn displayed a weak undertone as a result of lack of aggressive support and because of liberal receipts here.

New high price records for the season were reached by oats, a consequence of crop damage reports from Illinois and Iowa.

STOCKS OF ZINC HIGHER

United States zinc stocks at the end of May totaled 136,634 short tons against 142,447 tons at the end of April and 132,575 at the end of May, 1932, according to the American Zinc Institute. Production in May was 21,730 tons, compared with 21,449 in April and 18,605 in May, 1932. Shipments in May came to 27,543 tons, against 19,381 in April and 18,050 in May, 1932.

ALLIED CHEMICAL

Solvay Process Company, subsidiary of Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation, is shipping large quantities of soda ash to the Hopewell (Va.) nitrogen plant by the all-water route, and also making heavy shipments of soda ash and other products to various points by rail. Operations at the Solvay Process plant have been stepped up considerably in the last two weeks.

LOCAL MARKET CONTINUES STRONG

Further progress on the rise was recorded on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today with prices showing moderate gains in response to continued steady buying. The strength here reflected the further response of prices on the "big board" to the weakened United States dollar, which slumped to new low levels in the exchange market. Trading here was on a broad scale, carrying through on yesterday's movement which rolled up the largest turnover of local stocks in several years.

Practically all of the leading fuels and industrials bettered last night's closing prices as the session started out. Several issues automatically registered new tops for the year. Standard Steel Spring, which had not appeared in the sales list for several weeks, sold at $10, exactly 100 per cent over the last previous transaction, recorded in April.

COTTON PRICES RULE STEADY

NEW YORK, June 8.—Cotton futures opened steady, 1 lower to 2 higher on July liquidation and hedge selling offset by commission house buying. July 9:10; October 9.40; December 9.55; January 9.63; March 9.77; May 9.92.

Selling was encouraged by a favorable view of the weather news and there was some selling here through brokers with Japanese connections as well as hedging and liquidation.

The offerings were absorbed by local and commission house buying, and after selling off to 9.10, July rallied to 9.18, while December sold up from 9.55 to 9.61, making net advances of about 3 to 6 points.

Demand tapered off after the early buying had its course and prices reacted later in the morning under realizing or liquidation promoted by favorable weather conditions and absence of definite news from Washington with reference to acreage control measures. July contracts sold off from 9.18 to 9.06 and December from 9.61 to 9.46, making net declines of about 7 to 9 points, but a little more buying developed below the 9½ cent level for December and prices showed rallies of 3 to 4 points from the lowest at midday.

LIVERPOOL, June 8.—Cotton, 22,000 bales, including 11,300 American. Spot, small business done; prices 14 points lower; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 6.87; good middling, 6.57; strict middling, 6.27; middling, 6.12; strict low middling, 5.97; low middling, 5.77; strict low ordinary, 5.57; good ordinary, 5.27; futures closed barely steady. July, 5.84; October, 5.38; December, 5.85; January, 5.86; March, 5.90; May, 5.93.

MANY SELLING TO CASH IN ON MARKET RISE

By LEWIS HANEY
Professor of Economics, New York University.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The stock market has again developed into a tremendous churning affair, with volume running well over a million shares per hour, and little progress in the averages, despite wide moves in various groups.

Many forces can be seen. Big operators are working in various special issues. Floor traders, and the financial interests which more or less plan the general market strategy, are swinging from one group to another, giving each a whirl.

Little traders all over the country are buying "cheap stocks" on tips. Cautious souls who have missed the train are nibbling at the "sleepers," or issues which for one reason or another have not done much yet.

SELLERS' LIST GROWS

Meanwhile, a considerable number of those who caught the big move have sold out and are on the side lines. This number grows from day to day. For example, I have the following letter from a wise man:

> "Shortly before the middle of April I felt that business conditions justified an advance in stock prices, and I made some commitments.
> "The advances, up to the middle of last week did, in my opinion, bring stock prices up on a par with business activity. Therefore I got out. What happens after that makes no difference to me, except that I hope none of my friends will lose money."

Layer after layer of "waiters," however, has been drawn in. Some soldout bulls have again taken positions. Short sellers, "feeling for the top," have covered over and over again.

Meanwhile the professionals shift from group to group. Recently we have had shortlived runs in steels, coppers, utilities, motors, "wire stocks" and oils.

And the tape gets more and more cluttered up with forgotten cats and dogs which are marked up from ¼ for huge gains to 1 or 2 or 2½. The public's burden of carrying these weak sisters is being shifted from those who have held them during the last three years to a fresh crop of "investors!"

DANGER SIGNALS

Of course, danger signs are growing. Brokers' loans are creeping up on stock prices, indicating an increasing proportion of margin trading. Traders are "pyramiding." Fear of a reaction is dwindling.

There have been more evidences of volume appearing on declines and falling off on rises, although this is partly concealed by the enormous number of different issues traded.

Unless all market logic is dead, we should be seeing a very sizable decline within some such period as two weeks now.

One may guess that meanwhile there will be increasing irregularity, but that not a great deal of advance will be shown by the averages, although individual issues will doubtless run up to "new highs."

National City Co. Changes Identity

NEW YORK, June 8.—National City Company, effective Monday, will change its name to City Company of New York, Inc., at which time it will move its offices to 44 Wall street. The company will carry on an investment security business. Joseph P. Ripley will continue to head the organization as executive vice president.

How to Boost Sales: Credit Plan Effective

—By B. C. FORBES—

"HOW CAN I do more business, at reasonable profit?"

That is the perpetual question.

Complaint has been loud and frequent that banks long have stifled enterprise and expansion by refusing to grant adequate credit.

Mr. Forbes

One company has solved the problem in a way which will interest many executives and perhaps inspire them also to expand their operations by making it possible for distributors and retailers to do more business without any co-operation from their bankers.

Briefly, a big soft drink corporation has conceived and very successfully adopted this retail credit plan:

It announced that during May distributors could place orders on these terms: One-third due in 45 days one-third in 60 days, one-third in 90 days, invoices to be dated 10 days after shipment; the distributor, in turn, to grant the retailer 30 days to make the first one-third payment, 45 days to make the second payment, 60 days to make the final one-third payment.

Thus, both wholesaler and retailer were enabled to go ahead and do business aggressively without tying up a single dollar of their own money.

Not only so, but the manufacturer agreed to shoulder any credit losses sustained by the distributor up to 2 per cent of all sales under this plan. Special order forms were used, in triplicate, one kept by the retailer, one by the distributor, one going to the manufacturer. Each order placed by a retailer had to be approved not only by the distributor but by the latter's credit manager.

Advertising and other sales promotion were generously employed.

What has been the result of this novel method of "dynamiting the credit jam?"

President P. D. Saylor thus phrased it to me:

> "We have had to use a step ladder to chart the upward trend in our sales."

After all, isn't it usually true that self-help is the most effective, dependable, fruitful?

DAILY ONE meets executives who confide that they are planning to go ahead vigorously, courageously. President William Berg of Health Products Corporation tells me that, as a result of an elaborate survey of conditions in the drug field, especially as they apply to one of their leading products, he has decided to increase greatly the company's advertising appropriation. He declares:

> "If your product and price are right, this certainly seems to me the time to make advertising pay very handsome dividends."

The second half of 1933 is going to witness notable expansion in advertising, sales forces and other business-getting activities.

Indeed, the movement is already under way in certain sections. Publisher Homer Guck, of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, for example, tells me that May advertising increased 192,071 lines over a year ago.

Verily, industrial and business leaders have determined not to let Old Man Depression frighten them any longer.

Stewart-Warner Management Wins

RICHMOND, Va., June 8.—(INS.)—Control of the Stewart-Warner Corporation, an automotive accessory manufacturing concern of Chicago, still remains with the management.

A poll of votes of stockholders for the election of nine directors showed that 615,291 votes were cast for a slate of directors submitted by the management, while the opposition polled 321,134 votes. The opposition was led by Oscar U. Zerk, inventor, of Chicago, some of whose inventions are being used by the company. He contended that it was paying too large salaries to executives at expense of stockholders.

DOLLAR BREAKS TO NEW LOW

NEW YORK, June 8.—(INS.)—The dollar crashed to new lows today as the major foreign currencies staged spectacular rallies. At its present level, the dollar is quoted at the lowest levels since the Civil War and is at a 20 per cent discount against the British pound sterling and 23 per cent against the franc.

The further slump in the dollar was due to fresh reports that a free gold market would be set up in this country.

Sterling ran up to $4.13, up 4⅝ cents, and the best level since September, 1931, when Britain abandoned the gold standard.

The most spectacular gains were staged by the European gold currencies. Francs were up 3¾ points to 4.80, belgas, 12 points to 17.00; Swiss francs, 24 points to 23.56, and guilders, 43 points to 49.04.

The nongold currencies also were strong. Lira gained 6¾ points to 6.33, and pesetas 9½ points to 10.39. The Scandinavian exchanges were strong in sympathy with the pound, as was the Canadian dollar, which gained ¼ of a cent at 90⅜ cents.

German marks, alone, were lower, dipping 3 points to 28.10 on the embargo on foreign fund transfers out of the country.

BUSINESS

Industry Faces Many Uncertainties On Costs

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

THE VOLUME OF ORDERS and the continued rise in activity have given industry the brightest prospects for more than three years but many uncertainties complicate the conduct of business at present.

Many industries, and particularly steel, are unwilling to make contracts covering any long range period. The reason for this is the uncertainty regarding the future of their costs.

The world of business still does not know how much inflation is to be engineered by the government. It does not know how much of the inflation is to be in the form of monetary changes and how much may be attributable to other factors.

In other words, the prices of materials may change over night and no one, with the possible exception of the President and his intimate advisors, know just how much prices are to be pushed upward under the influence of inflationary policies. It is quite possible that even existing administration plans may be altered as a result of agreements to be reached at the London conference or as a result of actual conditions to be met in the future.

Recovery Legislation Will Be Important

THE INDUSTRIAL recovery bill, still in the hands of Congress, provides another unknown factor. Industry is not quite sure what late changes may be made in the legislation. Even if the final text were available, many phases of its interpretation and operation still would be subject to doubt.

Industry is to be allowed to disregard the anti-trust laws and to make trade agreements. This presumably will permit price agreements.

In addition the administration is committed to the policy of wage increases and shorter working hours. The exact extent of the changes which will be required is uncertain. All these factors leave industry in the dark as to how much costs will be increased during coming months. While industry, in general, is sold on the administration policy, the uncertain factors surround contracts for long term delivery of products with an atmosphere of danger.

Silver May Appear As Monetary Base

RECENT OFFICIAL and semi-official statements from Presidential advisors indicate that silver is to be used along with gold as a reserve for the backing of currency. The general indication is that one-fifth silver and four-fifths gold will provide monetary reserves of the future. The plan, to be workable, would require agreement by the leading world commercial powers.

This would not be similar to the free coinage of silver plan of the Bryan days. At that time it was proposed that either silver or gold could be coined or could provide a basis for currency issuance with a fixed ratio of value between the metals.

Apparently the plan now under consideration does not contemplate complete interchangeability of the two metals. But no information has been given as to the exact details of the plan.

German Gold Bank To Make Payment

BERLIN, June 8.—The Deutsche Golddiskontbank will repay on July 1 the $45,000,000 credit to the syndicate of American banks formerly headed by the International Acceptance Bank and, since the merger of the latter, by the bank of the Manhattan Company, the German bank will make an exchange profit on the repayment owing to the abolition of the gold clause in the United States.

Mid-Continent Oil Bringing Premium

TULSA, Okla., June 8.—Premiums as high as 25 cents a barrel over the posted price are being freely paid for crude oil in Oklahoma, particularly in the Oklahoma City field. They are offered by the small independent refiners who cannot find sufficient crude available at the current posted price.

AUDACIOUS GIRL REVEALS SECRETS OF SOUTHERN SEAS

CHAPTER XX.

I had heard much of Freddy Meister. For twenty years he had flourished in the islands, originally in the Solomons. His career had been tinged with vermillion — adventurer, plantation overseer, trader, no doubt even blackbirder in the good old days. A German belonging to the early days of the white man in New Guinea, his has been one of the fabulous careers of the South Pacific. In the Solomons, he had known Jack London during the cruise of the Snark. Jack Allen of Rabaul, who comraded with them both, tells of a fair and fine fight between the two men upon one occasion.

In the days of his youth, the days when he knew Jack London, Meister had been as untamed a hell-raiser as there was in the archipelago. He could swear blasphemously for a protracted length of time in a manner to command the respect of all. He is a thickset person of medium height with a bull's strength.

A few years ago Freddy Meister underwent a strange change. On a trip back to Germany to see the old folks he fell deeply in love with a frail, clinging little woman, years younger than himself, who manages the hell-bender with perfect ease. He brought her back to the islands, he rather sheepish in the midst once more of ancient rollicking companions. He bought a large plantation in the Admiraltys, on Manus, where he built for the delicate wife (who stood the rigors of the tropics like one born on the equator) a large comfortable bungalow surrounded by flowering trees and bushes. And the roughneck adventurer, tamed, settled down into the most exemplary benedict in Melanesia. He also became a prosperous trader and planter.

BOARD BOAT

But there was one incumbrance, and folks wondered how Mrs. Meister would handle the situation. This was Meister's half-caste daughter, Annie, the result of an alliance with a native woman. Meister had kept the child with him always, and seemed very fond of her. But there is little doubt that Annie would have been sent to the mission for half-castes if her stepmother had so willed.

The Meisters boarded the Montoro from their outrigger. This was equipped, beneath the grass "cabin," with deck chairs and even an army cot, and had carried them at various times far out among the Pacific islands. Annie was with them.

While the question went eagerly about the ship, "Why are the Meisters leaving New Guinea?" the big German talked pleasantly to many acquaintances, and then left the crowd to administer tenderly to his little wife, who was suffering from an infected foot.

The ketch had meanwhile pulled alongside the ship, and Kramer came aboard. When in Rabaul he was always a silent, taciturn man, but here he was a genial, interesting host, eager to take back as many of us as cared to go to his trading station for refreshment and relaxation from the ship's quarters. He was on his own territory, the ruler of brown men and master of his lands, and entirely at his ease.

The trading station at Lorengau sitting back from the beach consisted of a grass-roofed store, behind which there was an exotic garden of frangipani, lemon trees, yellow hibiscus, and giant tree-ferns enclosing a dwelling house made of limbung poles with an overhanging thatched roof. Here on a wide veranda, which served as a living-room, was a museum of precious native curios.

On the veranda we were welcomed graciously by a charming lady. She was still young, very cheerful and up-to-date, and very glad to have us, from the outer world, with her for even a few hours. She was Mrs. Burrows, the wife of Kramer's partner. They were an odd trio to find tucked away in this jumping-off corner of the world. Mr. Burrows was a distinguished-looking man with iron gray hair and a firm chin, always clad immaculately in starched white linen, who had brought all of the courtesies of civilized life into this jungle home.

He attended to the tradestore in Lorengau. His wife, too, whom he had married and brought out from Australia but two years before I first met them, had determined that none of the gentle things that she had loved all her life should slip into the discard in the islands. Her house servants were spruce and beautifully trained, her garden well-pruned and even-pathed. Every meal in her home—and later I was to have many there—was served as though it belonged to a special occasion. She was one of those women who realize the urgency of clinging to fine things out there. Besides, she was greatly in love with her husband. A woman in love is a radiant and resourceful being.

A RARE UNDERSTANDING

Kramer, on the other hand, had declined into the way of the tropics. His life had lain out there for so many years before ever a white woman had set foot in the islands. He had lost touch with civilization, lost his need for it. He lived in a native-built shack within the station compound, just as he had lived years before when he had his two native wives. Most of his days and nights, however, were spent on his schooner, manned with savages recruited from the obstreperous tribes of the Admiralty Islands. Kramer attended to the pearl-shell end of the business, and to the native trading stations scattered throughout the island group. His big frame knew not the elegance of starched linen, but only woolen shirt and comfortable khaki. And yet these three people, living much alone in exile among the notoriously bad tribes of Melanesia, knew a rare sympathy and understanding one for another.

We were at tea—ten of us—regretful that the time was drawing near for the ship's departure. Each of us had been given a souvenir—a native curio or relic. Kramer had bestowed upon me a native grass pulpul (skirt) and a beautiful pair of gold-lip, which latter is the finest of mother-of-pearl that comes from the Admiraltys. Fine specimens of gold-lip are as large as dinner plates; inside, they are of a lustrous creamy irridescence fading almost imperceptibly to a radiant gold border around the lip. With the rough outer crust removed and polished into a shimmering rainbow surface, these shells have the beauty of the famous Cellini cup.

HALF-CASTE SON

I sat talking to Kramer. I had taken quite a fancy to the man who years before had found this lovely spot in a wilderness of savage islands, and had wrested it from jungle and reef for his own. As we talked, a little native lad, clad in neat white rompers—he couldn't have been more than three—sidled along the veranda steps, finger in mouth, and solemnly observed the unwonted gathering. Meanwhile Kramer and I touched upon the unexpected exodus of the Meisters, and upon the daughter, Annie. I protested against the hapless plight of the half-caste, against the selfish thoughtlessness in general of the Europeans who were responsible for these children who were helpless outcasts from both the jungle and the invaders. Kramer smiled at me quizzically, and, nodding toward the wooly-headed boy, replied, unabashed: "There's my youngest."

He seemed sorry that he had for a moment shaken my poise. I looked thoughtfully at the dusky cherub, visualizing his later youth with its blighted heritage. Too soon there would be within him war between the jungle and the world, with neither promising him happiness or even sympathy. Kramer said: "It is merely the South Pacific, dear lady. I could not bring a white woman into the bush, where I have had to live for so long. But what is a man to do?" I saw his eyes on the boy, and I knew that Kramer loved this little son of his very much.

RETURNS TO BOAT

I learned, further, that Kramer's two daughters are at the Vunipope Mission in Rabaul; and that the little mary who was their mother had died when this baby was a year old; and, furthermore, that Kramer was even then trying to get another former wife back from the island of Aua, famous for its beautiful, long-haired women, to which the government had returned her on the ground that one wife was enough for a white man, even if she were of jungle breed.

The sun was low, and all the world was pink therefrom. Coolness and the peace of the close-hedging jungle enveloped the little station. Lemon blossom and pale clusters of frangipani exhaled an exquisite fragrance. Along the casuarina-bordered road leading to the jungle's edge walked a bush-native with hair skinned back into a thick brush-like psyche, and clad in a brief loin-cloth; behind him trailed his mary, her grass pulpul swishing with every sway of her hips. Soon, without warning, night would drop, pierced through by the Southern Cross.

We turned toward our ship, following a path, tree-sheltered, to the narrow beach. Toward us came a young kanaka girl with scarlet lapiap and with crimson hibiscus behind his ears and in his arm-bands. He idled along the path, playing on a long bamboo flute, plaintively like some slender dark faun. He paused, stepped aside to let us by, and when we had passed I turned and saw him unconcernedly continue on his way as if there had been no interruption, leaving, sad little notes floating above his trail.

GEOFFREY CHAUCER READING POEMS FROM HIS CANTERBURY TALES AT THE COURT OF KING EDWARD III

Chaucer, the first great English poet who lived at the very dawn of the Renaissance, yet before the days of printing. He was the first to write in the English language and is justly remembered as the "Father of English Poetry". His greatest works are the Canterbury Tales. Chaucer was born about 1340 and died in 1400. (World's History—Literature).

THE METABOLISM (After M'Kendrick) (Foods)

The physiological changes in transformation of the energy stored in food into kinetic energy (displayed as work) and into heat energy is called metabolism. One highly important step of metabolism is assimilation, the process by which the cells take up the materials supplied by the blood. (Knight: Food and Its Functions).

Reproduction of a Painting by Thomas Faed, R. A.

SHAKESPEARE (1564-1616) AND HIS CONTEMPORARIES

Shakespeare, in whose hands the English drama rose to new heights. His best works: A Midsummer Night's Dream, As You Like It, Twelfth Night, Merchant of Venice, Winter's Tale, The Tempest (comedies), Richard III., Henry IV., Henry V., Julius Caesar (historical), Hamlet, Macbeth, Lear, Othello, Romeo and Juliet (tragedies). Sympathy, humor, the striving for truth and moral ideals in masterly English fills Shakespeare's plays "with tears and laughter for all time."—(Mrs. Browning.) (World's History—Literature).

CERVANTES, (1547-1616) DYING, DEDICATING HIS LAST BOOK

It was the second part of the book "Don Quixote," which made him immortal but left him poor. Except for the Bible, no book has been more frequently translated into other languages than this masterpiece of Spanish literature. (World's History—Literature).

THE MOREL

Although botanically not one, the morel is commonly called a mushroom. It is edible and readily distinguished from poisonous forms. (Eikenberry and Waldron: Educational Biology).

RADIO AND AUDIO AMPLIFICATION BY SINGLE ELECTRON TUBE

AE, aerial; P, plate; G, grid; F, filament; A, B, batteries; C1 to C5, condensers; L1 to L6; inductance coils; M1 to M3, inductive couplings, T, telephone. The radio-frequency variations in the plate current flow through the circuit PFL3C4C5L4 and at the same time the audio-frequency variations pass through the circuit PFL3L6TBL4. The audibility of weak signals received by this method is about 100 times that of those received by the simple detector circuit. (U. S. Signal Corps: Radio Communication).

MIRAGE IN THE DESERT (Science)

Here trees seem to be reflected in water—but there really is no water and the inverted image of the trees is due to the reflection, or bending, of the rays of light. (For mirage at sea see Pictorial Education of June 6, 1933).

EXPLANATION OF THE MIRAGE (Science)

The layer of air, A, next to the hot sand is very warm, and different layers of air above, B, C, and D, vary in temperature, hence have varrying densities. Beams of light passing through gases of different densities are refracted, or bent, and the trees, as well as being seen by direct beams, are also seen by the refracted beams.

THE PHOSPHORUS CYCLE (Chemistry)

Phosphorus, calcium and all other elements of biological importance are in continual movement. And just as humans contain some of the atoms of the bodies of various living things in past ages, so human bodies, too, shall pass along these same structural units for building into new physical forms, plants, animals of the future. Delightful Representatives of Nation

Ladies are doing very well in the current administration. They're going to Congress, sitting in the cabinet and one is an ambassador.

The feminine vote is important. It adds up well or can be subtracted.

Result is that more and more of the beautiful people are getting influential jobs with franking privileges and carfare alloted. Don't know whether to call this patronage or matronage.

Women no longer fear freckles and demand their spot in the political sun. We figure there must be 20,000,000 ladylike votes in this nation. It can either make or break you.

Therefore, all the more reason why our representatives on foreign soil should be the ladies.

The history of diplomacy proves it is nothing more than shopping.

And the shopping sex should handle it.

The hand that matches a ribbon can surely match wits, finesse and double talk with the consolidated suavity of the world. And a lady at St. James wouldn't have to experience the sartorial perplexity of Mr. Dawes. What she wears is nobody's business.

Only trouble in case of war we might have trouble calling her home if she happened to be finishing a bridge match or starting a garden in back of the consulate.

The only extra expense of launching our delightful representatives into diplomacy would be a couple of clothespins and an electric flatiron. The routine connected with running a consulate seems to be a string of telephone calls and a series of dinners.

That's easy for the girls. They always advised their distinguished husbands, anyway. Remember the historic conversation between ambassador and wife:

"What have we got for dinner tonight, Ella?"

"A baked ham and three half-baked diplomats."

Which statement was in perfect order of seniority.

'Soaking the Rich'

Morgan's Testimony Shows the Futility of Trying to Balance the Budget in That Way.

A notable experiment is under way in Washington in seeking to conquer the devastating depression through the application of human intelligence.

The stakes are large and the consequences of failure are unthinkable.

Accordingly, Congress should recognize that the people expect it to take no missteps.

It is up to the Senate to remedy the tax atrocity, which the House recently adopted as a feature of the national recovery bill.

The Senate Finance Committee has already taken steps to amend the measure.

The House, learning nothing from experience, unfortunately further indorsed the nation-wide income tax racket, under which the rich can get off scot-free while men of moderate means pay through the nose.

The House has added 50 per cent to the tax burden carried by the lowest bracket of income taxpayers, and has further sought new revenues by a hodge-podge scheme of unscientific special taxes.

The necessity to add to bad taxes sprang from an unintelligent and purely emotional opposition to a soundly conceived general manufacturers' sales tax, such as succeeded so well in Canada, where, with the present 6 per cent rate, the impost is cheerfully described as a painless tax.

Though the House closed its eyes to the rising tide of popular sentiment in favor of the sales tax, the Senate can still remedy the situation.

Because of the demonstrated soundness of the sales tax idea, outside opposition has been melting away.

President Roosevelt himself, who at one time was opposed to the sales tax, has indicated to Congressional leaders that, if the national Legislature enacts such a measure, he will not veto it.

Another citadel of strength in the former opposition to the sales tax, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, recently testified that he now favors the sales tax as a means of raising revenue for relief and public work projects.

It will be recalled that in the last session of Congress the sales tax was defeated in a revolt led by an ignorant and demagogic group.

The cry was raised that instead of the widely diffused sales tax Congress should adopt levies which would "soak the rich."

The hypocrisy and stupidity of this slogan have been revealed anew in Congressional investigations.

At the current hearings before the Senate subcommittee, it has been brought out that J. P. Morgan, the very symbol of wealth and financial power, and his partners paid absolutely no income taxes in 1931 and 1932.

Likewise, Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City Bank of New York, is on trial because of alleged irregularities in connection with his nonpayment of income taxes in 1929 and 1930.

There has been a demand to investigate the tax returns of Andrew W. Mellon, Pittsburgh multi-millionaire and former Secretary of the Treasury.

Recent disclosures confirm the statement made a year and a quarter ago by William Randolph Hearst, namely, that "the income tax system has become the greatest racket in the United States and the government the biggest racketeer."

Mr. Hearst added: "The rich evade the tax, the poor escape it and practically the whole burden of oppressive taxation is borne by the worthy middle classes."

Mr. Hearst said further: "Means for the wealthy to evade the tax are specially provided through the tax-exempt securities and other devious avenues, while the less rich and influential are made to pay double taxation through unjust fines and penalties which a skilled corporation lawyer could avoid."

Recent striking episodes merely confirm what tax students have always known, namely, that loopholes in the income tax give the rich ample avenues for escape. Apart from avoiding income taxation through offsetting taxable income with losses, those who live on their capital can evade all income taxes by putting their funds in tax-exempt bonds.

Thus, the demagogic "soak the rich" effort is frustrated.

But apart from that, it represents a false and harmful theory of taxation.

Labor, as well as capital, suffers acutely when productive enterprise is overtaxed.

Excessive taxation in Great Britain since the war has made business depression a chronic state.

Instead of drifting, Congress should deliberately set out to hearten employers of labor with a policy of tax revision.

The general manufacturers' sales tax should be enacted immediately to provide the financial sinews for relief.

Then, after it has demonstrated its superiority, it can be retained to reduce the onerous and initiative destroying income taxes.

Constitutional Revision

Conscientious Voters Will Familiarize Themselves With the Proposed Amendments.

Warren Van Dyke, Democratic State Chairman, announces that legal proceedings will be instituted to determine if a constitutional amendment for a graded state income tax can be voted upon in November. The amendment was adopted at the 1917 and 1919 sessions of the General Assembly, but was not submitted to the people. Van Dyke holds that the resolution authorizing the submission is still valid.

Whatever the fate of the income tax amendment, the voters are sure to be confronted with 12 other proposed changes in the State Constitution.

Some of them are of general interest, some of rather limited interest. A few apply only to Pittsburgh or to Philadelphia.

Among those of particular importance to Pittsburgh is the Metropolitan District plan, paving the way for a Greater Pittsburgh to take in all of Allegheny County.

Noteworthy, also, is the amendment authorizing cities and boroughs to assess abutting property to help pay for street and highway improvements. It is proposed to utilize this measure in financing the construction of a subway in Pittsburgh.

Of state-wide interest are the proposals to issue $25,000,000 of bonds for poor relief and $50,000,000 for veterans' compensation. Another proposed amendment of great importance is that abolishing payment of state or county tax as a requirement of eligibility to vote.

Thousands of Pennsylvania voters, it is feared, will find themselves unfamiliar with these proposals when they enter the voting booths next November, and either will pass on the questions blindly or will take snap judgment in which they will be influenced by prejudice or superficial considerations instead of by reason and facts.

A compaign of education is accordingly in order.

Gone Mad!

It's broken loose and running wild

It wildly, blindly runs amuck,
Destruction in its wake!

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Timid Sex

When a woman wants anything, she talks, howls and battles for it, until somebody gives it to her, just to preserve the peace. When a man wants anything, he simply reaches out and takes it—and then defies anybody to take it away from him.

* * *

Yet, in the long run, men are the timid sex. For, while women have been battling for votes, jobs, hair cuts, pajamas, cigarets and now pants and pipes—all once "man's privileges"—man has never once attempted to help himself to any of woman's special privileges.

OH BOY — WISH I COULD USE PERFUME !

Yet, there are lots of feminine indulgences, which most men would enjoy if they had the courage to take them.

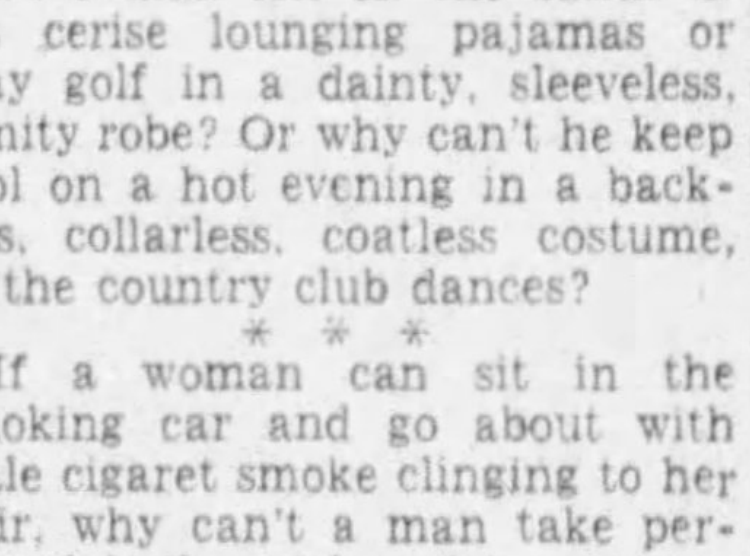
If a woman can parade the beach in masculine trousers, why can't a man loll on the sands in his cerise lounging pajamas or play golf in a dainty, sleeveless, dimity robe? Or why can't he keep cool on a hot evening in a backless, collarless, coatless costume, at the country club dances?

* * *

If a woman can sit in the smoking car and go about with stale cigaret smoke clinging to her hair, why can't a man take perfumed baths and squirt narcissus or "Love-kiss" or "Bouquet d'amour" all over himself, without feeling that he is guilty of a shameful feminine weakness? Why is an aroma of gin and tobacco so much more manly than the fragrance of violets?



HOW'S TH' DANDY TODAY !

Most pathetic of all, why is a man so restricted in his love of color and beauty? No woman ever loved bright colors as passionately as a man does. But even the most daring and dandified man can only blossom out in his favorite shades around the edges. And if he has the temerity to go in for ensemble effects, such as shirt, tie, socks and handkerchief to match, he gets fearfully razzed by his own sex and is set down as a "dandy."

There really are lots of men who would rather "stay at home and read a book" than go to a prize-fight or a baseball game or a poker party; and lots of men who prefer concerts and art galleries to leg-shows; and lots of men who would like to cover their bald heads with becoming toupes, just as women cover their gray hairs with transformations. But they wouldn't dare ADMIT it! They're too timid to assert their rights!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 8.—My night club days go back to the robust era of Charlie Journal's Montmartre, Bustanoby's and the later Palais Royal. They had innocuous gaiety, but they were abloom with striking hedge-flowers. The other evening I visited several after long absence. All were a ghostly array of empty white tables.

Waiters leaned against posts and yawned. It was as though the customers were attending a wake in evening clothes. The chief virtue was the atmosphere of frankness. No one pretending to enjoy it.

Those who danced drifted in tired stupor. Next to the table where four of us dabbled bacon and eggs an elderly satyr gazed at a simpering girl with the same smile he will likely wear in Hades. Conversation, skimming a foolish surface, was in monosyllables. Not even a "wise money boy" was about.

As a drab experiment in one place we gave vent to pre-arranged yawns in unison. The few stragglers, caught in its contagion, laughed, the only laughter. A frayed cigaret girl swerved from her tranquil tread to point out a tuxedoed gangster. A miserable evening, costing our host $57.

It was far more fun at a free lecture at the Borbizon-Plaza. After seated I discovered it was in foreign language. A tittuppy man wandered aisles to touch a finger to his lips as a rebuke for unnecessary noise. Somehow he incubated a flock of giggles. I struggled to keep my face straight, thinking of heart-wrenching situations and making up poetry, but finally raced to the exit, where I let go in whoops. It was the best laugh since Dick Berlin's bite into a leaky chocolate eclair gooed up the luxuriant beard of the sedate professor on his right.

Amon Carter's son, Amon, Jr., was tweaked by a boyish shyness. His father decided it would be a good thing for him to sell the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, the paper he publishes, on a prominent corner. Carter, Sr., was himself a newsie. The lad consented, and after several weeks was invited to a newsboys' banquet. The father also attended, but his heart sank when the toastmaster called on the son to speak. With the sangfroid of a veteran orator, th boy leaped to his feet and boomed: "Do you want me to speak here or out there in the middle?"

Thingumabobs: Hendrik Van Loon is to go on a world cruise to write brochures and lecture for a ship line . . . Walter Kelly has memorized 5,000 funny stories . . . William Goadby Loew is considered the best-dressed man in New York's "400" . . . Ina Claire is a collector of jade . . . Don Marquis' contracts years ago prevented him from the columnar job Heywood Broun now ably holds . . . Queen Mary crunches water cress with breakfast eggs . . . Louis Calhern is a matinee idol in Los Angeles . . . Ted Cook recently visited the Lamar (Mo.) editor he so frequently quotes . . . Tippy Gray is summering at Rimini on the Adriatic.

New York has added a King Tut restaurant to its gastronomic galaxy. In the Roaring 40's it serves all Egyptian meals and is presided over by Mohammed Farag, remembered by visitors to Sheppard's in Cairo as the most accomplished bower on the off side of the Atlantic.

Jesse Lasky is latest in movie circles in gallant comeback. There were rumors he had lost his fortune, his executive wings had been clipped, he was on his way out, etc., etc. Anyway he was in semi-seclusion until his "Zoo in Budapest" film hit the circuits. It is not the most profound picture of the year, but is among top 10 and proves that one of the pioneers has not lost his wallop.

Frazier Hunt relays a touch of tragic comedy in Bronxville. His neighborhood drug store expired in the depression and the outgoing owner left this sign in his forlorn window: "Sorry—Customers: You can get stamps at the opposite drug store, change in the corner bank, use phone in quick lunch, hear radio in florist shop, read headlines at corner news-stand and weigh yourselves in the garage. Goodbye."

Book news item: "Trotzky reads six books daily." Grandma would call him a "skinner."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

I went to see a movie last night.

In most respects it was a pretty swell movie—the story of a price war between big oil companies with plenty of fire fighting, dynamiting and plane bombing to set your hair on end, and a Regular Egg of a cop who became Chief Trouble shooter for the Main Squeeze.

All of which was fine 'n' dandy. I could have loved that cop myself, and me turned fifty! But there was just one thing about it all that burned me up, and always does burn me up, though I've seen it in every movie since Mary Pickford flipped her first curl, and Lil'yun Gish hicked her first hiccough, and Charlie Chaplin took his first custard pie on the chin.

I refer to the Lovely Heroine—

And I refer HARD!

The Lovely Heroine was, of course, the Boss' Beautiful Baby Girl. Now I am not acquainted with this particular star in private life. She may well be a combination of Minerva, Catherine the Great, Lady Astor and the late, lambasting Carrie Nation. But in her impersonation she had all too obviously the intelligence quota of a sand flea and the general disposition of a dose of hives.

In short, she was just about as stupid, silly, vain and doggone useless as they come. Yet, in order to make a movie, she and the Swell Cop had to go romantic and tie up his brawn with her billions.

But not right away, dearie.

Oh, my goodness, NO!

Our movies may be all they say they are, but they haven't sunk YET to the point where they'll allow a decent, husky, honest, upstanding young American male to be welded, just on his merits, to the daughter of a Gas Trust.

Gracious me; I should say NOT!

HE MUST FIRST BE ELIGIBLE.

And, outside of being a Real Egg with plenty of brain and back-bone, how must he be eligible?

Well, of course, he must have "background"—be "the right sort of person." Oh, yes; I know this is democracy. But don't be silly! We can't let just Any Upstart marry one of our Glorified Girls, can we?

Therefore, in order for our swell young cop to "qualify," it was revealed that he came originally from West Point and was Really A Gentleman—even though at present he was working for his living.

And all so he could marry a perfectly worthless, brainless female, who'd never done a tap of honest toil in her life, or thought a real think—who couldn't, in herself, have qualified as a decent dish washer, and who should, judged by HER merits, have thanked her lucky stars if she drew the village idiot as a mate.

Yet, to be "worthy of her," any young man had to be a West Point Graduate, or similarly gilt-edged.

All because here Papa Had Oil—and she was a she.

And that's the sort of tripe we "democratic" Americans ask for and stand for, not only in our movies but quite as enthusiastically in our private lives. For, let's not kid ourselves—we're that way in our own humble homes, as well as in our fabulous flickers.

Our girls may be whatever their dear little hearts desire.

BUT THE YOUNG MEN WHO GET THEM MUST QUALIFY!

And I'm asking you—why?

Why should useless young loafers and parasites be tolerated just because they are feminine? Why should it be considered so cute for Sister to be a Moron and General Nuisance and so frightful for Brother to be one?

AND WHY SHOULD DECENT, INTELLIGENT YOUNG MALES BE EXPECTED TO PERFORM SUCH HEROIC SERVICE, AND KEEP ON PERFORMING IT, FOR THE SAKE OF WINNING YOUNG FEMALES WHO AREN'T WORTH WRAPPING UP TO TAKE HOME?

I rest my case. And, regardless of your opinion, I consider it a pipe.

The Human Side of the News

No Depression in the South Seas—Idyllic Life Of the Norfolk and Pitcairn Islanders; Mutiny of the Bounty.

By EDWIN C. HILL

WORD comes from the faraway South Seas, from the land of the mutineers—from the two islands of Norfolk and Pitcairn—that no depression has visited their part of the world. They can't comprehend what is the matter with the rest of humanity. Theirs are the isles of the blessed, lands of milk and honey, where no man, and no woman, either, is "destroyed by the weight of work," as the Irish have a way of saying.

Few more interesting dots of land exist anywhere in the seven seas than these isles of plenty, the home of 1,000 descendants of the English sailors who followed Christian Fletcher in the historic mutiny on the British ship Bounty in 1789, the year the United States became a nation, and their Polynesian wives. Seven hundred of the progeny of the Bounty mutineers live on beautiful Norfolk and 300 make their home on Pitcairn.

Norfolk is lovelier and richer even than famed Tahiti. Everything grows there—all the fruits of the temperate and sub-tropical climes, and all the vegetables. The land is so rich and the sea is so generous with its fish that nobody more than lifts a hand in labor. Enough is grown and taken from the sea to enable them to live bountifully. All other energies go to sport, for these descendants of the grim British seamen who rebelled against the brutality of the master of the ship Bounty and set him adrift are mad about sport. They have two golf courses, cricket fields and tennis courts by the score.

THERE are no taxes whatever, few restrictions of any kind, and for the rest they are the fortunate beneficiaries of a most amiable climate, the most delightful of sea isles, natural beauty unsurpassed, complete freedom from the economic ups and downs of this machine-ruled world and membership in a tranquil and generally harmonious family.

The names of the old mutineers survive in the families of Norfolk and Pitcairn. There are many Christians, McCoys, Quintals and Adamses. Now and then a tourist visits them and blinks in amazement at the comfortable simplicity of their lives and the incredible cheapness of living. For $4.50 a week, a visitor to Norfolk gets the best the island has to offer, cleanliness, cheerfulness and good food. And visitors, with news of the outside world—a world as remote as the stars to the islanders—are welcomed like messengers from Mars.

The story of the people, beginning with the strangest mutiny in the annals of the sea, goes back a long way. The sloop-of-war Bounty was making her way from Tahiti in April, 1789. Her captain was a savage-tempered officer named William Bligh, a man of uncontrollable passions. Day after day he tyrannized over officers and men. The worst type of the oldtime British naval officer who treated his seamen like slaves, his ship was a hell of cruelty from sun to sun. Men's backs were cut to ribbons at the whim of the brutal captain. Men were thrust into the dark hold, chained among the rats. Up and down the ship Capt. Bligh raged like a madman.

BUT the limit of human endurance was finally reached. One man, master mate and Acting Lieut. Fletcher Christian, a fine young officer with a religious upbringing, preferred death to the brutality and cruelty under which the ship's company was daily cursed. Quietly Fletcher Christian went among the men, organizing mutiny—the first and, perhaps, the only time that a British naval officer ever did the like. The seamen loved him; knew him for a man of heart and sense. They listened, nodded and waited, close-mouthed, for the signal to rebel.

Like a flash of lightning, when all was ready, Fletcher Christian gave a signal on the twenty-ninth of April, 1789. The raging, cursing Bligh and 19 of his officers and men who refused to join the mutiny were seized and bound. In the red rage of the men's anger they would have been pistoled if Fletcher Christian had not stepped forward to save their lives. They were set adrift in a small boat with provisions, and eventually reached land.

From that day, for 25 years the mutineers were lost to the world. It was supposed that they had perished. And then one day a Yankee whaler chanced upon Pitcairn Island to find a little colony—some 40 children of the Bounty mutineers and the Polynesian mothers of the children. But of the Bounty mutineers only one was left alive.

Forty years later the British government moved the growing colony to Norfolk Island, and still later part of the colony moved back to the original Pitcairn. So there they are today, these waifs of destiny, half English, half Polynesian; happy in a world of gloom; human relics of one of the most dramatic tales the old ocean ever wrote upon its tumbling waves.

NO SUITOR IN VIEW

By Winifred Black

Jane is a nice girl. One of the nicest girls I know.

She's intelligent, energetic and she's ambitious.

She has a head full of good common sense and, whisper, she's as pretty as a ripe beach hanging over an old-fashioned garden wall.

Her hair is smooth and shiny, she has a complexion of roses and cream, she has' pretty hands, pretty feet, a good figure and she wears clothes very well.

They're good, sensible clothes to be sure, and I never saw good, sensible clothes that were very pretty, did you?

But Jane buys them herself and pays for them herself and some of them she makes for herself.

She is handy with her needle and she's one of the best housekeepers I ever saw. She has a neat little apartment down town, near the office where she works.

And Jane gets up early enough not only to make her bed, but to sweep and dust her room and arrange the flowers on her pretty little table and hang up her last night's hat in the right place and put the last night's dress right where it ought to be put—before she goes to work.

She has the cutest little kitchenette you ever saw, and can she cook a good dinner in that same kitchenette? She can and she does — no delicatessen, ready mades for Jane.

And you ought to see Jane's hope chest. It's crammed to the brim with the prettiest things.

But the hope chest goes on—hoping.

And there's no husband in the offing [illegible] Jane.

Her friends just can't understand it. [illegible] is so pretty [illegible] so nice and so sensible [illegible] so efficient—what a wife some fool man is missing this very hour.

But somehow—I like Jane—but I wouldn't like to be married to her if I were a man.

There's no gaiety in Jane. She'd never surprise you with a funny little present the day before your birthday—her present would be useful and substantial and it would be on the breakfast table at exactly the right minute.

Jane is never foolish—or dependent or in need of a little comforting.

Yes, she'd make a good helpmeet if a man's looking for a helpmeet and not sweetheart.

If you could just marry Jane and go to sleep and wake up three years afterwards Jane would be a grand, regular every day honest-to-goodness, help-you-save-your-money, keep-you-in-the-right-path, wife.

But oh, how dull the first three years would be, while you were making up your mind that there was really nothing much to laughter and this ridiculous, impossible, unreasonable thing they call love in the subtitles at the picture.

Yes, as I said before, I like Jane but oh, I'm afraid I'd never have the sense to marry here if I were a man.

Isn't It So?

Envy is a kind of praise.

He knows the water best who had waded through it.

A truly virtuous man is he who prides himself upon nothing.

Who throws away money with his hands, shall seek it with his feet.

Never again does a man feel as important and successful as on the day he first wore long pants.
